The National Republican Senatorial Committee ("NRSC") has devised a scheme of bundling to avoid the limitations of the law on the support it may provide to United States Senate candidates. Operating under the label of the "Inner Circle," this scheme enables NRSC to organize, directly fund and administer a massive fundraising program for the benefit of its Senate candidates -- all, it asserts, outside of the party contribution limitations of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended ("FECA" or "the Act"), 2 U.S.C. §§ 431 et seq., and related regulations of the Federal Election Commission ("FEC" or "Commission"), 11 C.F.R. §§ 100.1 et seq.

Not one penny of the Inner Circle effort is reported as a contribution or party-coordinated expenditure subject to dollar limits under 2 U.S.C. § 441a. Instead, NRSC would have this arrangement dubbed "joint fundraising," not bundling, and thereby sidestep the legal penalties NRSC bundling programs have historically suffered.

As this Complaint will show, bundling is bundling by any other name. The law clearly provides that any funds raised under the "direction or control" of a political committee on behalf of a candidate are attributable to the limits of the fundraising committee as well as to the limits of the actual donor of the funds. Moreover, even if the fundraising committee does not exercise any direction or control over the contribution, costs associated with the fundraising activities must be attributed to the recipient candidates as an in-kind contribution. 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(8); 11 C.F.R. § 110.6. The NRSC has neither attributed nor reported any contributions in-kind (or their equivalent, coordinated expenditures) to any of its Senate candidates arising out of its Inner Circle activities, despite the huge infusions of money it has made into these campaigns. This failure to report and attribute these contributions clearly violates the FECA and conceals massive excessive expenditures on the part of the NRSC to its Senate candidates. We ask that the Commission put an immediate stop to this illegal activity.

This is not merely a technical quarrel with NRSC. At issue are the very contribution limitations of the Federal Election Campaign Act, which NRSC, in possession of vast resources, seeks to circumvent. When Congress elected to restrict bundling, see 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(8), and the Commission gave effect to this intent by adoption of the direction and control standard, see 11 C.F.R. § 110.6, a simple concept of enforcement was at work: this helped to prevent individuals from contributing more than $1,000 per election to a candidate. Congress rightly imagined that if an individual could deliver the checks and cash of others in a bundle, his or her giving power would be geometrically increased, to hundreds of thousands of dollars. Congress feared that an individual could thus gain the allegiance of a public official by "batching" or "bundling" the money of others into larger quantities than they could contribute from their own resources. See, e.g., Committee on House Administration, Federal Election Campaign Act Amendments of 1974, H. Rep. No. 93-1239, 93d Cong., 2d Sess. 115, reprinted in 1 FEC, Legislative History of the Federal Election Campaign Act Amendments of 1974, at 635 (1977); 120 Cong. Rec. H7932 (daily ed. Aug. 8, 1974) (statements of Reps. Young and Ashbrook). Seeking to close off this loophole by directive from Congress, see H. Rep. No. 93-1239, 93d Cong., 2d Sess. 16 (1974) (House Report); H.R. Rep. No. 93-1438, 93d Cong., 2d Sess. 51,52 (1974) (Conference Report adopting House Report language), the Commission designed the "direction and control" standard to ensure that contributions were properly attributed to the real donor, regardless of the ostensible bank account source, see 54 Fed. Reg. 34107-08 (1989).

"Direction or control," the heart of the restrictions on bundling, describes precisely the role of the NRSC in establishing, financing and administering the Inner Circle. The Inner Circle bundling operation produces millions of dollars for candidates, all delivered by the hand of one political committee -- the NRSC. It should be of no avail to NRSC to muddle the issue, and avoid the law, by the disingenuous characterization of its Inner Circle bundling program as "joint fundraising."

I. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

A. Legislative and Regulatory Background

By law NRSC, like its Democratic counterpart, is granted generous limits for the financial support of its party's candidates. Its direct contribution limitation is set at $17,500, which is $12,500 more than any other multicandidate committee may contribute to a Senate candidate in an election. See 2 U.S.C. §§ 441a(a)(2)(A), 441a(b); 11 C.F.R. § 110.2. By routinely granted delegation from national and state party committees, NRSC also wields the enormous additional giving power afforded by the Act's coordinated expenditure provisions proportionate to the voting age population of each state. See 2 U.S.C. § 441a(d), 11 C.F.R. § 110.7. There is no meaningful distinction in practice between a direct contribution in-kind and a § 441a(d) coordinated expenditure, except that NRSC (and not the candidate) bears full reporting responsibility for § 441a(d) expenditures.

As a result of the FEC's liberal limits for national party committees, NRSC may spend virtually millions of dollars overall in in-kind contributions for its candidates in large states such as California, New York, Texas, or Pennsylvania. These contributions may take the form of paying candidate expenses for media, staff, polling, research and fundraising support -- virtually wherever the candidate decides the party funds are most needed. And the record shows that the NRSC takes full advantage of the millions in contributions legally available to it.

There is still more legal latitude for the NRSC to dispose of its millions for the benefit of its candidates. By operation of Commission regulations, the NRSC may spend without limitation for a variety of services, including campaign worker training, and education efforts focused on fundraising, polling, and other campaign techniques. See 11 C.F.R. §§ 100.7(b), 100.8(b). NRSC may also transfer unlimited funds to state parties for various state party activities. See 11 C.F.R. §§ 102.6(a), 110.3(c)(1). Like direct and coordinated contributions, the NRSC has made full use of these additional spending opportunities, and still does so to this day. See Exhibit 1.

Nevertheless, none of these legal activities has been sufficient to utilize fully the huge Republican financial war chest. Because of its enormous wealth, the NRSC has strained for years against the limits of the law and has sought new outlets for the cash left over after the limits of normal and legal spending channels were exhausted. According to press accounts, at least three other areas of NRSC financial activity have recently generated FEC complaints, in addition to the bundling litigation described below: its excessive expenditures and fraud on behalf of Conrad Burns in the 1988 Senate race in Montana; its excessive polling activity on behalf of Richard Snelling in his 1986 challenge to Senator Leahy; and its nationwide "$25.00 check" direct mail solicitation scheme currently being challenged before various state election boards as well as before the Commission.

The NRSC's latest efforts to push these limits have turned to bundling.

B. Judicial Background: NRSC's Previous Bundling Scheme

The Inner Circle is the second effort of NRSC to pursue bundling as a means of breaching the contribution and expenditure limits of the law. Its first effort encountered a strong legal challenge, resulting in a decision by the United States District Court for the District of Columbia that the FEC was required to rigorously enforce the law against the NRSC plan. See Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990), attached as Exhibit 2.

The NRSC effort at issue in Common Cause v. FEC was, in all essential aspects, identical to the NRSC's Inner Circle fundraising plan. In the previous case, the NRSC initiated, planned, and executed a massive candidate support effort in which a single, large-scale NRSC solicitation raised nearly two and a half million dollars in checks made out to an NRSC sponsored project. After the NRSC deposited these checks into the project's bank account, the NRSC gave $2.3 million dollars to twelve Republican senatorial candidates. Ironically enough, the NRSC organization sponsoring this initial unlawful project was also named the "Inner Circle." 729 F. Supp. at 152.

Not surprisingly, the District Court found that the NRSC exercised so much "direction or control" over these mailings that the contributions made to the twelve candidates had to be attributed to the contribution limits both of the "conduit" NRSC and of the original donor, pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 110.6.^{*/} This was based on the Court's numerous factual

^{*/} More specifically, the Court found that "[t]he FEC's decision that the NRSC did not exercise 'any direction or control' over the . . . mailings was not mandated by prior FEC precedent, was effected by a 3-3 tie vote and was contrary to the recommendation of the FEC General Counsel. It cannot be upheld, because it ignored the plain language of the applicable regulation and was not rationally explained." 729 F. Supp. at 152.

determinations that the NRSC actually directed and controlled the project. Some of the most salient points in this regard included:

The twelve campaigns mentioned in the letters each signed an agreement with the NRSC agreeing to pay for the cost of mailings mentioning their race,

[however,]

[n]o candidate participated in the planning, approval, implementation or oversight of the NRSC solicitation program, nor did any candidate authorize or approve the letters sent by the NRSC as part of that program.

729 F. Supp. at 150.

Contrary to the conclusion of Commissioner Josefiak's Statement of Reasons, the fact that the donors were informed by the Bush letter of the formula for division of contributions and gave voluntarily does not decide the "direction or control" issue. The plain language of the regulation [demands otherwise].

The decision of the FEC not to enforce in the circumstances presented by the record was contrary to the intent of Congress to limit participation of national parties in campaign fundraising.

. . . . The NRSC exercised some "direction or control" within the meaning of 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d) over the contributions at issue. The NRSC chose the twelve campaigns which were mentioned in the letters; the NRSC chose how many letters in which each campaign would be mentioned; and the NRSC chose which mailing lists, with which donation histories, would be used for each version of the letter. The contributions were to be made to the NRSC or an organization controlled by the NRSC, were deposited in the NRSC's bank accounts, and were disbursed to the campaigns by the NRSC.

Id. at 152. The NRSC plan was thus found to violate the expenditure limits and the relevant reporting provisions of the law.

The penalty ultimately sought by the FEC is in the millions of dollars, to reflect the seriousness of the violation, measured by the excessive amounts the NRSC had illegally channelled to the Senate candidates. Litigation over the ultimate amount of the penalty was initiated by the Commission in federal court in August of this year. See FEC v. NRSC, No. 90-2055 (D.D.C. filed Aug. 1990); 2 U.S.C. § 437g.

Undaunted, NRSC has revamped the "Inner Circle" in a "new and improved" form. However, this second Inner Circle model is precisely the same bundling vehicle found to violate the FECA in Common Cause v. FEC. Because the new program's "differences" from the original are no more than cosmetic, Inner Circle II is again destined to crash against the requirements of the FECA.

II. THE CURRENT INNER CIRCLE II BUNDLING EFFORT AND THE FICTION OF "JOINT FUNDRAISING"

A. Inner Circle II Structure

Inner Circle II is styled as a joint fundraising committee, see 2 U.S.C. § 432(e)(3)(A)(ii); 11 C.F.R. § 102.17, and in technical terms, it operates by NRSC invention as the "fundraising representative" for an ostensible joint effort. See Exhibit 3. NRSC purports that Inner Circle II is actually the collective effort of 48 Senate candidates, running for election and reelection in this and future cycles. See Exhibit 4. The Senate candidates are divided by class-year in which they will be running, and divided further to separate states with 1990 Senate races in which the NRSC expected races to be close from those in which they expected their own incumbents to have little opposition. Id. Each class is then assigned a percentage participation in the event, with the class of "close 1990 races" getting a larger share than the class of "safe GOP incumbent 1990 races," and the classes of "GOP incumbents without any 1990 election" taking substantially smaller portions than these other two classes. Id. Each member of a class then participates proportionately in the class percentage: thus, if there are ten members in a class assigned a 12 percent participating, each member of that class can expect a share of 1/10 of 12 percent of the proceeds from the claimed "joint fundraising effort." Not surprisingly, "close 1990 races" class members each take a significantly larger portion than members of the other classes. Id. It appears, from slight variances in disclaimers across different Inner Circle II fundraising solicitations, that the membership of various classes and the percentages assigned to each are altered periodically by the NRSC to adjust for changing political climates. Id.

When all the class percentages are totalled, the result is that 99 percent of the total proceeds are accounted for. NRSC enters at this point, the poor relative, and joins the program as a one percent participant. Moreover, unlike the candidate classes, NRSC does not claim one percent of the gross proceeds, but rather one percent of the net. NRSC does, however, stake out one additional claim to the funds raised: it will take from any class member its share of any contribution from a contributor residing in that class member's own state. This means that no part of any contribution from a citizen of Idaho will ever be allocated to an Idaho Senate candidate: it will be divided between the non-Idaho candidates and the NRSC, with the NRSC taking the share which would have been attributable to the Idaho candidate. The reason for this peculiar arrangement is that this enables class participants to obtain the names of eager and willing contributors in their own states without having to worry about overall contribution limits for these in-state individuals. Similarly, all Inner Circle II funds collected from nonfederal sources are directly forwarded to NRSC. This is, obviously, because it is the only participant in Inner Circle II that may legally accept corporate and other nonfederal funds. Thus, the NRSC serves the additional purpose of a conduit for the nonfederal funds that Inner Circle II would not be permitted to accept if NRSC were not involved.

B. The Fiction of Joint Fundraising

If Inner Circle II were, in truth, a joint fundraising representative of a joint fundraising effort as provided for by the FECA and FEC regulations, see 2 U.S.C. § 432(e)(3)(A)(ii), 11 C.F.R. § 102.17, then the NRSC might have been able to avoid the important "direction or control" standard that governed the first Inner Circle litigation. But, as this section will show, Inner Circle II is not an operation rightly governed by joint fundraising regulations. Instead, it is merely a powdered-and-coifed bundling operation, controlled by the strictures of 11 C.F.R. 110.6 and answerable to the FEC's "direction or control" guidelines.

1. Inner Circle = NRSC

The functional problem with Inner Circle II directly results from the fact that it is not what it claims to be. While it purports to be a separate political committee established "to act as fundraising representative for all participants," 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b), it is, in fact, an appendage of the NRSC. The plain facts on this point are incontrovertible. The Inner Circle, formally registered with the FEC under the name of The Republican Inner Senatorial Circle 1990, is administered with the staff, with the resources, and on the premises of the NRSC. Its formal address is in the Ronald Reagan Republican Center, 425 Second Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20002, the same address as that of the NRSC.

See Exhibit 3, supra. Reports of the Inner Circle, see Exhibit 5, reflect that fully 100% of its overhead and staff costs are incurred by the NRSC -- effectively advanced to the project -- and then periodically billed and reimbursed by Inner Circle II acting on behalf of the participating campaigns. In every apparent detail of administration, NRSC is the real party in interest behind the Inner Circle II effort, fully supporting Inner Circle II with its personnel and with its vast financial resources. Perhaps this too much states the obvious, but without NRSC's backing, there would be no Inner Circle II.

Of course, this fact would not, standing alone, destroy the viability of Inner Circle II as a joint fundraising effort. Even if Inner Circle II is no more than a foil for NRSC, Commission regulations expressly allow participating Committees to "select a participating committee to act as fundraising representative for all participants." 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a). This could be ill-conceived, yet legally irrelevant, legerdemain. But in this case, the fact that Inner Circle II and NRSC are a unity aggravates the fundamental reality that NRSC is not a bona fide participant in a joint fundraising effort. NRSC reaps no benefit from Inner Circle II. Its sole function is to act as the mechanism through which the other "participants" raise funds, and to be the puppeteer for the fictional political committee it has invented to disguise its role as "joint fundraising representative," a.k.a., "bundling conduit or intermediary." By calling itself "Inner Circle" in this effort, NRSC only compounds the fraud, adding insult to injury.

The fact that NRSC does not expect or take any pecuniary gain from Inner Circle II is borne out by internal program documents. In a memorandum dated February 23, 1990, see Exhibit 6, Mr. Bill Canfield issues instructions to all "participants" on the requirements for participation in Inner Circle II. Mr. Canfield is in-house counsel to NRSC. While we refute the suggestion in this memo that Inner Circle II is a bona fide joint fundraising effort, the content of his memorandum speaks volumes about the true nature of Inner Circle II -- and in particular about the true role played on it by the NRSC.

Nowhere in the Canfield memorandum is there any mention of the NRSC as an actual participant in the purported joint fundraising effort. If anything, the memo states the contrary. The opening sentence defines Inner Circle II as a joint committee "established by several 1990, 1992 and 1994 Republic Senate campaigns." NRSC does not appear as an additional participant with an expectation of raising monies through this organization. Canfield does no better in his second try, in the next sentence: "[The Inner Circle's] purpose is simple: to assist those campaigns to raise funds from individuals who have demonstrated their commitment to Republican Senate candidates." Still no reference to NRSC.

NRSC's own counsel's failure to identify NRSC as a participant is especially significant in light of the fact that the balance of the memorandum reveals the candidates involved to be dancing while NRSC plays the tune. The joint fundraising requirements of the FECA, which we argue do not apply here, are nevertheless set out at length by Canfield, who believed them to be relevant. This memorandum explains these rules as if none of the campaigns had any individual concept of the nature of the enterprise in which they were participating.

91040870018 The percentages assigned to each class of candidate are also peremptorily announced, and, as described, appear to have been worked out carefully by NRSC political experts so as to ensure that dollars went where NRSC believed they were best used. Again, it appears that NRSC was announcing the results of a decision in which the sole participants -- the candidates -- had no part. Even the administrative arrangements explained by Canfield revolve entirely around NRSC and its facilities. As noted, the address of Inner Circle which he provides is the NRSC's address, and the forms that he asks be executed and returned by the participants are to be forwarded at his direction to "Doyce Boesch at the NRSC." Mr. Boesch is the Executive Director of the NRSC. See also Tab 4, supra (including letter from Doyce Boesch to candidates).

2. The Irrelevance of Joint Fundraising Regulations

The Canfield memorandum which makes no reference to NRSC as participant speaks to the farcical nature of Inner Circle II as joint fundraising effort. Indeed, the memorandum makes plain that NRSC is not a bona fide participant, but is instead the outside organizer enabling the Inner Circle bundling program to exist. But as this section will show, this fraudulent action defeats the entire joint fundraising venture and transforms Inner Circle II into its original, unlawful, bundling machine.

Under Commission regulations, 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(2), both political party committees and candidate committees may participate in joint fundraising activity. Participants may create a special fundraising representative, registered with and reporting to the FEC, to administer the effort by collecting contributions, reporting gross proceeds, paying expenses, and distributing the net shares to each of the participants; or participants may designate one of their own members who will serve as representative. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b). This pooled effort for fundraising purposes is recognized by law as a legitimate activity; the terms and conditions under which this activity may be conducted are detailed at great length (nearly four pages) by FEC regulations.

It is beyond question that these regulations were designed to enable a collective fundraising program where each of the participants expects, through the pooled effort, to realize a sound financial return. See, e.g., AOs 1977-8, 1977-14, 1977-23 (approving joint fundraising activities including direct mail solicitation, fundraising events, and debt retirement solicitations).

Why then does NRSC "participate" in the fundraising effort when, in return for establishing, administering, and advancing resources to the effort, it declines to highlight itself as a participant, and takes only a minute fraction of what funds the other "participants" take, even when including the NRSC's "take" of what candidates can not legally accept such as corporate funds? The reason in simple terms is that NRSC's motive is not to raise money for itself. NRSC seeks here instead to raise money for those other candidates, more commonly known as "bundling." It has gerry-rigged its "joint fundraising" theory to conceal the Inner Circle's true bundling effort.

3. The Governing Bundling Regulation:
Direction or Control

Because Inner Circle II is actually a bundling operation, numerous other fundamental questions are raised by its activity which have not been addressed by NRSC. Most important of these are the contribution limitations as they apply to the fundraising of the bundler. By law, the bundler is charged under an appropriate limit with each contribution raised, if the bundler is deemed on the facts to have exercised "direction and control" over the making of the contribution. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6; see also 54 Fed. Reg. 34108 (1989). This regulation was written in order to prevent a bundler from exercising "direction and control," and thereby achieving the same effect with the funds of others that it would be prohibited from doing with its own funds -- i.e., presenting contributions of virtually unlimited amounts to federal candidates. Yet by exercising complete direction and control over Inner Circle II as it does, NRSC effectively scoffs at the already generous limitations, described above, that the law imposes on party contributions to any candidate. Inner Circle II allows NRSC to pass on to candidates millions of dollars -- as much as the market will bear, up to the practical limit on how much money it can raise for their benefit -- without so much as a nod to relevant bundling rules. If the FEC allows Inner Circle II to proceed with its current bundling arrangement, it will essentially open Pandora's Box to bundling programs in which the bundler completely directs and controls the contributions, and circumvents 11 C.F.R. § 110.6, under the guise of "joint fundraising."

The FEC has repeatedly held, and a federal court has confirmed, that direction and control is decided on all the facts and circumstances of a case, i.e., on "the totality of the circumstances." See, e.g., AO 1986-4; re: AOR 1976-92; MUR 1028; Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990); cf. 54 Fed. Reg. 34108 (1989) (where the Commission refused to write a definition of "direction or control" in favor of a continued case-by-case decisionmaking standard). A variety of factors in past cases have decided the question, including: whether the contributor was given any choice over the amount of the contribution; whether the contributor was informed of the identity of the candidate beneficiaries; the timing of the solicitation; the extent of the involvement of the candidate beneficiaries in the design and structure of the solicitation effort made on their behalf; and whether the contributor had any choice among candidates. But the Commission was adamant in its refusal to give an abstract definition to "direction and control;" it could not, it believed, point to any factor as dispositive, and therefore had to address the question freshly in each particular case on its facts. Specifically, the Commission noted:

In light of the wide variety of earmarking situations which have arisen in the past, the Commission is not able at this time to formulate regulatory language that clearly delineates situations where direction or control exists from those in which the conduit does not exercise direction or control. Accordingly, the Commission will continue to evaluate these situations on a case-by-case basis.

The Commission's position on control, and the necessity of determining its presence on all facts and circumstances, is followed by the agency in the analogous area of affiliation of political committees. Like the regulations governing bundling, the question of affiliation is crucial to the enforcement of the contribution limitations. Two committees affiliated with each other in the legal sense must share the same contribution limitation; therefore, two affiliated multicandidate committees may only receive $5,000 in the aggregate from the same contributor. Questions of affiliation rest, in turn, on a determination of whether there is a "control" relationship between the committees -- whether, in the words of the regulations, one of the committees or its sponsor is "established, financed, maintained and controlled" by the other. 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(a)(ii). Control is essential to the effective administration of limitations, in the affiliation as well as bundling area.

As in the bundling area of the law, this matter of control is decided on an examination of all the facts and circumstances. Section 110.3 of The Commission regulations provide that a variety of factors will be considered and that the Commission will examine actual relationships between various committees, locating to a detailed list of potential factors as follows:

The Commission will examine these factors in the context of the overall relationship between committees or sponsoring organizations to determine whether the presence of any factor or factors is evidence of one committee or organization having been established, financed, maintained or controlled by another committee or sponsoring organization. Such factors include, but are not limited to:

(B) Whether a sponsoring organization or committee has the authority or ability to direct or participate in the governance of another sponsoring organization or committee through provisions of constitutions, bylaws, contracts, or other rules, or through formal or informal practices or procedures;

(C) Whether a sponsoring organization or committee has the authority or ability to hire, appoint, demote or otherwise control the officers, or other decisionmaking employees or members of another sponsoring organization or committee;

(G) Whether a sponsoring organization or committee provides funds or goods in a significant amount or on an ongoing basis to another sponsoring organization or committee, such as through direct or indirect payments for administrative, fundraising, or other costs, but not including the transfer to a committee of its allocated share of proceeds jointly raised pursuant to 11 C.F.R. 102.17;

(I) Whether a sponsoring organization or a committee or its agent had an active or significant role in the formation of another sponsoring organization or committee; and

91040870024

- (J) Whether the sponsoring organizations or committees have similar patterns of contributions or contributors which indicate a formal or ongoing relationship between the sponsoring organizations or committees.

11 C.F.R. § 110.3(a)(3)(ii).

The factors cited by the Commission are numerous, and the agency stresses that they are not exclusive. Unique factual circumstances will be taken into consideration in the assessment of "control." Nonetheless, the facts the Commission does cite have clear implications for approaching the meaning of control in other areas of FEC law. We turn to several of these in detail to illustrate their relevance to the meaning of control in the context of bundling.

Factor B finds control where a "sponsoring organization or committee has the authority or ability to direct . . . the governance of another . . . committee . . . through formal or informal practices or procedures." The record of Inner Circle II, or at least that portion known to the public, demonstrates the controlling or directing role played by the NRSC. NRSC staff run Inner Circle II; its resources fuel its day-to-day operation. Communications to participants, involving directions on steps to take to effect participation, are issued by NRSC personnel. All of the paperwork required of participants, such as FEC filings, are prepared with materials supplied by NRSC and under NRSC direction; all such paper is returned by instructions of the NRSC to its Executive Director. The percentages and numbers in each class of participating candidates was apparently decided by the NRSC and then announced as a fait accompli to the participants. In short, while operating under the name Inner Circle, the effort is so completely organized and directed by the NRSC that a finding of control would be compelled under the affiliation regulation's control standard.

Factor C locates control in situations where one sponsoring organization or committee may control the appointment, hiring or firing of the employees of another committee, including the "decisionmaking" employees. This is undoubtedly the case here, because the staff of the Inner Circle consists entirely of full-time paid employees of the NRSC who NRSC can control at will.

Factor G focuses on the element of control which involves a sponsoring organization or committee providing "funds or goods in a significant amount or on an ongoing basis" to another such committee or organization. This is stated to include "direct or indirect payments for administrative, fundraising, or other costs." NRSC, of course, advances the costs for the administration of Inner Circle II, periodically billing these costs to Inner Circle II for reimbursement. None of the candidate committees participating in these efforts appears at any time to have similarly lent funds, goods or services to the effort.

Factor I notes that control is exercised when a sponsoring organization or committee has "had an active or significant role in the formation of another sponsoring organization or committee." As noted from the role of the establishment and administration of the NRSC, Inner Circle II is a creation of the NRSC, and the candidate-participants are invitees.

Thus, it could not be more clear that under the standard for determining control in the affiliation context, the NRSC and Inner Circle II would have to be deemed dependent affiliated committees. The evolving control standard under the bundling regulations parallels this standard. By analogy to the affiliation standard, the NRSC plainly "controls" the Inner Circle II program.

Analogies to analyses of the meaning of "direction and control" in other areas of the law would prove equally fruitful. Indeed, it appears that across strata of legal doctrine, the standard uniformly used by courts and agencies alike is a realistic, rather than theoretical, approach. Decisionmakers routinely put aside ostensible relationships in favor of a probing of the question, "What's really going on here?," especially in situations where coverups are facile and can conceal the circumvention of the ultimate policy behind the law. See, e.g., Copperweld Corp. v. Independence Tube Corp., 467 U.S. 752 (1984) (parent company and subsidiary viewed as one enterprise for purposes of § 1 of the Sherman Act); City of Mount Pleasant v. Associated Elec. Corp., Inc., 838 F.2d 268 (8th Cir. 1988) (application of coordinated activity analysis to electrical cooperatives); Proctor v. General Conf. of Seventh Day Adventists, 651 F. Supp. 1505, 1524-25 (N.D. Ill. 1986) (individual regional conferences of churches could not be considered "independent entities" for antitrust analysis purposes where entities had unity of interest, and church was highly centralized, unified body with goals and policies controlled by its national general conference); Gucci v. Gucci Shops, Inc., 651 F. Supp. 194 (S.D.N.Y. 1986) (looking to effective control of business of two companies for purposes of determining antitrust conspiracy possibility); National Dairy Products v. United States, 350 F.2d 321, 327 (8th Cir. 1965) (defining control); Sonitrol of Fresno, Inc. v. America Tel. & Tel. Co., 1986-1 Trade Cas. (CCH) ¶ 67,080, at 62,566-67 (D.D.C. 1986) (ownership interest in subsidiaries of 23.9% and 32.6% was sufficient to prevent election of truly independent board of directors). The FEC should follow this pragmatic line of reasoning in assessing the NRSC's Inner Circle II bundling program.

III. THE NEED FOR IMMEDIATE COMMISSION ACTION:
INVESTIGATION AND ENFORCEMENT

An investigation by the Commission is currently essential in order to ascertain precisely the role of the NRSC in Inner Circle II. Numerous questions must be answered by the NRSC including, most importantly, whether the candidates had any role whatsoever in formulating the concept of the Inner Circle II program, or in approving the details such as the percentages assigned for participation to each class of member, or the periodic adjustments to these percentages.

All of these questions of fact as they bear on control must be related for enforcement purposes to the larger legal issue of the reason for NRSC's involvement. It would appear that NRSC has joined the effort as an ostensible participant for the sole disingenuous purpose of claiming for Inner Circle II the nomenclature of "joint fundraising." Its percentage share -- one percent of the net -- belies that claim. The true motive for its involvement, then, appears to be to construct the program as a vehicle to avoid contribution limitations through improper bundling. Its motive is, at bottom, to circumvent the law.

Other aspects of its involvement may well reveal, upon formal investigation, this same objective of limitations avoidance. For example, under the terms of the program, NRSC takes any portion of a contribution which under the allocation formula would result in the receipt by a candidate of a contribution from a resident of that candidate's own state. This is not, as it may at first appear, a device for NRSC financial participation. Rather, NRSC is assuring all candidates that they may approach in-state contributors for a full and direct contribution to their campaign without concern that a portion of the contribution to Inner Circle II would have eaten into the contributor's limit to that candidate. Thus, an Idaho contributor donating to Inner Circle II will not have made a contribution in this way to the Idaho Republican Senate candidate; he or she may be approached by that candidate for a full $1,000 per election directly to his campaign. Through this mechanism, NRSC has once again guaranteed that the Inner Circle II program will maximize the financial opportunities for its candidate -- not for itself.

Along these lines, it is also significant that in-state contributions are allocated to NRSC, rather than to the other class members. An investigation may well show that NRSC is crediting the monies received in this fashion to each of the candidates in whose states these contributions were made, and informally "rebating" the monies to these candidates in another way (such as direct expenditures on behalf of the candidates, or transfers to their state parties). This would not only undercut the NRSC's pretense of raising funds through Inner Circle II for its own account and purposes; it would also highlight the money-laundering aspect of the program -- the very element Congress sought to eliminate through its bundling regulations. See, e.g., Committee on House Administration,

Federal Election Campaign Act Amendments of 1974, H. Rep. No. 93-1239, 93d Cong., 2d Sess. 115, reprinted in 1 FEC, Legislative History of the Federal Election Campaign Act Amendments of 1974, at 635 (1977); 120 Cong. Rec. H7932 (daily ed. Aug. 8, 1974) (statements of Reps. Young and Ashbrook).

IV. CONCLUSION

The scale of the Inner Circle II effort is extraordinary. It is the most monumental fundraising effort ever mounted by a national party committee on behalf of its individual federal candidates. According to reports filed with the FEC, Inner Circle II has raised $3,166,878.39 to date, in gross amounts prior to payment of expenses and distribution of proceeds to participating candidates. Expenses have totalled $1,730,880.62, and net distributions to candidates have reached $1,057,500.00. See Exhibit 7. By contrast to the candidates, NRSC has received a paltry $12,000 in federal dollars that it may lawfully use in federal elections. See Exhibit 8. This "take" is hardly in keeping with the central and controlling role it plays in the establishment, administration and financing of the venture.

Expectations by the NRSC for the future of Inner Circle II are apparently high. In a letter to potential contributors, Vice President Dan Quayle advises that for the cycle, NRSC and its Inner Circle II program anticipate operating on a budget of $11,500,000, the majority of which will be funnelled directly to candidates. See Exhibit 9.

Thus, the practical effect of the control established by the NRSC is to enable it to leave in a shambles the contribution limitations and coordinated expenditure limits of federal law. See, e.g., Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1 (1976); California Medical Assoc. v. FEC, 453 U.S. 182 (1981). By bundling $11.5 million to its candidates, it will have achieved the same effect as if it had added $11.5 million onto the legal limits. In terms of the impact on campaigns, there is no meaningful distinction between $11.5 million NRSC spends in § 441a(d) coordinated expenditures to support the candidates' own fundraising, and the $11.5 million that candidates will receive from Inner Circle II's illicit bundling operation.

While NRSC and its defenders may try to argue that this device provides Inner Circle II with the protection it believes is afforded under the joint fundraising regulations, this is at best an attempt to utilize a loophole. Nevertheless, there can be no resource to the protection of a loophole here, where the applicable bundling regulations make eminently clear that limits apply to this activity. Any contrary suggestion drains all conventional meaning from the term "loophole"; it allows a loophole so large that it destroys the practical significance of one of the pillars of the Act -- spending limitations.

4. Class Action

[5] In Count V of her amended complaint, plaintiff alleges that defendants have engaged in a pattern of sexual discrimination against a class consisting of hundreds of female employees. Defendant IBEW has moved to strike the allegations in Count V on the ground that plaintiff has failed to move for class certification under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(c)(1). In response, plaintiff has moved for a stay of her obligations under Local Rule 203 until discovery has been completed.

Local Rule 203 provides:

(b) Motion for Certification. Within 90 days after the filing of a complaint in a case sought to be maintained as a class action, the plaintiff shall move for a certification under Rule 23(c)(1), Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, that the case may be so maintained. In ruling upon the motion, the court may allow the action to be so maintained, may deny the motion, or may order that a ruling be postponed pending discovery or other appropriate preliminary proceedings. A defendant may move at any time to strike the class action allegations or to dismiss the complaint.

Plaintiff's amended complaint was filed on March 15, 1989. She argues, however, that she cannot move for class certification until after she has had adequate time for discovery.⁵ However, the 90-day limit of the local rule has been strictly enforced in this Circuit. See McCarthy v. Kleindienst, 741 F.2d 1406, 1411 (D.C.Cir.1984); Black Panther Party v. Smith, 661 F.2d 1243, 1279 (D.C.Cir.1981), vacated on other grounds sub nom. Moore v. Black Panther Party, 458 U.S. 1118, 102 S.Ct. 3505, 73 L.Ed.2d 1381 (1982); Coffin v. Sec'y of Health, Educ., and Welfare, 400 F.Supp. 953 (D.D.C.1975). Plaintiff has not offered any compelling reason why the local rule should not be followed in this case. Even if she needed to conduct further discovery, she could have moved for class certification and re-that it was premised on her battery claim, the emotional distress claim would then be subject to the one-year statute of limitations for battery, and would be dismissed.

quested that the Court postpone its ruling. See Black Panther Party, 661 F.2d at 1279 ("ongoing research need not have precluded a motion for class certification."). Accordingly, plaintiff's class action allegations are stricken, and her motion for a stay of her Rule 203 obligations is denied.

An appropriate Order accompanies this Opinion.

ORDER

Upon consideration of defendants' partial motion to dismiss, defendant IBEW's motion to strike class action allegations, the oppositions thereto, and the entire record herein, it hereby is ORDERED, that defendants' motions are granted for the reasons set forth in the accompanying Opinion. It hereby further is ORDERED, that the discovery stay imposed by the Court on July 14, 1989, is lifted.

Elections ¶317.5

Federal Election Commission's dismissal of portion of complaint alleging that political committee violated its contribution limits and reporting obligations when it treated contributions received as result of a mass-mailing as "earmarked" was arbitrary and capricious; candidates who ultimately received contributions were not "clearly identified" in the mailings and political committee exercised some "direction or control" over contributions at issue. FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

GESELL, District Judge.

I. Findings of Fact.

1. Plaintiff, Common Cause, is a non-profit membership corporation whose activities include efforts to reform campaign finance practices.

2. Defendant, the Federal Election Commission ("FEC" or "Commission"), is an independent agency of the United States Government charged with enforcing the federal election laws.

3. The National Republican Senatorial Committee ("NRSC") is a political committee registered with the FEC under the Federal Election Campaign Act, 2 U.S.C. § 431 et seq., and is dedicated to the election of Republican candidates to the United States Senate.

4. On or about September 2, 1986, the NRSC mass-mailed a solicitation for contributions on the letterhead of the Vice President of the United States, with the purported signature of then-Vice President George Bush.

a. The NRSC sent out twenty-four different versions of the solicitation letter, each mentioning four states in which U.S. Senate campaigns were occurring in 1986 but not mentioning the names of the Republican candidates in those states. In total, twelve different campaigns were mentioned in the letters, although some campaigns were mentioned in more letters than other campaigns.

b. The different versions of the solicitation letters were sent to different mailing lists with different histories of giving in support of Republican candidates, and requested different amounts of money, depending on that past history of support.

c. Each solicitation letter indicated that the amount contributed in response to that letter would be divided equally among the four campaigns mentioned in the letter.

d. Each solicitation letter requested that the recipient make his or her check payable to the NRSC or organizations under the control of the NRSC (such as the "Inner Circle" or "Republican Presidential Task Force"), and the funds received as a result of the solicitation were deposited in the bank accounts under the control of the NRSC. The funds were then disbursed by the NRSC to the various campaigns.

e. The solicitation letters stated that they were authorized and paid for by the NRSC, and did not state that they were authorized or paid for by any of the campaigns mentioned in those letters.

f. The states mentioned in the NRSC Bush mailings were: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Missouri, Nevada, North Carolina, South Dakota and Vermont. The Republican candidates in those states, respectively, were: Jeremiah Denton, Asa Hutchinson, Ed Zachau, Kenneth Kramer, Paula Hawkins, Mack Mattingly, Henson Moore, Christopher Bond, James Santini, James Broyhill, James Abdnor and Richard Snelling.

5. The twelve campaigns mentioned in the letters each signed an agreement with the NRSC agreeing to pay for the cost of mailings mentioning their race.

6. No candidate participated in the planning, approval, implementation or oversight of the NRSC solicitation program, nor did any candidate authorize or approve the letters sent by the NRSC as part of that program.

7. The NRSC treated the funds received as a result of each Bush solicitation letter as contributions earmarked for the four campaigns mentioned in that letter, and passed on those funds to the twelve Republican Senate campaigns. The NRSC did not report those contributions to the FEC as contributions by the individual donors to it, nor did the NRSC report the funds passed on to the campaigns as contributions by it to those campaigns; rather, the NRSC caused the campaigns to report the contributions as having been made directly by the individual donors to those campaigns. Some of the individual donors were thus reported to have contributed to candidates of whom the individuals had never heard.

8. The NRSC Bush mailings cost approximately $672,000. Of this amount, the NRSC billed the campaigns for the $62,909 cost of the mailings that did produce a donation, but did not pass on the $610,891 cost of the mailings that did not produce a donation.

9. In connection with some contributions received as a result of the Bush solicitations, the NRSC determined that the contributors affirmatively intended to earmark the funds so contributed to the NRSC, and the NRSC accounted for these funds as contributions to it. However, for $108,086 in funds later determined by the FEC General Counsel to have been earmarked for the NRSC, the NRSC did not account for the funds as contributions to it and, instead, treated the checks as earmarked for specific candidates.

10. In sum, the NRSC received approximately $2,826,909 as a result of the Bush solicitation, which it treated as contributions directly to the twelve campaigns by the individual donors, rather than as contributions to the NRSC itself, or as contributions by the NRSC to those campaigns.

11. On October 28, 1986, Common Cause filed a complaint with the FEC, alleging that the NRSC's accounting for the Bush mailings violated the Federal Election Campaign Act. Common Cause alleged in part that the NRSC exercised "direction or control" of the contributions received as a result of the mailings, and therefore any such contributions must be reported as contributions by the NRSC to those candidates, and counted against the NRSC's contribution limits to those candidates. Common Cause alternatively alleged that the original donors had not "earmarked" their contributions at all, and therefore the contributions were properly characterized as contributions by the original donors to the NRSC, followed by contributions by the NRSC to the twelve campaigns. On November 14, 1986, Common Cause filed a supplement to this complaint.

12. On April 9, 1987, the FEC decided by a vote of 6-0 to find reason to believe that the NRSC had violated 2 U.S.C. §§ 434(b), 441a(h) and 441d(a), as well as 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2).

13. After investigating the matters alleged in the complaint of Common Cause, on January 28, 1988, the General Counsel of the FEC recommended that the FEC find probable cause that the NRSC had violated all of the provisions recited in paragraph 12.

14. After receiving a brief from the NRSC, on April 21, 1988, the General Counsel again recommended that the FEC find probable cause for the same violations.

15. On May 3, 1988, the FEC directed its General Counsel to investigate further the NRSC's 1986 solicitation program, and prepare another brief setting forth its findings.

16. As a result of its additional investigation, on June 24, 1988, the FEC General Counsel recommended that the FEC find probable cause to believe that the NRSC had committed additional violations of the same sections previously charged against it in connection with the 1986 solicitation program.

17. After receipt of another brief from the NRSC, on July 20, 1988, the FEC General Counsel made its final enforcement recommendation to the FEC. The General Counsel recommended that the FEC find probable cause:

a. that the NRSC violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2) by failing to report as contributions from itself approximately $2,718,813.60 in contributions from itself to the twelve Republican campaign committees, on the ground that the NRSC exerted direction or control over the choice of the recipient candidates;¹

b. that the NRSC violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) by failing to report as contributions from itself $108,086 in contributions earmarked for the NRSC but forwarded to six of the twelve Republican campaign committees;

c. that the NRSC violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) by failing to report as contributions to the twelve campaigns $610,891.03 in costs related to unsuccessful solicitations;

d. that the NRSC violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h) by exceeding the $17,500 limitation on contributions to the twelve campaigns by a total of $3,222,165.25; and

e. that the NRSC violated 2 U.S.C. § 441d(a)(1).

18. On July 26, 1988, the FEC deadlocked 3-3 on the General Counsel's "direction or control" recommendation, and therefore pursuant to statute, the recommendation was rejected. The FEC accepted the remainder of the General Counsel's recommendations, with the exception that, as a result of the deadlock on the "direction or control" recommendation, the total amount of the excess contribution under 2

U.S.C. § 441a(h) was reduced from $3,222,165.25 to $534,249.25.

19. On December 23, 1988, the FEC voted to accept a conciliation agreement with the NRSC. That conciliation agreement contains findings of all of the violations for which the FEC found probable cause, and included a $20,000 civil penalty to be paid by the NRSC.

20. On December 29, 1988, the FEC notified Common Cause that it had concluded action with respect to Common Cause's complaint against the NRSC, and that the FEC had dismissed the "direction or control" allegation made by Common Cause.

21. On January 30, 1989, FEC Commissioner Josefiak filed a "Statement of Reasons" for his vote against the General Counsel's "direction or control" enforcement recommendation. On February 24, 1989, Commissioners Aikens and Elliott joined in that statement.

22. On February 27, 1989, Common Cause filed this suit, seeking review of the FEC's decision to dismiss portions of its complaint against the NRSC.

23. On June 2, 1989, Commissioners McDonald, McGarry and Thomas filed a Statement of Reasons for their vote in favor of the General Counsel's "direction or control" enforcement recommendation.

II. Conclusions of Law.

1. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(8)(A) and 28 U.S.C. § 1331, and venue is proper in this district pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(8)(A) and 28 U.S.C. § 1391.

2. In 1986, the NRSC was a political committee within the meaning of 2 U.S.C. § 431(4), and therefore had a duty under 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) to file accurate periodic reports with the FEC regarding its expenditures and contributions. Under 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h), the NRSC was subject to a contribution limit of $17,500 for each U.S. Senate candidate during the year an election is

1. The difference between this sum and the total amount raised by the 1986 Bush solicitation is due to the fact that the NRSC could legally contribute $17,500 to each of the twelve campaigns, and had also been designated as agent by the Republican National Committee to make additional contributions (the size of which varied according to the population of the state) to those campaigns. The NRSC had largely exhausted those contribution limits.

held. In 1986, the NRSC was the agent of the Republican National Committee, and therefore under 2 U.S.C. § 441a(d)(3) could also make a contribution to each U.S. Senate candidate equal to the greater of (a) $20,000, or (b) two cents multiplied by the voting age population of the state in which the Senate candidate is running.

3. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b) provides that a contribution is "earmarked" if it is subject to a designation, instruction or encumbrance which results in all or any part of that contribution being made to a clearly identified candidate.

4. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d) provides that, if a person or entity acts as a conduit for the earmarked contribution of another person, the contribution limits of the conduit are not affected by passing on the earmarked contribution, except where the conduit exercises "any direction or control" over the recipient candidate, in which case the contribution affects the contribution limits of both the original donor and the conduit.

5. 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(8) provides that any person who files a complaint with the FEC may file suit within 60 days of the date when the Commission dismisses that complaint to have the dismissal set aside as contrary to law. Common Cause's filing of this suit was timely under this provision.

6. Contributions sent in response to the NRSC's 1986 Bush solicitation mailings were not "earmarked" within the meaning of 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b). Contributions were made payable to the NRSC or some organization under their control (such as the "Inner Circle" or "Republican Presidential Task Force"), and not to specific candidates. The NRSC was not clearly obliged by law to pass on all those contributions to the candidates in the states mentioned in the mailings pursuant to the formula indicated in the letter. The candidates who ultimately received these contributions were not "clearly identified" in the mailings in that neither their names nor their pictures appeared in the mailings and their identities were not apparent to many contributors. See 2 U.S.C. § 431(18) (defining "clearly identified"). Record evidence on the point suggests that individual donors had often never even heard of the candidates to whom they supposedly had earmarked contributions. Donors did not make a meaningful designation, instruction or encumbrance on the NRSC's use of the contributed funds. The record evidence also suggests that individual donors intended to give to the NRSC for use in its discretion. The FEC's decision to dismiss the portion of Common Cause's complaint alleging that the NRSC violated its contribution limits and reporting obligations when the NRSC treated contributions received as a result of the 1986 Bush mailings as "earmarked" was arbitrary and capricious and contrary to law.

7. The FEC's decision that the NRSC did not exercise "any direction or control" over the 1986 Bush mailings was not mandated by prior FEC precedent, was effected by a 3-3 tie vote and was contrary to the recommendation of the FEC General Counsel. It cannot be upheld because it ignored the plain language of the applicable regulation and was not rationally explained.

8. Contrary to the conclusion of Commissioner Josefiak's Statement of Reasons, the fact that the donors were informed by the Bush letter of the formula for division of contributions and gave voluntarily does not decide the "direction or control" issue. The plain language of the regulation controls.

9. The decision of the FEC not to enforce in the circumstances presented by the record was contrary to the intent of Congress to limit participation of national parties in campaign fundraising.

10. The NRSC exercised some "direction or control" within the meaning of 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d) over the contributions at issue. The NRSC chose the twelve campaigns which were mentioned in the letters; the NRSC chose how many letters in which each campaign would be mentioned; and the NRSC chose which mailing lists, with which donation histories, would be used for each version of the letter. The contributions were to be made to the NRSC or an organization controlled by the NRSC, were deposited in the NRSC's bank accounts, and were disbursed to the campaigns by the NRSC. Accordingly, the FEC's decision to dismiss the portion of Common Cause's complaint alleging that the NRSC violated its contribution limits and reporting obligations in connection with the 1986 Bush mailings was arbitrary and capricious.

ORDER

Upon consideration of the administrative record and the full briefs of the parties supporting and opposing their respective cross-motions for summary judgment in this action for declaratory judgment and injunctive relief, and for the reasons set forth in the attached findings of fact and conclusions of law, it is hereby

ORDERED that the Federal Election Commission's dismissal of part of Common Cause's complaint against the National Republican Senatorial Committee is reversed as arbitrary and capricious and contrary to law; and it is further ORDERED that this matter is remanded, pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(8)(C), to the Federal Election Commission, which is directed to conform with this declaration and proceed accordingly within 30 days of the date of this Order.

UNITED STATES of America

Leigha COTHRAN.

Crim. No. 89-0481.

United States District Court,
District of Columbia.

Jan. 24, 1990.

Upon defendant's motion to suppress evidence and statements obtained from her as a result of an encounter with police on an interstate bus at a bus station, the District Court, Gesell, J., held that a young traveler passing through District of Columbia, cornered by police on an interstate bus at a bus station, and faced with a request to search her bag, was "seized" within meaning of Fourth Amendment, and her subsequent denial of ownership of bag was involuntary.

Motion granted.

1. Arrest ¶68(4)

Seizure occurs where a police officer, by physical force or show of authority, has restrained a citizen's liberty, i.e., where police conduct, in view of totality of circumstances, is so intimidating that an individual could reasonably have believed that he was not free to disregard police presence and go about his business. U.S.C.A. Const. Amend. 4.

2. Arrest ¶68(4)

A young traveler passing through District of Columbia, cornered by police on an interstate bus at a bus station, and faced with a request to search her bag, was "seized" within meaning of Fourth Amendment, and her subsequent denial of ownership of bag was involuntary. U.S.C.A. Const. Amend. 4.

3. Arrest ¶63.1

Seizure of bus passenger made without any articulable suspicion of wrongdoing violated Fourth Amendment. U.S.C.A. Const. Amend. 4.

4. Searches and Seizures ¶180

Search pursuant to an unlawful seizure may nevertheless be upheld if, but only if, defendant voluntarily consented to such search; only such an intervening "act of free will" can "purge" primary taint of unlawful invasion. U.S.C.A. Const. Amend. 4.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990
Participants

FROM: Bill Canfield

RE: Operation of Joint Fundraising Committee

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee is a joint fundraising committee (as described in 11 C.F.R. 102.17) established by several 1990, 1992 and 1994 Republican Senate campaigns. Its purpose is simple: to assist those campaigns to raise funds from individuals who have demonstrated their commitment to Republican Senate candidates.

Structure: The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee is a political committee registered with the Federal Election Commission ("FEC"). It collects contributions, pays bills and disburses net proceeds. 11 C.F.R. 102.17(b)(1). It also files reports with the FEC of all its activities, as required by the Federal Election Campaign Act ("FECA"). The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee will physically perform these functions, with the expenses allocated to all the participating committees (see section on Allocation of Expenses). 11 C.F.R. 102.17(a)(1)(i).

Legal Requirements for Participating Committees: All committees have certain filing requirements they must comply with under the law. Samples of the FEC Forms you must file are included with this memorandum. First, each candidate committee must sign the enclosed Joint Fundraising Agreement and return it immediately to Doyce Boesch at the NRSC. Second, each campaign must file and have in its files an amended FEC Form 2 (Statement of Candidacy) showing on Line 7 that the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee, 425 Second Street, NE, Washington D.C. 20002 is an authorized committee. This Form must also be filed with the Secretary of the Senate. You are also required to retain the letter of authorization in your files.

Third, having filed the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee with the FEC, participating committees must file an amended FEC Form 1 (Statement of Organization) with the Secretary of the Senate to include the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee as a "Joint Fundraising Representative (not an "Affiliated Committee") (Line 6) and show the committee's bank account (Signet Bank, 8330 Boone Boulevard, Vienna, VA 22180) as one of its depositories (Line 9). 11 C.F.R. 102.17(c)(3)(i). This amendment allows the transfer of unlimited amounts of money from the joint fundraising committee to the participating committees.

The FECA and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990

Committee: The Regulations governing joint fundraising agreements include several provisions that will facilitate the work of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee.

* Donors to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee will have two options -- both provided for in the Regulations. They can either donate directly to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee with their contributions divided among the participants or they can designate (earmark) their contributions to a specific candidate.

-- The participating campaigns establish an allocation formula in the Joint Fundraising Agreement for the distribution of proceeds to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee. 11 C.F.R. 102.17(c)(i). It is: Senator Ben Bagert Committee to put Louisiana First, Hank Brown for U.S. Senate, Cabaniss for U.S. Senate Committee, Dan Coats for Indiana, either Larry Craig for U.S. Senate or Jim Jones for Idaho Committee (proceeds will go to the primary election winner), either Dan Daly Committee or Rappaport for Senate (proceeds will go to the primary election winner), either John Domenech for U.S. Senate or Montanans for Farrell or Kolstad for U.S. Senate Committee or Bruce Vorhauer for U.S. Senate Committee (proceeds will go to the primary election winner), either Durant for Senate or Bill Schuette for U.S. Senate (proceeds will go to the primary election winner), Hal Daub for U.S. Senate, Helms for Senate, Lynn Martin for Senate, McConnell Senate Committee '90, Friends of Larry Pressler, Friends of Claudine, Bob Smith for U.S. Senate, and Iowans for Tauke are allocated an equal share of 58% of the total funds received, designated for the 1990 general election; People for Boschwitz, Citizens for Cochran, Cohen for Senator, People for Pete Domenici, Friends of Phil Gramm, Re-elect Senator Mark O. Hatfield, Kansas for Kassebaum, The Simpson Senate Committee 1990, Stevens for Senate Committee, Re-elect Thurmond Committee, and Senator John Warner 1990 Committee are allocated an equal share of 29% of the total funds received, designated for the 1990 general election; Missourians for Kit Bond - 1992, Conrad Burns for U.S. Senate, Senator Chafee Committee, D'Amato in '92, Danforth for Senate Committee, Dole for Senate '92, Durenberger 1994 Volunteer Committee, Jake Garn Re-election Committee, Friends for Slade Gorton 1988, Grassley '92 Committee, Inc., Hatch Election Committee, People for John Heinz Committee, Jeffords for Vermont, Kasten for Senate, Trent Lott for Mississippi, Friends of Dick Lugar, Friends of Connie Mack, McCain Re-election Committee, Re-elect Senator Frank Murkowski, Nickles for U.S. Senate, Re-elect Bob Packwood Committee, Roth Senate Committee, Rudman for Senate Committee, Citizens for Arlen Specter, Symms for Senate, and Wallop Senate Drive, Inc. are allocated an equal share of 12% of the total funds received, designated for their next primary election; and, the National Republican Senatorial Committee shall receive 1% of all net fundraising proceeds.

- But of greater importance, the Regulations specify that "notwithstanding the stated allocation formula, [contributors must be told they] may designate their contributions for a particular participant or participants." 11 C.F.R. 102.17(c)(2)(i)(C). That means that when contributions are solicited on behalf of the joint fundraising committee, contributors have the option of either designating specific candidates to receive their money or of donating to a general pool that will be distributed to all participating campaigns in accordance with the allocation formula and applicable contribution limits.

* The Regulations specify that contributors must be informed that the allocation of their donation will be changed if necessary to prevent the donor making an excessive contribution to any candidate. 11 C.F.R. 102.17(c)(2)(i)(D). Accordingly, the Regulations specifically include a provision addressing the situation of a maxed out donor to one candidate still being able to aid other participants in the joint fundraising without violating the law. Id.

Allocation of Gross Proceeds: The Regulations state that the proceeds must be allocated according to the formula stated in the joint fundraising agreement. 11 C.F.R. 102.17(c)(6). The contribution of an individual who has already given the legal maximum to one participating committee may be reallocated to the other participants, as long as the distribution does not violate the individual's limits.

Allocation of Expenses and Distributions of Net Proceeds: The gross contributions will be allocated among the participants according to designated contributions and the allocation formula. Expenses of the participants will then be calculated "based on the percentage of the total receipts each participant had been allocated." 11 C.F.R. 102.17(c)(7)(A). Net proceeds are calculated by subtracting the participant's share of expenses from the amount that participant has been allocated from gross proceeds.

Recordkeeping: The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 committee will screen all contributions to ensure that no contributions prohibited by the election laws (i.e., corporate, union, government contractor, foreign national, cash over $100) are deposited into the joint fundraising committee's federal account and to ensure that a contributor has not exceeded any of his or her contribution limits to any of the participants. All records documenting the contributions and expenditures of the committee must be retained for three years. 11 C.F.R. 102.17(c)(4)(iii).

August 10, 1990

Mr.

Dear Mr.

It gives me great pleasure to inform you that at the last meeting of the membership committee of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle, your name was placed in nomination by Senator John Warner and you were accepted for membership.

To welcome you to the Inner Circle, I would like to personally invite you to join me at a private reception for Inner Circle members. The reception will take place during our upcoming Fall Briefing on September 23rd and 24th.

Our official business meetings open the morning of September 24th when you'll be participating in closed-door strategy sessions that will give you an insider's look at the Bush Administration's legislative gameplan and the 1990 Senate elections. You'll also be invited to take part in something truly unique to the Inner Circle. You'll be our honored guest at a VIP dinner hosted by a Republican Senator, Cabinet member or Administration official.

Arnold Schwarzenegger, George Shultz, Sam Walton, and other distinguished Americans have already joined the Inner Circle. Like you, every one of them has demonstrated a truly exemplary commitment to our nation's ideals and principles.

Senator Bob Dole will be sending you your formal invitation to join the Inner Circle in a few days. I urge you to respond as soon as possible.

In closing, I want to congratulate you on your nomination and I hope that you will decide to accept membership in this most important organization. I look forward to seeing you in Washington on September 23rd.

Sincerely,

BOB DOLE

Dear Mr.

On behalf of my colleagues in the United States Senate, it is my privilege to invite you to accept membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle for a private reception on the grounds of the Vice President's residence.

Senator John Warner placed your name in nomination because he believes your accomplishments and commitment to our nation prove you worthy of membership in this prestigious organization.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of individuals who gather together on a regular basis to discuss national and regional topics in a comfortable mix of business and social gatherings.

Our next Inner Circle Briefing will be held in Washington, D.C., on September 23rd and 24th. The schedule for this event includes the private reception at the Vice President's residence, a full day of closed-door briefings by key Washington officials, and a members-only luncheon featuring one of the Republican Party's most noteworthy leaders.

You are also invited to participate in something truly unique to the Inner Circle.

On Monday evening, September 24th, you'll be joining a Republican Senator, Cabinet member or high-ranking Bush Administration official at one of our special VIP dinners. These private dinners, limited to Inner Circle members only, are held in private homes, elegant restaurants and hotels, and at beautiful historical sites.

Hosts of past Inner Circle VIP dinners have included Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Jack Kemp, and Senators Phil Gramm, Nancy Kassebaum, Connie Mack and Pete Wilson, among others.

It will also be my privilege to host one of these dinners personally.

Since reservations to this event are limited, I hope you will return your Nomination Acceptance today to reserve your place at the Fall Briefing.

As the enclosed agenda for the September meeting notes, Inner Circle members will have an opportunity to meet with many key government officials. Through panel discussions and question-and-answer sessions, Inner Circle members will attend a series of briefings on the political and economic upheavals sweeping across Eastern Europe, trade and monetary policy and the 1990 elections with national and international leaders.

Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, former Secretary of State George Shultz, White House Chief of Staff John Sununu and former Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick are among the many well-known officials who have in the past taken an active role in personally briefing Inner Circle members.

But of course the Inner Circle's schedule of events won't be over this fall. Nominees who join at this time will also be eligible for a full twelve months of Inner Circle activities both here in Washington and around the country. You'll be kept abreast of upcoming events on a regular basis, including the 1991 Inner Circle Spring Briefing, which traditionally features a dinner hosted by the President.

Many other benefits are made available to Inner Circle members. These are explained more fully in the enclosed Inner Circle Membership Prospectus. The financial details of Inner Circle membership are also covered in the accompanying Membership Prospectus.

After reviewing the agenda for our Spring Briefing and the Membership Prospectus, I hope that you will agree with me that Inner Circle membership is a worthwhile investment of your time and commitment.

Since plans for our Fall Briefing -- especially

the private reception with Vice President Quayle -- must be made many weeks ahead of time, it is imperative that I hear from you soon as to whether or not you will accept this nomination to join the Inner Circle. So please fill out the enclosed Inner Circle Nomination Acceptance and return it as soon as possible.

I look forward to welcoming you to Washington on September 23rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Bob Dole
Senate Republican Leader

P.S. It is important that you fill out all information regarding your date of birth and Social Security number when accepting your Inner Circle nomination, as this information is required by the Secret Service for clearance to all events with President Bush and Vice President Quayle.

If you have any questions concerning Inner Circle membership, please feel free to call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106.

FINAL
100 DAY STRATEGY
REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN THE U.S. SENATE

OVERVIEW

Less than 100 days remain before the most important election battle of the 1990s. And to wrest control of the Senate from the liberal Democrats, we're going to need the maximum commitment from every member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle.

That's why I've prepared this Strategy Report for you. Although this report contains sensitive polling and budgetary information — the kind not ordinarily released — I couldn't risk leaving you in the dark about our campaign strategy. The success of this campaign plan depends on your support.

This challenge is not one to be taken lightly — the work we do in the weeks ahead will have a profound effect on our nation's future. So please read this Strategy Report carefully. Then send your most generous contribution to help our Senate candidates.

It's going to take the full support of every member to break the Democrats' iron-grip on Congress this fall, but our sacrifices will be well-rewarded in November, with Republican Senate control.

1990 SENATE RACES: WHERE WE STAND TODAY

The chart below will show you where we stand today in each of the 35 Senate races taking place this year.

Needed to win Republican Senate Majority: Any 23 seats

As you can see, the momentum is clearly headed our way. But we'll need the full commitment of every member of the Inner Circle if we are to move six seats from the toss up column to the Republican column to win a GOP Senate Majority this November.

FINDING A WEAKNESS

Scientific poll-taking is one of our most valuable tools in helping to plot campaign strategy. For example, a recent poll showed Republican candidate Hal Daub only 9 points behind Nebraska Democrat James Exon. This information alerted campaign strategists to the urgent need to allocate maximum resources to Daub's campaign.

Hawaii offers another vivid illustration of the importance of polling. Current polls show Republican challenger Pat Saiiki trailing her opponent, Senate Democrat Daniel Akaka, by only one point. If we can give Saiiki the financial support she needs, she can very easily win in this Democrat-leaning state.

Accurate polling information can also reveal large blocs of undecided voters and uncover the strengths and weaknesses of candidates in the minds of the voters.

Clearly, comprehensive polling data will stretch our resources farther among our 33 Republican Senate candidates by alerting us to strengths and weaknesses in their Senate campaigns.

POLLING AND SURVEYS:	$2,370,000
Amount raised as of July 16	$1,877,000
Funds needed by August 31	$ 493,000

PINPOINTING VULNERABILITIES

Candidate Research programs have allowed us to turn several long-shot races into close races for the GOP. For example, we now have a clear shot at ousting ultra-liberal Senate Democrat Paul Simon of Illinois. Our research has shown him to be more interested in narrow special-interests and his own political ambitions than in representing the people of Illinois.

Candidate research has also shown Democrat Max Baucus of Montana to be vulnerable on issues concerning the use of public lands. Armed with this information, our candidate in Montana, Lt. Gov. Allen Kolstad, has been able to frame his voter-outreach campaign around this sensitive local issue.

Candidate research is absolutely vital if our GOP Senate candidates are to show voters factual evidence that their Democrat opponents are out of touch with the concerns of voters in their states.

CANDIDATE RESEARCH:	$1,990,000
Amount raised as of July 16	$1,181,300
Funds needed by August 31	$ 808,700

STRENGTHENING THE GRASS-ROOTS

We must enable our GOP Senate candidates to identify their solid supporters and ensure a high percentage turnout of Republican-leaning voters on Election Day. In this instance, our strategy calls for supporting the work of state Republican Party organizations.

With our aid, state Republican Parties can train volunteers, assist in phone banks and print campaign literature. In short, they can do all that is needed to reach voters on a one-on-one basis and make the kind of contact that gives our candidate that critical 1% or 2% margin of victory.

This kind of grass-roots effort will be the deciding factor in states such as North Carolina, where voter turnout will be the key in the dead-heat race between Republican Senator Jesse Helms and Democrat Harvey Gantt.

With grass-roots support such an essential factor in determining our candidate's victory or failure, it is clear that our grass-roots network programs must be fully funded if we intend to win a Republican Senate Majority this November.

GRASS-ROOTS NETWORK:	$1,650,000
Amount raised as of July 16	$1,038,000
Funds needed by August 31	$ 612,000

CONSOLIDATING SUPPORT

Among the strategies aimed at helping these GOP Senate candidates in heavily contested races is to launch a state-by-state media campaign that will amplify the vision and national messages of our candidates.

In the 1984 Kentucky race, an Inner Circle-funded television ad for Republican Mitch McConnell helped close a 80-point gap in the polls thus enabling McConnell to oust incumbent Democrat Dee Huddleston, who failed to launch a counter-attack on the airwaves.

The lesson learned here is that we must have a fully-funded media-assistance program to get our candidates' strong, conservative messages out to the voters as well as to defend them against surprise Democrat media blitzes.

NATIONAL MEDIA CAMPAIGN:	$3,250,000
Amount raised as of July 16	$2,293,200
Funds needed by August 31	$ 956,800

CANDIDATE RESERVE FUND

Senator Conrad Burns' election in 1988 shows that any state can break for us at the last minute. So even when Democrats hold leads in current polls, we must be prepared to deliver a last-minute infusion of aid to our Republican Senate candidates.

On the other hand, a shift in the political current might suddenly threaten one of our own secure candidates. In either case, the GOP candidate must be able to count on the Candidate Reserve Fund, which we have established to help all our candidates who need immediate support.

This reserve fund is going to be of vital importance in Iowa, where our GOP candidate, U.S. Rep. Tom Tauke, is going to be depending on maximum support from the Inner Circle to keep his cash-flow competitive with that of his well-funded Democrat opponent, Senator Tom Harkin.

CANDIDATE RESERVE FUND:	$2,240,000
Amount raised as of July 16	$1,523,500
Funds needed by August 31	$ 716,500

SUMMARY

TOTAL BUDGET TARGET:	$11,500,000
Amount raised as of July 16	$ 7,913,000
Funds needed by August 31	$ 3,587,000

As you can see, we have a lot to do in order to not at least five Democrat seats to win the Senate majority. But the future of our country is depending on our success.

So far, we have raised only 68% of the funds we need to meet our overall budget. That's been barely enough to keep pace with the early phases of our election-year programs. And if we don't meet our 1990 budget goals by August 31, then our entire strategy and — George Bush's legislative agenda — will be in jeopardy.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL COMMITTEE,

COMPLAINT

COMPLAINT OF COMMON CAUSE

1. This Complaint charges that the National Republican Senatorial Committee ("NRSC") and its chairman Senator Don Nickles have knowingly and willfully violated and are knowingly and willfully violating the Federal Election Campaign Act, 2 U.S.C. § 431, et seq., as amended ("FECA"), by making contributions to U.S. Senate candidates in excess of the NRSC's contribution limits and failing to report those contributions accurately. The current violations are essentially identical to the NRSC scheme declared illegal in Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990).

PARTIES

2. Complainant Common Cause is a nonprofit membership corporation organized under the laws of the District of Columbia. It has approximately 280,000 dues-paying members in the 50 states and the District of Columbia. Common Cause promotes, on a non-partisan basis, its members' interest in open, honest, and effective government and political representation. Common Cause seeks to achieve this objective by making government more responsive to the needs and demands of citizens through government and election reform.

3. Respondent NRSC is an unincorporated association comprised of Republican members of the U.S. Senate. The NRSC is a political committee registered with the Federal Election Commission ("FEC") that provides financial support to Republican Senatorial candidates.

4. Respondent Senator Don Nickles is, and was at all times relevant to the complaint, chairman of the NRSC, and was responsible for important decisions of the NRSC.

APPLICABLE STATUTES AND REGULATIONS

5. The FECA provides that the NRSC and the Republican National Committee ("RNC") are subject to a combined contribution limit of $17,500 for each U.S. Senate candidate during the year in which an election is held. 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h).

9 1 0 4 0 8 7 0 1 9 8

6. The FECA also provides that the RNC may make coordinated expenditures on behalf of each U.S. Senate candidate equal to the greater of: (a) two cents times the voting age population of the state; or (b) $20,000, with each figure to be adjusted for inflation. The state Republican party may make coordinated expenditures on behalf of a U.S. Senate candidate running for election in that state equal to the coordinated expenditures the RNC may make. 2 U.S.C. § 441a(d). In practice, the RNC and the state Republican parties delegate their expenditure authority to the NRSC. Pursuant to 2 U.S.C. §§ 441a(d) and (h), the NRSC will be allowed to spend and contribute no more than $11 million in connection with all U.S. Senate races occurring in 1990.

7. The FECA requires political committees such as the NRSC to file reports with the Federal Election Commission ("FEC") accurately reporting their receipts and disbursements. 2 U.S.C. § 434.

8. The FECA provides that all contributions made by a person either directly or indirectly on behalf of a candidate, including contributions which are in any way earmarked or otherwise directed through an intermediary or conduit, shall be treated as contributions from such person. The intermediary or conduit is required to report the original source and the intended recipient of such contributions. 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(8). FEC regulations provide that a conduit's own contribution limits are "affected" by passing on earmarked contributions "where the conduit exercises any direction or control over the choice of the recipient candidate." 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(1).

9. 12 C.F.R. § 102.17 allows political committees to engage in "joint fundraising," a term not mentioned in the FECA. Pursuant to this regulation, the "fundraising representative" for a joint fundraising effort may in certain circumstances collect contributions to that effort and may later pass those contributions on to the participating political committees without having been deemed to have itself made a contribution to those political committees.

10. 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(6)(C) provides that, for a knowing and willful violation of the FECA, the FEC may seek a civil penalty of the greater of $10,000 per violation or 200 percent of the contribution or expenditure involved in such violation.

GROUND'S FOR COMPLAINT

Introduction

11. The NRSC's actions described below are part of a knowing and willful pattern or practice of engaging in illegal schemes so as to exceed the contribution and expenditure limits set forth in 2 U.S.C. §§ 441a(d) and (h).

12. On January 23, 1990, the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia held that the FEC had acted arbitrarily and capriciously in dismissing (pursuant to a 3-3 vote) Common Cause's allegation that the NRSC had engaged in a massive violation of the FECA and FEC regulations by funnelling millions of dollars of contributions to Republican Senatorial candidates in 1986 as part of an illegal bundling scheme. See Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990). The FEC thereafter filed a civil enforcement action alleging that this bundling scheme was illegal and seeking a civil penalty and an injunction barring the NRSC from engaging in future illegal bundling schemes. See FEC v. NRSC, Civ. A. No. 90-2055 (D.D.C., filed Aug. 24, 1990).

13. The NRSC is now knowingly and willfully operating a new illegal scheme to evade the FECA. Although disguised as a joint fundraising program, the new scheme in fact mirrors the scheme held illegal in Common Cause v. FEC and alleged to be illegal in FEC v. NRSC. On information and belief, the object of the NRSC's new scheme is to raise and spend more money to support Republican U.S. Senate candidates than 2 U.S.C. §§ 441a(d) and (h) allow.

Facts

14. For years, the NRSC has operated an "Inner Circle" program for individuals who contribute $1,000 or more per year to the NRSC. This program has included special newsletters for such contributors, as well as the opportunity to participate in seminars and social events in Washington D.C. with important Republicans in government. On information and belief, the NRSC's Inner Circle mailing list of contributors who have given or are likely to give $1,000 or more per year is a valuable asset.

15. In the spring of 1990, the NRSC organized the "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990," purportedly a joint fundraising committee. In the summer of 1990, the NRSC organized the "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91," also purportedly a joint fundraising committee. Both Inner Circle — entities were and are alter egos of the NRSC. According to C reports on file with the FEC, both have the same address as the 2 NRSC, 425 Second St. N.E., Washington D.C. 20002. The person 0 designated in FEC filings as Treasurer and Custodian of Records 7 for both, James L. Hagen, is also the Treasurer and Comptroller 8 of the NRSC. According to FEC reports, both Inner Circle 4 entities pay all their overhead and payroll expenses to the NRSC. 0 The NRSC apparently provides both with all staffing, accounting, 1 legal, administrative, and FEC reporting support, as well as with 9 telephones, office space and equipment, supplies, and other costs of doing business.^{1/}

^{1/} For the remainder of this complaint, the term "NRSC" includes its alter egos, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91.

16. In the spring and summer of 1990, the NRSC mass-mailed a first round of solicitations to its Inner Circle mailing list. A copy of one of these first-round solicitations is attached as Exhibit A. The NRSC solicitation letter urges contributors to make checks payable to Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990.

17. The NRSC states in its first-round solicitation that contributions will be divided as follows. First, the NRSC will recover all of its costs in making the solicitations, plus one percent of all net fundraising proceeds after its costs have been recovered.^{2/} Of the remaining net proceeds, twenty-nine percent will be divided equally among ten committees (or two and nine-tenths percent per committee).^{3/} Each of these ten committees is the authorized campaign committee of an incumbent Republican U.S. Senator running for re-election in 1990. Fifty-

^{2/} The NRSC will also allocate to itself as a contribution any money that would otherwise be allocated to a candidate in the home state of the individual donor. For example, a candidate in Indiana will still be able to solicit the full $1,000 contribution permissible under FECA from an individual donor in Indiana, without any complication arising from the fact that the individual donor had previously contributed in connection with the NRSC solicitation. Also, the NRSC will allocate to itself (in its Building Fund) all contributions from sources that cannot legally contribute in connection with federal elections. Finally, the NRSC will allocate to itself any contributions from political action committees ("PACs") that would otherwise be allocated to a candidate not accepting PAC contributions.

^{3/} People for Boschwitz '90, Citizens for Cochran, Cohen for Senator, People for Pete Domenici Committee, Friends of Phil Gramm, Re-elect Senator Mark O. Hatfield, The Simpson Senate Committee 1990, Stevens for Senate Committee, Re-elect Thurmond Committee, and Senator John Warner 1990 Committee.

eight percent will be divided equally among sixteen committees (or three and five-eighths percent per committee).^{4/} Each of these committees is the authorized campaign committee of a Republican U.S. Senate candidate in the 1990 Senate elections. Twelve percent will be divided equally among twenty committees (or six-tenths of one percent per committee).^{5/} Each of those committees is the authorized campaign committee of an incumbent Republican U.S. Senator expected to stand for re-election in 1992 or 1994.^{6/}

18. Later in the summer of 1990, the NRSC mass-mailed its second round of solicitations to its "Inner Circle" mailing list. A copy of this solicitation is attached as Exhibit B. The NRSC solicitation letter urges contributors to make checks payable to Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91.

19. In this second-round solicitation, the NRSC changed the allocation formula. It states that the net proceeds of the solicitation will be split as follows: authorized campaign committees for the Republican nominees in five of the highest priority 1990 campaigns will divide equally thirty-five percent of the net proceeds (or seven percent per committee);^{7/} authorized campaign committees for the Republican nominees in eleven other 1990 campaigns will divide equally forty-three percent of the net proceeds (or approximately four percent per committee);^{8/} and authorized campaign committees for the committee for every incumbent Republican U.S. Senator whose seat is up for re-election in 1992 or 1994 is a beneficiary of the program, except those of Sen. Robert Dole, Sen. John Danforth, Sen. Chuck Grassley, Sen. Orrin Hatch, Sen. William Roth, and Sen. Warren Rudman.

^{7/} Hal Daub for Senate, Lynn Martin for Senate, Saiki in '90 Committee, Friends of Claudine, and Iowans for Tauke. The Saiki committee had not participated in the first solicitation, because the NRSC made that solicitation before the death of Sen. Matsunaga created a vacant Senate seat.

^{8/} Hank Brown for U.S. Senate, Friends of Bill Cabaniss, Dan Coats for Indiana, Craig for U.S. Senate, Re-elect Senator Mark Hatfield, Helms for Senate, Kolstad for U.S. Senate, McConnell Senate Committee '90, either Durant for Senate or Bill Schuette for U.S. Senate (proceeds to go to primary election

Republican nominees in the twelve remaining 1990 campaigns will divide equally nine percent of the net proceeds (or three-quarters of one percent per committee).^{2/} The twenty authorized campaign committees for incumbent Republican U.S. Senators expecting to stand for re-election in 1992 or 1994 will continue to divide equally twelve percent of the net proceeds (or six-tenths of one percent per committee), and the NRSC will continue to compensate itself as in the first-round solicitation.

20. On information and belief, based on the NRSC's labelling of its solicitation as a "joint fundraiser," the NRSC intends to treat the receipts from these solicitation programs as contributions by the original donors to the Senate campaigns listed in the solicitations (except the one percent of the net proceeds retained by the NRSC, and the special situations discussed in n.2 supra); it does not intend to treat this money as contributions made to it or by it and therefore subject to its contribution and expenditure limits.

21. On information and belief, the NRSC selected, or played a major role in selecting, which campaigns would receive the proceeds of its first-round solicitation, and in what amounts (e.g., whether a campaign would receive 3.625% of each contribution, 2.9%, 0.6%, or none at all). The NRSC also selected, or played a major role in selecting, which campaigns would receive the proceeds of its second-round solicitation, and in what amounts (e.g., 7%, 4%, 0.75%, or none at all).^{10/}

22. On information and belief, the NRSC, through its alter egos, will receive each contribution and will direct and/or control it until such time as the NRSC, in its discretion, directs that portions of the contribution be given to beneficiary committees.^{11/}

23. Senator Nickles, as the chairman of the NRSC, controls the major decisions of the NRSC, and does not need the approval of the members of the NRSC in operating the committee or authorizing expenditures and making contributions on behalf of ^{10/} Common Cause's information and belief as to this allegation are based on: (1) the NRSC's past practice, see, e.g., Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. at 149; (2) the position of power which the NRSC enjoys, by virtue of its money and mailing lists, vis-a-vis the campaigns; and (3) the pattern of campaigns participating in the two solicitations and the percentages of the proceeds each campaign is to receive.

^{11/} Common Cause's information and belief as to this allegation are based on the NRSC's labelling of its solicitation as a joint fundraiser. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17 (c)(3)(ii) (disbursements to participating committees may be delayed until all contributions have been received and all expenses have been paid).

the committee to federal candidates.^{12/} On information and belief based on his control over the NRSC, Senator Nickles knew of and approved in advance the illegal NRSC solicitation program described above.

Violations

A. The NRSC Solicitation Program Involves Illegal Bundling

24. The NRSC's 1990 Inner Circle solicitations are an illegal bundling scheme for the same two reasons that the scheme at issue in FEC v. NRSC was illegal.

25. First, the NRSC's disbursements through its alter egos to the beneficiary campaigns are contributions by the NRSC of its own money. The NRSC is not in fact acting as a conduit for individual earmarked contributions. The contributions are not, in fact, earmarked. The checks are drawn to the NRSC's alter egos, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 or Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91. The NRSC deposits those checks in account(s) under its direction and/or control. The NRSC's subsequent disbursements are, therefore, FECA "contributions" by the NRSC to those candidates. Where those contributions exceed the limits in 2 U.S.C. §§ 441a(d) and (h), the NRSC violates both sections. The NRSC's failure to report the contributions by the individual donors as contributions to itself, and to report the contributions to the beneficiary campaigns as contributions by itself, violates 2 U.S.C. § 434.

26. Second, even if the NRSC is not viewed as contributing its own funds but as acting as a conduit for earmarked contributions of others, the NRSC's actions still violate 2 U.S.C. §§ 434, 441a(d), and 441a(h). A conduit's contribution limits are "affected" by passing on earmarked contributions "where the conduit exercises any direction or control over the choice of the recipient candidate." 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(1). "Direction" and "control" are independent criteria viewed in the disjunctive; there is no need to demonstrate "control" as long as the intermediary exercises "direction" over the choice of the recipient.

27. Through this program, the NRSC exercises both direction and control by choosing the recipients of the contributors' funds and the amounts those candidates will receive. The NRSC, not the individual donors, selects the campaigns that receive money from the program. The NRSC, not the individual donors, sets and can adjust the percentage each campaign will receive. The solicitations specifically allow individual contributors to designate their contributions for particular campaign(s) among those listed, highlighting the fact that, for the vast majority of contributors who do not make such a specific designation, it is the NRSC that chooses the recipient candidates and percentages of the contributions. The individual donors do not write checks to the candidate, but to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle entities, groups under the direction and/or control of the NRSC. The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle entities then draw their own checks payable to the candidates. Once the NRSC receives the individuals' checks, the power to direct and control the funds to Senatorial candidates rests with the NRSC. Through the scheme as a whole, the NRSC determines when, to whom, and in what amount the money will be disbursed to candidates. See Armstrong World Industries, AO 1986-4; Boeing Civic Pledge Program, AOR 1976-92.

B. The NRSC Program Is Not Permissible Joint Fundraising

28. The NRSC's program -- soliciting and receiving contributions for use in making its own contributions to candidates -- is akin to the traditional activity engaged in by PACs. The FECA does not permit a political committee to circumvent its contribution limits merely by announcing to solicitees its plans to make contributions to certain candidates and its intention to split contributions received from solicitees among candidates according to a pre-arranged ratio. If such a practice were permissible, all PACs could avoid their contribution limits by engaging in such a charade and the FECA's contribution limits would be meaningless, as would its regulation of bundling.

29. Accordingly, the NRSC program does not qualify under the joint fundraising regulation, 11 C.F.R. § 102.17 (which is a creation of the FEC, not the statute). The joint fundraising regulation covers specific events, such as dinners, receptions or picnics, on which several candidates collaborate. The joint fundraising exception was never meant to allow months-long direct-mail fundraising campaigns over the course of an entire election season. At the time the FEC adopted 11 C.F.R. § 102.17, the vast majority of advisory opinion requests concerning joint fundraising were in the context of specific fundraising events. See, e.g., AO 1979-12; AO 1979-6; AO 1977-14; AO 1977-8. The FEC never had (and never has) approved an advisory opinion request in the context of an on-going direct-mail campaign orchestrated and controlled by a national party committee such as the NRSC. The FEC's explanation and justification for the regulation contemplated "fundraising activity" leading up to a specific "fundraiser" that was an "event". See 48 Fed. Reg. 26,298-99 (June 7, 1983).^{13/}

30. The FEC should not interpret the joint fundraising regulation to apply to the NRSC's solicitation and disbursement program, because the regulation if so applied would be inconsistent with the FECA. Congress carefully limited the amounts national party committees could contribute to Senate campaigns. 2 U.S.C. §§ 441a(d), (h). In passing 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(8), Congress intended to prohibit a national party committee such as the NRSC from evading its contribution limits through earmarking schemes. The FEC recognized Congress' clear intent when, shortly after the passage of the FECA, it adopted 11 C.F.R. § 110.6. Nothing in the FECA even contemplates joint fundraising; much less does it allow a committee to evade the contribution limits and prohibition against earmarking through labelling a solicitation as a joint fundraising effort. In any event, the NRSC could not rely on the joint fundraising regulation because, after the decision in Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990), it was clear that the regulation could not justify a program that was a mirror image of the scheme that the District Court held unlawful. Thus, the NRSC has committed a knowing and willful violation of the FECA.

31. The Court in Common Cause v. FEC held that the FECA prohibited the NRSC from implementing a bundling scheme indistinguishable in effect from the scheme at issue here. The statute cannot reasonably be interpreted to allow the same scheme under the guise of joint fundraising.^{14/}

14. To the extent that the FEC treats the Republican Inner Circle 1990 and Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 as

C. Responsibility of Senator Nickles

32. Senator Nickles, because of his control over the NRSC and its activities, and because of his prior knowledge and approval of the scheme described above, is individually responsible for the violations committed by the NRSC.

D. Knowing and Willful Nature of the Violations

33. Because the violations described above are part of a pattern or practice of attempts to evade the contribution limits and reporting requirements imposed by the FECA, because the violations occurred after the NRSC and Senator Nickles were on notice of the illegal character of the NRSC's actions as a result of the decision in Common Cause v. FEC, and because the NRSC and Senator Nickles chose to commit those violations without seeking an advisory opinion concerning the legality of its actions, the violations were knowing and willful within the meaning of 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(6)(C).

^{14/}(...continued)

having an existence apart from the NRSC -- which the FEC should not do, for the reasons set forth in paragraph 15 above -- those two entities have violated the FECA, because they may not properly be characterized as engaging in joint fundraising for the reasons discussed above. Indeed, because these entities have smaller contribution and expenditure limits than the NRSC, their violations of the FECA are even larger than the NRSC's.

RELIEF

34. Common Cause respectfully urges the FEC to conduct a prompt and thorough investigation into the allegations in this Complaint, declare that the NRSC and Senator Nickles have knowingly and willfully violated the FECA and FEC regulations, and impose penalties equal to the greater of $10,000 per violation or 200 percent of the amount of the violations.

PURPOSE

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is dedicated to advancing America's heritage of freedom and prosperity by recapturing a Republican Majority in the United States Senate. Founded in 1979, the Inner Circle was instrumental in electing a Republican Senate Majority in 1980, and in preserving that majority in 1982 and 1984.

Members are nominated by a U.S. Senator and represent an impressive cross-section of American society—community leaders, business executives, entrepreneurs, retirees, sports and entertainment celebrities—with a deep interest in our nation's prosperity and security.

As a member of the Inner Circle, you will be encouraged to forge personal contacts with Republican Senators, senior White House officials, Cabinet secretaries and Party leaders. Toward that end, you will be invited to Inner Circle members-only gatherings in Washington, D.C. and around the country. These meetings provide direct, straightforward briefings on world and national events with key decision-makers at the highest levels of our government.

MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Inner Circle membership entails an annual commitment of $1,000 per person ($2,000 per couple). Since 100% of the membership dues is used solely for direct contributions and campaign assistance to Republican Senate candidates, a conference fee to cover meeting costs is assessed to members attending our events. Conference fees average $250-$300 per person for all events at a meeting.

Dear Mr. Giordano:

On behalf of my colleagues in the United States Senate, it is my privilege to invite you to accept membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join President and Mrs. Bush for a special dinner on May 3rd.

Senator Phil Gramm placed your name in nomination because he believes your accomplishments and commitment to our nation prove you worthy of membership in this prestigious organization.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of individuals who get together on a regular basis to discuss national and regional topics in a comfortable mix of business and social gatherings.

Our next Inner Circle Briefing will be held in Washington, D.C., on May 2nd and 3rd. The schedule for this event includes a welcome reception, a full day of closed-door briefings by key Washington officials, and members-only luncheons featuring one of the Republican Party's most noteworthy leaders, our keynote speaker, William Bennett, Director, Office of National Control Policy.

These activities will be topped off by an elegant dinner with President and Mrs. Bush, followed by a special night of entertainment and dancing.

Also joining us for the evening's festivities will be my Republican colleagues in the United States Senate, Cabinet officers, Senior White House aides and an assortment of noted celebrities from Hollywood and the world of sports.

Since reservations to this event are limited, I hope you will return your Nomination Acceptance today to reserve your place at our Spring Briefing.

As the enclosed agenda for our May meeting notes, Inner Circle members have an opportunity to meet with many of the key officials in government. Through panel discussions and question-and-answer sessions, Inner Circle members may discuss trade and monetary policy, crime and drugs, education, the environment and a host of other important issues with top elected and appointed Republican leaders and national newsmakers.

Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Jack Kemp, White House Chief of Staff John Sununu, Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, and Republican Party Chairman Lee Atwater are among the many well-known officials who have in the past taken an active role in personally briefing Inner Circle members.

In addition to the Spring Briefing, Inner Circle nominees who join at this time will be able to participate in an event unique to the Inner Circle.

Come this fall, you'll be invited back to Washington to join a Republican Senator, Cabinet officer or Administration official at one of several special VIP dinners. These dinners, limited to Inner Circle members only, are held in private homes, elegant restaurants or at beautiful historical sites in the nation's capital.

Also in the fall, you'll be able to join Vice President and Mrs. Quayle for a special Inner Circle reception which is traditionally held at the Vice President's residence.

Finally, in an effort to permit all Inner Circle members the opportunity to interact with one another on a personal and business level, a series of regional events will be held in major cities throughout the nation.

Many other benefits are made available to all Inner Circle members. These are explained more fully in the enclosed Inner Circle Membership Prospectus. The financial details of Inner Circle membership are also covered in the accompanying Membership Prospectus.

After reviewing the agenda for our Spring Briefing and the Membership Prospectus, I hope that you will agree with me that Inner Circle membership is a worthwhile investment of your time and commitment.

Since plans for our Spring Briefing -- especially the dinner with President and Mrs. Bush -- must be made many weeks ahead of time, it is imperative that I hear from you soon as to whether or not you will accept this nomination to join the Inner Circle. Please fill out the enclosed Inner Circle Nomination Acceptance and return it as soon as possible.

I look forward to welcoming you to Washington on May 2nd.

Sincerely,

Senator Bob Dole
Senate Republican Leader

P.S. It is important that you fill out all information regarding your date of birth and Social Security number when accepting your Inner Circle nomination, as this information is required by the Secret Service for clearance to all events with President Bush and Vice President Quayle.

If you have any questions concerning Inner Circle membership, please feel free to call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106.

BOB DOLE

Dear Mr.

On behalf of my colleagues in the United States Senate, it is my privilege to invite you to accept membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle for a private reception on the grounds of the Vice President's residence.

Senator John Warner placed your name in nomination because he believes your accomplishments and commitment to our nation prove you worthy of membership in this prestigious organization.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of individuals who gather together on a regular basis to discuss national and regional topics in a comfortable mix of business and social gatherings.

Our next Inner Circle Briefing will be held in Washington, D.C., on September 23rd and 24th. The schedule for this event includes the private reception at the Vice President's residence, a full day of closed-door briefings by key Washington officials, and a members-only luncheon featuring one of the Republican Party's most noteworthy leaders.

You are also invited to participate in something truly unique to the Inner Circle.

On Monday evening, September 24th, you'll be joining a Republican Senator, Cabinet member or high-ranking Bush Administration official at one of our special VIP dinners. These private dinners, limited to Inner Circle members only, are held in private homes, elegant restaurants and hotels, and at beautiful historical sites.

Hosts of past Inner Circle VIP dinners have included Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Jack Kemp, and Senators Phil Gramm, Nancy Kassebaum, Connie Mack and Pete Wilson, among others.

It will also be my privilege to host one of these dinners personally.

Since reservations to this event are limited, I hope you will return your Nomination Acceptance today to reserve your place at the Fall Briefing.

As the enclosed agenda for the September meeting notes, Inner Circle members will have an opportunity to meet with many key government officials. Through panel discussions and question-and-answer sessions, Inner Circle members will attend a series of briefings on the political and economic upheavals sweeping across Eastern Europe, trade and monetary policy and the 1990 elections with national and international leaders.

Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, former Secretary of State George Shultz, White House Chief of Staff John Sununu and former Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick are among the many well-known officials who have in the past taken an active role in personally briefing Inner Circle members.

But of course the Inner Circle's schedule of events won't be over this fall. Nominees who join at this time will also be eligible for a full twelve months of Inner Circle activities both here in Washington and around the country. You'll be kept abreast of upcoming events on a regular basis, including the 1991 Inner Circle Spring Briefing, which traditionally features a dinner hosted by the President.

Many other benefits are made available to Inner Circle members. These are explained more fully in the enclosed Inner Circle Membership Prospectus. The financial details of Inner Circle membership are also covered in the accompanying Membership Prospectus.

After reviewing the agenda for our Spring Briefing and the Membership Prospectus, I hope that you will agree with me that Inner Circle membership is a worthwhile investment of your time and commitment.

Since plans for our Fall Briefing -- especially the private reception with Vice President Quayle -- must be made many weeks ahead of time, it is imperative that I hear from you soon as to whether or not you will accept this nomination to join the Inner Circle. So please fill out the enclosed Inner Circle Nomination Acceptance and return it as soon as possible.

I look forward to welcoming you to Washington on September 23rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Bob Dole

v. Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91

Dear Mr. Noble:

This office represents the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and James L. Hagen as Treasurer, and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 and James L. Hagen as Treasurer, in Matter Under Review ("MUR") 3131. Executed Statements of Designation of Counsel are attached hereto.

This complaint was received by Respondents on October 9, 1990, and a Response would therefore be due on October 24, 1990. In order to fully confer with our clients, who are currently in the midst of the concluding days of the 1990 election cycle, and to obtain whatever information and documentation may prove necessary with respect to this Matter, I respectfully request a sixty-day extension to and including December 19, 1990, within which to respond. This request should not prejudice the Commission's consideration of the Matter. The joint fundraising solicitations which are, unjustifiably, the subject of the Complaint in this Matter are completed for purposes of the 1990 elections. These two Committees, acting in full compliance with the Commission's joint fundraising regulations, will conduct no activity beyond the current election cycle.

MEMORANDUM

TO: The Commission

FROM: Lawrence M. Noble
General Counsel

BY: Lois G. Lerner [Signature]
Associate General Counsel

SUBJECT: MUR 3131 and MUR 3135
Requests for Extensions of Time

By letters dated October 19 and October 22, 1990, counsel for the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 has requested extensions of time to and including December 19 and December 21, 1990, in which to respond to the complaints filed by the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee and Common Cause in the above-cited matters. (Attachments 1 and 2). The letters explain that such extensions are necessary because of the committees' involvement in the present election cycle and because of the necessity of gathering information and documentation.

Prior to, and since, the receipts of these requests, this Office has received a series of letters from candidate committees¹ also involved in this matter which state their understanding that the Inner Circle is retaining counsel to respond to the complaints and their expectations of concurring in such responses. (See Attachment 2 for example.) In light of the facts that the Inner Circle response will, it appears, address the concerns of numerous respondents, that the general elections in the states involved will be held on November 6, and that the issues to be addressed in this matter are complex, this Office recommends that the Commission approve the requested extensions of time to and including December 19, 1990, in MUR 3131, and to and including December 21, 1990, in MUR 3135, making the Inner Circle responses due by close of business on those dates.

1. There are 48 altogether.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Grant an extension of time to and including December 19, 1990, to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 in MUR 3131.
2. Grant an extension of time to and including December 21, 1990, to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 in MUR 3135.
3. Approve the appropriate letter.

I, Marjorie W. Emmons, Secretary of the Federal Election Commission, do hereby certify that on October 30, 1990, the Commission decided by a vote of 6-0 to take the following actions in MUR 3131 and MUR 3135:

1. Grant an extension of time to and including December 19, 1990, to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 in MUR 3131.
2. Grant an extension of time to and including December 21, 1990, to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 in MUR 3135.
3. Approve the appropriate letter, as recommended in the General Counsel's Memorandum dated October 25, 1990.

Dear Mr. Noble:

I am in receipt of your letter of October 10, 1990, enclosing a complaint filed by Common Cause against the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 ("Inner Circle 1990") and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 ("Inner Circle 1990-91").

The Inner Circle 1990 and the Inner Circle 1990-91 are distinct joint fundraising committees. Each committee was identified as such on amended statements of organization filed by Iowans for Tauke and authorized by Tom Tauke.

It is my understanding that the Inner Circle 1990 and the Inner Circle 1990-91 have retained Jan Witold Baran as counsel to respond to this complaint. This Committee expects to concur with the responses filed by the two joint fundraising committees.

I have completed and enclose the Statement of Designation of Counsel in order that our campaign's counsel may review copies of all proceedings, although Mr. Baran will be filing the response.

Should there be any additional issues which we would like to address independently, we respectfully request the opportunity to do so.

Sincerely,

Sharon R. Winner

Re: MUR 3135

Dear Ms. Weissenborn:

As you will see from the enclosed Statements of Designation of Counsel, I represent People for John Heinz Committee ("PJH") and Abe H. Frumkin, respondents in the above-cited MUR.

I would very much appreciate the courtesy of a two-week extension to respond to the lengthy complaint attached to the letter received from Ms. Lerner. Since PJH and Mr. Frumkin received your materials on October 11, this two-week extension would make their response due on or before November 9.

Needless to say, if our responses are completed before November 9, we will send it to you as soon as it is completed. Thank you in advance for this courtesy, and for reflecting my representation of these two respondents.

Very truly yours,

Stewart Dalzell

RE: MUR 3135

This letter is a follow-up to our brief telephone conversation on Friday afternoon, October 12, 1990. My call was regarding your correspondence and my being included in the FEC investigation. As your document discusses, the charges have to do with receiving monies from the Inner Circle, which is part of the National Republican Senatorial Committee.

On September 18, 1990, we lost the Republican primary in Massachusetts and, as a result, were not qualified to receive those funds. The only funds we received were from members of the Senatorial Trust. These funds came from specific individuals and were reported by us on our FEC reports as money received not from the Committee, but from specific individuals. These monies were posted to the appropriate individuals in our records and were all within Federal fund-raising limitations. They were separate contributions by individuals and had nothing whatsoever to do with the Inner Circle.

As a result, I would ask that our campaign be removed from this investigation because:

1. we received no funds from the organization; and,
2. we are not able to receive funds from the organization, having lost the primary.

My concern is the orderly payment to various suppliers, and any costs involved from a time or legal standpoint defending myself on these charges is unjustified and totally inappropriate. At your convenience, I would ask that some form of release be forwarded to me. Please feel free to contact me directly at 617-262-2800, or our campaign Treasurer, Martha Hawn, at the same number.

Sincerely,

Daniel W. Daly

Dear Mr. Noble:

I am in receipt of your letter of October 10, 1990 enclosing a complaint filed by Common Cause against the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91. These two committees were identified as distinct joint fundraising committees on amended statements of organization filed by Bruce Vorhauer for U.S. Senate Committee and authorized by Bruce Vorhauer, the candidate.

It should be stated, however, that the committee for candidate Vorhauer processed the above amended statements at the request of, and under the legal advise of, the National Republican Senatorial Committee. It should be further stated that the Vorhauer committee never sought nor received any money, in-kind-services or material assistance from either of the above mentioned fundraising committees.

It is my understanding that the Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91 have retain counsel to respond to this complaint.

Our committee does not at this time wish to make any further statements or responses to MUR 3135 and is awaiting the responses to be filed by the two fundraising committees by their counsel.

Should there be additional issues which we would like to address independently, we respectfully request the opportunity to do so.

Dear Mr. Noble:

Eugene D. Fredericksen, Treasurer of the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee, and the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee, have appointed me as counsel to represent them with respect to the above-noted matter.

It should be recognized that the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee was never a party to the agreement that is the subject of this proceeding. If it is assumed that the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee was a proper signatory of the Joint Fundraising Agreement, it is clear that the committee's party status was contingent upon winning the Idaho Republican Primary for U.S. Senate on May 22. Paragraph E of the agreement, dealing with Contested Primary Candidates, states, in part with respect to committees involved in contested primaries, as follows:

(Such) committees agree that they will participate in the allocation of proceeds and expenses pursuant to this Agreement only if their authorized candidate is the nominee of the Republican Party in the 1990 general election.

Larry Craig won the primary election contest on May 22 and, therefore, the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee did not meet the contingency in order to become a party to the agreement. Neither the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee nor Eugene D. Fredericksen received any funds pursuant to the agreement nor participated in any way in or under the agreement.

Having had no involvement in the operation of the Joint Fundraising Agreement, the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee and Eugene D. Frederickson are not in a position to speculate as to how the agreement has actually been carried out. Their contingent participation was based on representations that the agreement was and would be conducted fully in accordance with FEC regulations.

I respectfully request that the Jim Jones for Idaho Committee and Eugene D. Frederickson, its treasurer, be dismissed from this proceeding.

Dear Mr. Noble:

This response is submitted on behalf of the National Republican Senatorial Committee ("NRSC") and James L. Hagen, as Treasurer, in addition to Senator Don Nickles, who was served in his capacity as Chairman of the NRSC ("Respondents"), in reply to a complaint filed by Common Cause, and designated Matter Under Review ("MUR") 3135. An executed Statement of Designation of Counsel is enclosed. This Response will be in two parts, part I on behalf of the NRSC and James L. Hagen, as Treasurer, and part II on behalf of Senator Nickles, Chairman of the NRSC.

I. The NRSC

The NRSC is in receipt of your letter of October 10, 1990 enclosing a complaint filed by Common Cause against the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 ("Inner Circle 1990") and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-1991 ("Inner Circle 1990-1991"). The Inner Circle 1990 and the Inner Circle 1990-1991 are distinct joint fundraising committees. Each committee was identified as such on amended statements of organization filed by the NRSC.

It is my understanding that the Inner Circle 1990 and the Inner Circle 1990-1991 have retained counsel to respond to this complaint, and have requested an extension of time in which to respond. The NRSC, as a participant in the joint fundraising committees, expects to concur with the responses filed by the two Inner Circle Committees.

II. Senator Nickles

In addition, we note that Senator Nickles was served with a copy of the Common Cause complaint, apparently because he is identified as Chairman of the NRSC in the Complaint. We believe that this notification was improper and contrary to long established precedent with regard to the treatment of officials of political committees. As the Commission is well aware, its practice is to consider the committee and its treasurer to be Respondents. The Treasurer is named solely by virtue of his office, not in his individual capacity.¹ Therefore, it would be in error for the Federal Election Commission to make Senator Nickles a Respondent solely by virtue of the fact that he was named in the complaint as Chairman of the NRSC.

Accordingly, we respectfully request that Senator Nickles not be treated individually and personally as a Respondent in this matter and, instead, that the FEC follow its established practice of naming only the Committee and its Treasurer as Respondents.

III. Reservation of Ability to Further Respond

Should there be any additional issues which Respondents would like to address independently of the Responses by the Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-1991, we request respectfully the opportunity to do so.

Sincerely,

William B. Canfield III
Counsel to the National Republican Senatorial Committee

enclosure

¹ As a result, often times the treasurer named in a matter is not the individual who was treasurer at the time of the activity which is the subject of the matter. This is because the individual is not the subject of the matter, but rather the treasurer, in his or her capacity as treasurer, is the subject of the matter. Indeed, it is the Commission's practice to formally change the name of the individual who is a party by virtue of serving as treasurer in the midst of the administrative process in those matters where a new treasurer is reported to the Commission.

Dear Ms. Banse:

The Federal Election Commission has received two complaints which allege that the Jeffords for Vermont Committee ("the Committee") and you, as treasurer, may have violated the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended ("the Act"). Copies of these complaints were forwarded to you on October 3 and October 10, 1990; however, we understand that they have not been received. Enclosed are replacement copies. We have numbered these matters MUR 3131 (Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee complaint) and MUR 3135 (Common Cause complaint). Please refer to these numbers in all future correspondence.

Under the Act, you have the opportunity to demonstrate in writing that no action should be taken against you in these matters. Please submit any factual or legal materials which you believe are relevant to the Commission's analysis of these matters. Where appropriate, statements should be submitted under oath. Your responses, which should be addressed to the General Counsel's Office, must be submitted within 15 days of receipt of this letter. If no responses are received within 15 days, the Commission may take further action based on the available information.

These matters will remain confidential in accordance with 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(4)(B) and § 437g(a)(12)(A) unless you notify the Commission in writing that you wish the matters to be made public. If you intend to be represented by counsel in these matters, please advise the Commission by completing the enclosed forms stating the name, address and telephone number of such counsel, and authorizing such counsel to receive any notifications and other communications from the Commission.

MUR 3135

RESPONSE OF PEOPLE FOR JOHN HEINZ COMMITTEE AND ABE H. FRUMKIN, ITS TREASURER

Procedural Introduction

People for John Heinz Committee (hereinafter referred to as "PJH") and Abe H. Frumkin, its Treasurer, hereby respond, by their counsel, to the Complaint of Common Cause that the Commission has indexed at the above Matter Under Review number.

PJH received the General Counsel's transmittal letter of October 10 on the next day. Enclosed with the October 10 letter was a photocopy, with exhibits, of a Complaint styled Common Cause v. National Republican Senatorial Committee,

Senator Don Nickles (hereinafter referred to as the "Common Cause Complaint"). Neither PJH nor Mr. Frumkin is identified as a respondent in the Common Cause Complaint against the National Republican Senatorial Committee and Senator Nickles (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "NRSC"). Notwithstanding this fact, the General Counsel's October 10 letter transmitting the Common Cause Complaint averred that PJH and Mr. Frumkin "may have violated the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended". By letter dated October 19, 1990, PJH and Mr. Frumkin requested an extension of two weeks, until November 9, to respond to the Common Cause claims. By letter from the General Counsel's office dated October 26, this request was granted.

Since the Common Cause Complaint is directed to respondents other than PJH and Mr. Frumkin, and involves many allegations as to which neither PJH nor Mr. Frumkin have any knowledge or participation, it seems unnecessary for them to respond to the numbered paragraphs of the Complaint. PJH and Mr. Frumkin understand the General Counsel's October 10 letter to be a suggestion of possible vicarious or "aider and abetter" liability. The apparent basis for this suggestion is the participation of PJH as a signatory to a March 1, 1990 Joint Fundraising Agreement with Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 (hereinafter referred to as "RSIC 1990") and, later, an August 14, 1990 Joint Fundraising Agreement with Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-'91 (hereinafter referred to as "RSIC 1990-'91").

Since PJH's and Mr. Frumkin's counsel has been advised by counsel for the NRSC that the NRSC will be filing a plenary, comprehensive response to the Common Cause Complaint, PJH and Mr. Frumkin will limit their response solely to their contention that PJH's participation in RSIC 1990 and RSIC 1990-'91 in no way violated the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (hereinafter referred to as "the Campaign Act"). In support of this contention, PJH and Mr. Frumkin submit with this Response the Affidavits of Clifton W. Shannon (hereinafter referred to as "the Shannon Affidavit") and Nadine B. Maenza (hereinafter referred to as "the Maenza Affidavit").

Relevant Factual Background

PJH is a Pennsylvania non-profit corporation that is the duly authorized campaign committee of the Honorable H. John Heinz, III, Senior United States Senator from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (Shannon Affidavit at ¶ 2). Mr. Clifton W. Shannon is the President of PJH, and in that capacity signed, on or about March 1, 1990, the RSIC 1990 Joint Fundraising Agreement (Shannon Affidavit at ¶ 3). That month, PJH duly amended its Statement of Organization to reflect the designation of RSIC as "fundraising representative" within the meaning of FEC Reg. § 102.17(b), and Senator Heinz amended his Statement of Candidacy to designate RSIC 1990 as an authorized joint fundraising committee (id.). Mr. Shannon, on or about August 14 of this year, as President of PJH signed the RSIC 1990-'91 Joint Fundraising Agreement (Shannon Affidavit ¶ 4).

Attached as Exhibit "A" to the Shannon Affidavit is what PJH believes to be the disclaimer that the two RSIC committees have used with each and every solicitation. Among other things, this disclaimer states that Donations [to RSIC] ... may be designated by the contributor to any particular participant(s).

As stated in ¶ 5 of the Shannon Affidavit, PJH has no reason to believe that there has been any deviation from the terms of the two Agreements and the disclaimer cited above and attached as Exhibit A to the Shannon Affidavit.

As noted in ¶ 6 of the Shannon Affidavit, "PJH relies exclusively on RSIC for information pertaining to net fundraising proceeds and the identity of contributors and the amounts they give that are lawfully earmarked for PJH in accordance with" the just-cited disclaimer.

Since he first ran for the United States Senate in 1976, Senator Heinz has made it an invariable practice to disclose the identity of every contributor to his campaigns, no matter how small those contributions may be (Shannon Affidavit ¶ 7). In the case of anonymous contributions, they have been identified as such, and such gifts have always been transmitted in full to the League of Women Voters (id.). As detailed at length in the Maenza Affidavit, PJH has applied this fourteen-year practice to earmarked contributions through RSIC.

The first Report of Receipts and Disbursements that reflects PJH's receipt of RSIC money was its July 31, 1990 Mid-Year Report, and this report is hereinafter referred to as the "July 31, 1990 Report." In accordance with FEC Reg. § 102.17, PJH's Schedule A, line number 12, for June 22, 1990, shows a memorandum entry of $7,200, described as "[t]ransfer from joint fundraising representative", i.e., the RSIC (Maenza Affidavit at ¶ 4; July 31, 1990 Report). The July 31, 1990 Report appends to the memorandum entry no less than eighty-four pages of unitemized contributions, totalling $13,658.41, "which represented the gross unitemized receipts received from RSIC 1990" (Maenza Affidavit ¶ 5). This disclosure was made in accordance with the fourteen-year practice previously described (Maenza Affidavit at ¶¶ 4-5).

¶¶ 6 and 7 of the Maenza Affidavit demonstrate beyond any doubt that PJH treated RSIC 1990 contributions "exactly as they would have been had they been given directly to PJH or as "earmarked" contributions" in accordance with FEC Reg. §110.6.

Notwithstanding the laboriousness of the task, Mrs. Maenza took the 4,153 contributions received from RSIC 1990 and "matched them against our 1994 Primary Election Account contributors to be certain that no one's pro rata contribution through RSIC 1990 caused an excessive contribution under the limits imposed by the Campaign Act" (Maenza Affidavit ¶ 6).

The factual record therefore confirms PJH's punctilious compliance with the Campaign Act, as well as shows disclosure far in excess of the Campaign Act's requirements. This record also leaves no question about PJH's good faith reliance on the lawfulness of the joint fundraising representative's actions in implementing the two Joint Fundraising Agreements and in carrying out the disclaimers related thereto.

PJH's Actions Demonstrate the Lawfulness of the RSIC Program

Although, as noted, PJH and Mr. Frumkin are confident that counsel for the respondents will exhaustively canvass the legal issues raised in the Common Cause Complaint, PJH and Mr. Frumkin have compared the RSIC program with that described by Judge Gesell in Common Cause v. Federal Election Commission, cited in ¶ 1 of the Common Cause Complaint. PJH notes that Judge Gesell's opinion cannot be regarded as authoritative at this time, given the pendency of an appeal in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit (at No. 90-5317). Nonetheless, assuming Judge Gesell's January 24, 1990 opinion were to be affirmed in toto, PJH believes that the RSIC 1990 and RSIC 1990-'91 programs are manifestly distinguishable and lawful under the Campaign Act.

In his sixth Conclusion of Law, 729 F. Supp. at 152, Judge Gesell held that the NRSC ran afoul of the Commission's "direction or control" rules because, inter alia:

The NRSC was not clearly obliged by law to pass on all those contributions to the candidates in the states mentioned in the mailings pursuant to the formula indicated in the letter. The candidates who ultimately received these contributions were not "clearly identified" in the mailings

The record evidence also suggests that individual donors intended to give to the NRSC for use in its discretion.

Whatever the merits of Judge Gesell's sixth Conclusion of Law against the record adduced before him in Common Cause v. FEC, the record here is unarguably distinguishable from that which Judge Gesell described. On its face, the NRSC has clearly obliged itself by law "to comply FEC Reg. § 102.17(b)(1)." See Article 2 of both Agreements. In actual operation, PJH received exacting disclosures of no less than 4,153 contributions in the June 1990 receipt, and there is not a scintilla of information to PJH's knowledge that the NRSC in any way varied from the disclaimer appended to all of the solicitation materials. Most notably, besides giving painstaking disclosure of the allocation of contributions, prospective donors were specifically told in the disclaimer that their gifts "may be designated ... to any specific participant(s)." Given the detail of the disclaimer, it is hard to see how the candidates who ultimately receive these contributions could have been more "'clearly identified' in the mailings", in further distinction to Judge Gesell's holding in Common Cause v. FEC.

There is also not a scintilla of evidence to PJH's knowledge that would in any way suggest that "individual donors intended to give to NRSC for use in its discretion" all funds raised in the RSIC program. To the contrary, the NRSC had no discretion whatever to do anything other than make the allocations set forth in the disclaimer or as "designated by the contributor to any particular participant(s)."

Thus, on the face of the Agreements and the disclaimers, the RSIC program is lawful even under Judge Gesell's stringent construction of § 315(a)(8) of the Campaign Act, 2 U.S.C. § 441a(8), and the Commission's Regulations thereunder. As implemented, there is nothing of which PJH is aware that would have led either PJH or its Treasurer to conclude that there had been anything but strict compliance with the Agreements, the disclaimer, and FEC Reg. § 102.17(b).

Proof of this reliance will be found in PJH's painstaking treatment of the thousands of contributions received in the June 1990 wave, which confirms beyond doubt PJH's handling of these gifts as routine, earmarked contributions within the meaning of FEC Reg. § 110.6.

Conclusion

Far from violating the Campaign Act, the record confirms that PJH has maintained intact its fourteen-year record of scrupulous compliance with the Campaign Act. As it has for this fourteen-year period, PJH has exceeded the Campaign Act's requirements of disclosure, and this practice has been demonstrated most recently with its treatment of the 4,153 RSIC contributions in June of 1990.

PJH and Mr. Frumkin therefore submit that they have in all respects complied in good faith with the Campaign Act, and with the Regulations the Commission promulgated thereunder, in connection with the RSIC program.

Respectfully submitted,

Honorable H. John Heinz, III, Senior United States Senator from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

3. On or about March 1, 1990, on behalf of PJH I signed a Joint Fundraising Agreement with Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 (herinafter referred to as "RSIC 1990"), and on the same day authorized RSIC 1990 to act as "fundraising representative" within the meaning of FEC Reg. §102.17(b). Later that month, PJH amended its Statement of Organization to reflect this designation of RSIC 1990, and Senator Heinz amended his Statement of Candidacy to designate RSIC 1990 as an authorized joint fundraising committee.

4. On or about August 14, 1990, on behalf of PJH I signed a Joint Fundraising Agreement with Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-'91 (herinafter referred to as "RSIC 1990-'91").

5. Since I believe the two Agreements referenced in ¶¶ 3 and 4 are already in the Commission's record, I do not append them to this Affidavit. It is important to note, however, that, based upon everything of which I am aware, these two Agreements have been implemented in strict compliance with their terms. Thus, for example, all solicitations of RSIC would bear the disclaimer attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

6. In accordance with the Commission's Regulations, PJH relies exclusively on RSIC for information pertaining to net fundraising proceeds and the identity of contributors and the amounts they give that are lawfully earmarked for PJH in accordance with Exhibit A's disclosure or with contributors' amended designations.

7. In accordance with the practice begun when Senator Heinz first ran for the United States Senate in 1976, PJH has always disclosed the identity of every contributor to Senator Heinz's campaigns, no matter how small such contributions have been, with the exception of anonymous contributions, which have always been trasmitted in full to the League of Women Voters.

contributions to PJH and assuring compliance with the Federal and the Regulations the Federal Election promulgates thereunder.

These duties also include the collation and production (in

3. In the capacity described in ¶2, I physically prepared the July 31, 1990 Mid-Year Report of Receipts and Disbursements filed on July 31, 1990. This report is hereinafter referred to as the "July 31, 1990 Report."

4. In accordance with the practice that I have been advised has existed for at least 14 years, I identified all "unitemized contributions" in the July 31, 1990 Report, as well as made the summary disclosure in accordance with applicable regulations. We also listed, as a memorandum entry, the "net proceeds" of $7,200 from Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 ("RSIC 1990") at Schedule A, line number 12, in the July 31, 1990 Report.

5. In accordance with our practice, I appended to the foregoing memorandum Schedule A entry 84 pages of names of unitemized contributions, totaling $13,658.41, which represented the gross unitemized receipts received from RSIC 1990.

6. When I received the disclosure of the identity of the RSIC 1990 contributors, I matched them against our 1994 Primary Election Account contributors to assure that no one's pro rata contribution through RSIC 1990 caused an excessive contribution under the limits imposed by the Campaign Act.

7. Thus, the 4,153 contributions received from RSIC 1990 were treated exactly as they would have been had they been given directly to PJH or as "earmarked" contributions through, for example, a PAC. In short, we have treated RSIC contributions precisely as we would direct or earmarked gifts through conduits, and disclosed the names of all such contributors exactly as we do with all other contributors to PJH.

Dear Lois Lerner:

This letter is in response (in part) to your letter of October 29, 1990, and in particular concerns my request of an additional 30 days in which to respond to the complaints filed against myself and the campaign of which I was Treasurer. Thank you for the additional time.

I will not, at the present time, appoint counsel. I certainly reserve the right to do so in the future.

Because of personal financial reasons I have resigned my position as Treasurer with the Senator Ben Bagert Committee to Put Louisiana First. It is my understanding that Senator Bagert will, or has, named a new Treasurer and the appropriate FEC Form 1, Statement of Organization, has been, or shortly will be, filed.

Please notify me directly, in the future, of all matters which concern me personally or which concern my activities as the former treasurer of this campaign.

At this time I offer the following comments for the Commissions consideration:

1. I did not sign either Inner Circle agreement.
2. I have never discussed the wording of either contract with the Inner Circle management or with any of the other named committees.
3. The attorneys hired by the Inner Circle management do not represent my interest. You have declined to inform me of their position and they have not contacted me. Therefore I do not know if I agree with them.

4. I have received no funds from the Inner Circle 1990-1991 and, therefore, I cannot understand how I could possibly have violated contribution limits or other campaign laws concerning this organization.

BY: Lois G. Lerner LL

SUBJECT: MUR 3131 and MUR 3135
Requests for Further Extensions of Time

On October 30, 1990, the Commission approved extensions of time until December 19 and December 21, 1990, for the submissions of responses by the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 to the complaints in MUR 3131 and MUR 3135. This Office has now received from counsel requests for additional extensions in these matters to and including January 14, 1991. (Attachment 1). Counsel offers as the reason for his requests the inability to obtain all materials needed for complete responses, including certain affidavits, because of the unavailability of certain officials.

Given the complexities of these matters and the numbers of other respondents which are relying upon the responses to be submitted by the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91, this Office recommends that the Commission approve the requested additional extensions of time with the proviso that no additional extensions will be granted.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Grant a further extension of time to and including January 14, 1991, to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 in MUR 3131.
2. Grant a further extension of time to and including January 14, 1991, to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 in MUR 3135.
3. Approve the appropriate letter to include a statement that no additional extensions will be granted.

Re: MUR 3131 (Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91)

Dear Mr. Noble:

This Response, including the attached Affidavits and Exhibits, is submitted on behalf of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 (the "Inner Circle joint fundraising committees") and their treasurer, James L. Hagen, in reply to a Complaint filed by the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee (DSCC) and designated Matter Under Review ("MUR") 3131. The Complaint alleges that the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees and their participant committees violated the contribution limits and reporting requirements of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the "Act"). For the reasons set forth herein, the Federal Election Commission

21040870468

("FEC" or "Commission") should find no reason to believe that either the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees or any participating committees in the joint fundraisers have violated any provision of the Act.

FACTS

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 ("Inner Circle '90") and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 ("Inner Circle '90-91") are two distinct joint fundraising committees^{1/} registered with the Federal Election Commission

^{1/} Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 are separate and distinct entities. Each committee has registered separately with the Federal Election Commission, each committee accounts for its own receipts and disbursements; and each files separate disclosure reports with the Commission. Inner Circle '90 was created in February 1990 and Inner Circle '90-91 was established in August 1990. Although their compositions overlap to an extent, the Inner Circle committees are composed of different participating committees, with some candidate committees choosing to participate in one but not the other joint fundraiser. See footnote 3, infra. As a result, the allocation formulas for receipts also vary between Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91.

Because of their similarities, the two committees will be discussed concurrently as the "Inner Circle joint fundraising committees." Nevertheless, the two committees cannot be treated as a single legal entity, as the Complaint in this Matter did. For instance, the DSCC alleges that "the percentages assigned to each [participant] are altered periodically . . . to adjust for changing political climates." See Complaint at 11. The allocation formula for pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b)(1). Established and operated entirely within the joint fundraising provisions of the Commission's regulations, found at 11 C.F.R. § 102.17, Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 are composed of the authorized campaign committees of numerous Republican candidates for the United States Senate and the National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC).

A. Inception of Inner Circle

Both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 were created as mechanisms for cooperative fundraising efforts among Republican Senate candidates. The joint fundraising committees promote candidate involvement in the fundraising process. These joint fundraising committees provide candidates with a way to raise funds collectively from potential supporters with a single solicitation and from a single check. Affidavit of Albert E. Mitchler in MUR 3131 (hereinafter "Mitchler Aff.") at ¶¶ 3 and 4, attached hereto

each committee has not changed since it was agreed upon by the participating committees at the time the committee was established. In fact, the "change" in allocations noted in the Complaint is a comparison of the respective allocation formulas of the two committees. The difference in allocation formulas between the two Inner Circle committees was a result of different numbers of participants and different negotiations.

at Tab 1. The contribution is then distributed among each of the candidates, as specified in the allocation formula in the solicitation. The committees provide an efficient way for contributors who would like to see a majority of the U.S. Senate controlled by Republicans to make donations to multiple candidates who share their political views. At the same time, each Inner Circle committee provided assurance to contributors that their donations to these joint fundraising committees would be transferred directly to the specified participants. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 4.

All campaigns of incumbent Republican U.S. Senators and all announced Republican candidates for the 1990 election to the U.S. Senate as of January, 1990 had the opportunity to attend an initial meeting to discuss establishing the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees in February, 1990. Id. at ¶ 5. See also Affidavit of Jo-Anne L. Coe in MUR 3131 (hereinafter "Coe Aff.") at ¶ 2 attached hereto at Tab 3; Affidavit of Niels C. Holch in MUR 3131 (hereinafter "Holch Aff.") at ¶ 1, attached hereto at Tab 4. At that meeting, all aspects of the joint fundraising proposal were reviewed, and the nature of the fundraising activity was debated. Each attending campaign committee took from the meeting a draft version of the Inner Circle materials. Holch Aff. at ¶ 3. Thereafter, several Republican committees declined to participate in the proposed joint fundraising committees,^{2/} and others negotiated over their relative allocation of receipts. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 6; Coe Aff. at ¶¶ 4 and 5; Holch Aff. at ¶¶ 3-5.

B. Allocation Formula

Based on a series of negotiations among representatives from the participating committees, the campaigns that decided to participate eventually arrived at a mutually agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of receipts and the payment of expenses of the committee among the participants. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7; Holch Aff. at ¶ 4. These percentages were the subject of much bargaining among the participants, and the final amounts reflected intensive negotiations and compromise among all participants.^{3/} Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7. The final allocation was the result of such factors as incumbency (with challengers and candidates for open seats seeking and receiving a higher percentage), the presence of a substantive opponent, and whether the participant was involved in a 1990 election. Id.

^{2/} At the time Inner Circle '90 was established, the party nominees in some states had not yet been chosen. Accordingly, all announced candidates were given an opportunity to participate with the understanding that the winner of the primary would receive the allocation of contributions. These contingent participants in Inner Circle '90 were Larry Craig for U.S. Senate and Jim Jones for Idaho Committee; Dan Daly Committee and Rappaport for Senate; John Domenech for U.S. Senate, Montanans for Farrell, Kolstad for U.S. Senate Committee, and Bruce Vorhauer for U.S. Senate Committee; and Durant for Senate and Bill Schuette for U.S. Senate.

Additionally, Jane Brady for U.S. Senate, Saiki in '90 Committee, and Christine Whitman for U.S. Senate participated in Inner Circle '90-91 but not in Inner Circle '90. Finally, the campaigns of the following incumbent Republican Senators chose not to participate in either joint fundraising committee: Senators John Danforth, Robert Dole, Charles Grassley, Orrin Hatch, Nancy Kassebaum, William V. Roth, Jr., and Warren Rudman. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 6.

Based on that compromise, all participants agreed to a joint fundraising agreement which stated the allocation formula. A copy of the Inner Circle '90 Joint Fundraising Agreement is attached hereto at Tab 5; the Inner Circle '90-91 Joint Fundraising Agreement is attached hereto at Tab 6.

^{3/} Evidence of this negotiation process is that an early draft of the fundraising notice presented at the February 1990 informational meeting indicates different participants and allocations than those arrived at in the final agreement. Complainant DSCC apparently had access to this early draft and included it in its Complaint at Tab 6, but that document does not reflect the correct participants or allocation in either Inner Circle '90 or Inner Circle '90-91. Compare with Joint Fundraising Agreements attached hereto at Tabs 3 and 4.

C. Designated Fundraising Representative

With the creation of the Inner Circles, the participants chose to establish separate reporting committees to act as the designated fundraising representative of the joint fundraising committees, pursuant to 11 C.F.R.

§ 102.17(a)(1)(i). Although the FEC regulations permit a participant in the joint fundraiser to serve as the designated agent, separate committees were established to assure that receipts of the joint fundraiser were separately maintained and accounted for. Affidavit of James L. Hagen in MUR 3131 (hereinafter "Hagen Aff.") at ¶ 3, attached hereto at Tab 2. Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 each registered with the Federal Election Commission as joint fundraising committees, listing all their respective participants. Id. at ¶ 4. Copies of the Inner Circle Statements of Organization are attached hereto at Tabs 7 and 8. Each of these committees was responsible for collecting contributions, paying fundraising costs and disbursing net proceeds among the participants pursuant to the procedures set out at 11 C.F.R. § 102.17. Id. at ¶ 3. The committees had their own independent identities, separate from each other and any of their participants. For example, each committee applied for and received a separate employer tax identification number from the Internal Revenue Service. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 5. See Applications for Employer Tax Identification Number, attached hereto at Tabs 9 and 10.

Each participating committee was notified, both orally at an organizational meeting and in writing in a memorandum distributed to all potential participants, of the requirement that participating committees amend their own Statements of Organization to reflect the appropriate Inner Circle entity as an authorized committee and to identify the Inner Circle's bank as a separate depository account of each participant.

Hagen Aff. at ¶ 6. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3).

D. Advances and Allocation of Expenses

All expenses of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were borne by the respective joint fundraising committees and paid out of the gross receipts prior to disbursement of any contributions among the participants. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 13. Each Inner Circle committee obtained a $300,000 bank loan secured by its mailing lists and future receipts. Id. at ¶ 7. Copies of the Loan Agreements are attached hereto at Tabs 10 and 12. The initial direct costs of fundraising (initial production, postage, purchase of mailing lists, etc.) were paid out of these funds. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 7. Once the Inner Circle committees began to receive contributions, their expenses, as well as the repayment of those loans, were paid out of their incoming receipts. The initial loans have been repaid in full. Id.

The administrative costs of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees' activities (salaries, phone, electricity, equipment and supplies, office space, etc.) have also been paid by the Inner Circle committees. The day-to-day operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were executed by personnel of the NRSC at its headquarters, but the Inner Circle committees reimbursed the NRSC for these expenses. Id. at ¶ 8. James L. Hagen, Treasurer of both Inner Circle joint fundraising committees, identified those persons on NRSC payroll who provided administrative assistance to the Inner Circle committees, and with the assistance of Albert E. Mitchler, he determined the percentage of their time spent performing Inner Circle functions, and computed the sum of that portion of their salaries, employer share of taxes, health insurance premiums, fringe benefits, etc. To that figure was added the overhead rate for operation of the NRSC's building (e.g., computer, electricity, phone service, interest on mortgage, etc.) as determined by the external audits of the NRSC for the two previous years. Id. at ¶ 9. This procedure was verified by two outside certified public accountants as a reasonable and appropriate method of computing the allocation of overhead. Id. at ¶ 8. The Inner Circle committees received bills from the NRSC for these expenses once that accounting process was complete, and the Inner Circle committees promptly paid those bills,^{4/} as documented in the Inner Circle committees' FEC disclosure reports. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 10. See also FEC Reports attached hereto at Tabs 13 and 14.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

E. Solicitations and Disclaimers

Each of the solicitation letters for contributions to Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 included a joint fundraising notice that clearly stated: 1) the names of all participating committees; 2) the allocation formula for all funds received; 3) a statement that contributors could designate their contributions to a particular participant or participants; 4) a statement that the allocation would change if a contribution would violate the permissible contributions limits; and 5) a statement that contributions from corporations or labor unions which are prohibited under the Act would be allocated solely to the NRSC. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 9. See sample solicitation letters for Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 attached hereto at Tabs 15 and 16. Lastly, the joint fundraising notices indicated that no contributions from the same state as a participating candidate committee would be allocated to that campaign.^{2/} Those funds would either be reallocated to other committees in the same "tier" or reallocated solely to the NRSC.^{3/} Id.

^{4/} Those administrative costs through October 18, 1990 were paid on October 19, 1990, over two weeks before the general election. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 10. The NRSC's post-general disclosure report indicates that over $1.7 million in cash contributions and coordinated expenditures were released to candidates (many of whom were participants in the joint fundraising committees) between October 19 and November 26, 1990. The advance for indirect expenses of the Inner Circle committees was repaid to the NRSC before that time. Id.

^{2/} As part of the negotiation process for the allocation formula, many participating committees expressed the concern that Inner Circle receipts would make it harder to ensure that contributions did not exceed the permissible limits from their own constituents who would also give directly to their campaigns. As a result, the participants decided jointly to allocate these receipts to reduce their potential of receiving excess contributions. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 10.

^{3/} The solicitation notices for Inner Circle '90 stated that contributions from the same state as a participating committee "would be allocated solely as a contribution to the National Republican Senatorial Committee." See disclaimer notice at Tab 13. However, regulations require that distributions that would violate the

F. Mailing Lists

The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees mailed fundraising letters to potential contributors using mailing lists obtained from a variety of sources. Inner Circle '90 mailed to approximately 400,000 households and Inner Circle '90-91 mailed to approximately 340,000 homes. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 8. The Inner Circle committees compiled the vast majority of names (approximately 80-85 percent) from renting commercial mailing lists from commercial vendors. Id. at ¶ 11.

Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 also rented about 15 percent of the names (approximately 16,000 names) from the NRSC. To ensure that neither the NRSC nor the joint law's contribution limits require reallocation which "shall be based on the remaining participants' proportionate shares under the allocation formula." 11 C.F.R §102.17 (c)(6)(i).

The decision to reallocate "home state" contributions, was a voluntary one of the participants, not one required by law, so it was unclear whether this reallocation formula for impermissible contributions was applicable. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 16. Nevertheless, the computer program created by the joint fundraising committee did reattribute "home state" contributions (as well as PAC money originally allocated to participants who had made campaign promises not to accept these funds) among other candidates in the same "tier," rather than transferring the money to the NRSC. The disclaimer in Inner Circle '90-91 was revised to reflect that state of affairs. Id.

fundraising committees derived excess advantage from this rental, Inner Circle committees paid the NRSC $.15 per name, a rental rate comparable to commercial lists of similar composition and proven donor potential. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 12. Finally, the joint fundraising committees also mailed fundraising letters to approximately 4,500 names and addresses that it received from the participating campaign committees. Id. at ¶ 13.

Following the conclusion of the 1990 elections, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have sold their donor lists to the NRSC. Because the Inner Circles will soon terminate and an ongoing rental arrangement is not practicable, the Treasurer recommended and the List Management Committee determined that the names should be sold instead of rented. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 12. Like the rental price paid by the Inner Circles, the determination of a purchase price for the NRSC was based on the premium rate for comparable lists in the commercial direct-mail market given of the proven donor potential of those names. The Inner Circle committees charged the NRSC $1.50 per name for these lists. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 14.

G. Involvement of Participating Committees

From the very beginning, all participants in the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were involved in the decision making and activities of the joint fundraiser. A representative from the participating committees attended the organizational meeting in February, 1990. See Coe Aff. at ¶ 2; Holch Aff. at ¶ 1. As explained above, the nature of the joint fundraiser was determined by the negotiations and subsequent involvement of all of the participating committees. See also Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 15. Their bargaining determined the allocation formula among all the participating candidates. Holch Aff. at ¶ 4. Participating committees were involved in the "nomination" process for potential contributors from their states (through provision of their own fundraising lists to the joint fundraising committees), and participating committees also worked closely with the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees during the development and approval of the solicitation package. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 15. Finally, each candidate who participated in either Inner Circle committee obligated himself or herself to take part in the conferences held in Washington, D.C. for contributors to the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees. Id. See Coe Aff. at ¶ 5; Holch Aff. at ¶ 3. The details of these seminars are discussed more thoroughly in the solicitation letters attached to the Complaint in this Matter as Exhibit 9. See also Tabs 15 and 16.

H. Allocation and Reallocation of Contributions

As was clearly stated in the joint fundraising agreements and the notices to contributors, the NRSC received one percent of the net proceeds from both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91. In addition to the fixed-percentage allocation of contributions received by the NRSC, the joint fundraising agreement also provided that the NRSC non-federal account would receive any funds from that Inner Circles' nonfederal accounts (composed of contributions from corporations and labor unions). These receipts to the non-federal account have been substantial. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 15.

I. Transfers to Participating Committees

In accordance with the allocation formula established by the joint fundraising agreements, the Inner Circle committees distributed all receipts to the participating committees after the expenses of the Inner Circles, including the computation and payment of overhead to the NRSC, had been paid out of the gross receipts. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 13.

Documentation of these distributions appears in the Inner Circles' FEC reports attached hereto at Tabs 13 and 14.
Slight discrepancies in the amounts that may have occurred among members of the same "tier" of the allocation formula are a result of individual contributions specifically designated for particular participants, contributions from the same state as the participating committee, and marginal rounding by the computer. Id. at ¶ 14.

J. Reporting

Both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 have filed monthly, pre-general, and post-general reports with the Commission since their establishment. These reports detail all contributions, expenditures and transfers of the committees since their inception. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 17.
Copies of the FEC disclosure reports for Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 are attached hereto at Tabs 13 and 14, respectively.

ARGUMENT

Although the DSCC's Complaint makes a host of allegations, the basic claims of the Complaint are three:
first, that the assumed facts and circumstances of the Inner

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.
January 14, 1991

Circle joint fundraising committees are such that they cannot legitimately be considered joint fundraisers; second, that regardless of the facts, the Commission should impose the regulations which govern earmarked contribution programs on these particular joint fundraising committees; and third, that regardless of the law permitting joint fundraising committees as evidently successful as these have been, it will somehow destroy the balance between contribution limits and permissible fundraising by candidates.

The first claim is simply unsupported by the facts. The second and third misapply the Commission's regulations on earmarked contributions and misinterpret the law permitting joint fundraisers. The DSCC completely misinterprets the legislative history, Congressional intent, and FEC policy regarding contribution limits and the role of national parties in fundraising for candidates.

What is especially disturbing about these allegations, and the nature of its Complaint as a whole, is that the DSCC has been involved in numerous joint fundraising committees itself, albeit with less financially successful results. Now they argue that these Republican committees are operating outside the law and are circumventing the purposes of the

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

Act. Such blatantly political allegations by an opposing party engaged in the same activities (though with no public record that those activities were as carefully administered and accounted for to ensure compliance with the Commission's regulations) go beyond expected political opportunism and raise questions about the seriousness with which Complainants take the act of filing a formal Complaint with the Federal Election Commission.

As this Response demonstrates, the Inner Circle committees are bona fide joint fundraising committees following the letter and spirit of the law. Second, the regulations governing earmarked contribution programs have no application here as a matter of law, nor do the facts of this case support the recasting of this program as a earmarked contribution program, which it certainly is not. The balance of policy interests served by joint fundraising committees and achieved by Congress and the Commission would be upset if clearly inappropriate restrictions were applied to such ventures. Finally, the nature of joint fundraising activities works no disservice on the Commission's objectives and the policy interests intended by Congress, and may in fact promote those policies.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

- I. Both Of The Inner Circle Joint Fundraising Committees Are Legitimate And Bona Fide Joint Fundraising Committees Within the Letter and Spirit of the Law.

From the very beginning of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees' existence, these committees have been meticulous in their observance of the regulations governing joint fundraising committees. Their objectives are completely permissible ones: to allow multiple candidates to raise funds collectively from supporters who contribute with a single check, and to assure those contributors that their contributions would be directed completely toward the specified participants in pre-designated percentages. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 4. These committees have followed the prescriptions of the law every step of the way.

- A. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are established and operated according to provisions and requirements of FEC regulations and federal election laws.

The Commission's joint fundraising regulations provide that political committees engaged in joint fundraising "shall either establish a separate committee or select a participating committee, to act as fundraising representative for all participants." 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(1)(i). Once the participants in the Inner Circles decided to form the

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

joint fundraisers, they determined that, to avoid even an appearance of impropriety, a separate designated fundraising representative should be created instead of permitting one of the participating committees to serve in that capacity. The regulations further provide that "[t]his separate committee shall be a reporting political committee," id. at § 102.17(b)(1), and thus, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were created and registered with the FEC. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 1. See also FEC Statements of Organization attached hereto as Tabs 7 and 8. The regulations expressly state that "The participants in joint fundraising activity may include political party committees . . . [and] candidate committees" 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(2).

According to the regulations, the fundraising representative "shall establish a separate depository to be used solely for the receipt and disbursement of the joint fundraising proceeds." Id. at § 102.17(c)(3). Moreover, "[e]ach participant shall amend its Statement of Organization to reflect the account as an additional depository." Id. Accordingly, the Inner Circle committees set up separate bank accounts and notified participants to amend their Statements of Organization. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 6. A separate nonfederal

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

account was established for contributions from corporations or labor unions, with the understanding that these receipts would be distributed only to the nonfederal account of the NRSC, the only participant which could accept non-federal funds. Id. at ¶ 15. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3)(iii).

Next, the participants determined a mutually agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of receipts, as required by 11 C.F.R. §102.17(c)(1). After much negotiation, the participants agreed on an allocation formula, Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7, and the joint fundraising agreements were drafted to incorporate all the terms of the joint fundraising venture. Copies of the joint fundraising agreements are attached hereto at Tabs 5 and 6. See also Holch Aff. at ¶ 4.

The Inner Circles have followed the instruction of the regulations to determine how expenses of the joint fundraising committees would be paid. The regulations permit a participant to advance funds to, or pay the expenses of, a joint fundraising committee up to the contribution limits imposed by 11 C.F.R. § 110. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(7)(B). The plain meaning of this provision would permit the NRSC to advance to the joint fundraising committees the costs of expenses up to its total contribution limits (including cash contributions and coordinated expenditures) for all other participants. Nevertheless, the participants decided to seek commercial bank loans for the direct operating costs until contributions were received to cover these costs. Hagen Aff at ¶ 7. The NRSC only advanced to the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees the indirect costs of the joint fundraiser, by providing personnel, office space and supplies to administer the projects. These amounts were reimbursed to the NRSC from the gross receipts of the joint fundraising committees. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 8.

The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees followed the instruction of the regulations in creating its solicitation letters. As prescribed, all solicitations included the following fundraising notices: 1) the names of all participating committees; 2) the allocation formula for all funds received; 3) a statement that contributors could designate their contributions to a particular participant or participants; 4) a statement that the allocation would change if a contribution would violate the permissible contributions limits; and 5) a statement that contributions from corporations or labor unions which are prohibited under the Act would be allocated solely to the NRSC. 21040870420
The participants determined that all expenses would be paid by the fundraising representative from the gross proceeds of the joint fundraiser, and the distribution of any receipts among the participants would be delayed until all expenses, including the advances from the NRSC, had been paid. See id. at §§ 102.17(c)(3)(ii) and 102.17(c)(7)(B)(iii); see also Art. III, section C of the respective joint fundraising agreements at Tabs 5 and 6. Once the expenses had been paid, the net receipts were distributed among the participants according to the predetermined allocation formulas. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 13. These transfers to the participants from the joint fundraising committees are not reportable contributions from the NRSC, or any other participant, because they are expressly exempted from the contribution limits of section 110. 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(c)(2).

Since their establishment, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have filed monthly reports with the Commission detailing all activity of the joint fundraisers in compliance with 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(4) and (8). See copies of these FEC reports attached hereto at Tabs 13 and 14.

B. The NRSC's Participation in a Joint Fundraising Committee is Permissible.

In spite of the Inner Circles' careful efforts to comply with the joint fundraising regulations, the DSCC argues that there is something that is somehow suspect simply from the participation of a political party committee in a joint fundraiser. Section 102.17(a)(1) of the Commission's regulations defines "joint fundraising committees" and permits them to include all "political committees" (see id. at § 100.5), as well as unregistered committees and organizations. Section 102.17(a)(2) goes on to expressly allow party committees to take part, stating, "The participants in a joint fundraiser may include political party committees (whether or not they are political committees under 11 CFR 100.5), candidate committees, multicandidate committees and unregistered organizations..."

Political party committees have on numerous occasions been participants in joint fundraising committees that have been approved by the Commission. See FEC Advisory Opinions 1977-14, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) ¶ 5246, (1977)

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

(DSCC and DCCC); FEC Advisory Opinion 1977-61, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) ¶ 5291, (1977) (state Democratic party); FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-12, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) ¶ 5395 (1979) (local Democratic committee); FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-35, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5423 (1979) (DSCC).

Moreover, there is no reason why a political party participant in a joint fundraiser could not act as the fundraising representative. The regulations expressly permit one participant to serve as the designated fundraising agent, advancing funds, supplies and personnel within permissible limits. See id. at § 102.17(b). Necessarily, that means one participant must take an active role. See, e.g., FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-35, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5423 (1979); FEC Advisory Opinion 1977-8, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5254 (1977); and FEC Advisory Opinion 1988-24; Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5929 (1988). Complainants cannot point to any provision suggesting otherwise. Although the participants in the Inner Circle Committees established separate fundraising representatives, the regulations contemplate that the NRSC could have maintained a much more active role than it did.

C. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees and the NRSC are separate entities.

Throughout the Complaint, the DSCC intimates that the NRSC controlled the Inner Circle Committees to such a degree that these committees were simply the alter egos of the NRSC. These allegations are utterly false. Despite the clear permission for the NRSC (or any other participant) to serve as the designated fundraising representative, see 11 C.F.R. 102.17(a)(1)(i), the Inner Circle participants decided to establish separate reporting committees to avoid even the appearance that the NRSC was controlling the funds of the joint fundraisers. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 3. Those separate reporting joint fundraising committees, Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91, have paid all direct and indirect costs of administering the project out of the funds of the joint fundraising committees. Id. at ¶ 7.

While the regulations permit a participant to pay without reimbursement the expenses of the joint fundraising committee up to the contribution limits of section 110.5, the NRSC was reimbursed for the advance of all indirect costs of the Inner Circle committees. The day-to-day operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are administered by personnel of the NRSC at its headquarters, but the Treasurer of the Inner Circle committees went to great lengths to ensure that all overhead and indirect costs of the joint fundraising committees' activities (salaries, health benefits, employment tax, phone, electricity, equipment and supplies, allocable portion of mortgage on the office space, etc.) have been properly and generously calculated. The value of such managerial and administrative assistance was billed to the Inner Circles and reimbursed to the NRSC by the joint fundraising committees. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 8.

Additionally, the Inner Circle fundraising representatives received commercial bank loans to cover direct expenses based on their own collateral (the mailing lists purchased with the borrowed money and the anticipated receipts). Id. at ¶ 7. Whenever the Inner Circle committees dealt with the NRSC in commercial transactions (e.g., arriving at a rental price for the NRSC's mailing list, determining a fair amount to pay in administrative expenses), the Inner Circle committees did so at arms' length, often receiving outside professional appraisals and advice. Id. at ¶¶ 8-12. The FEC reports of the Inner Circle committees reflect this attention to maintaining a strict division between the finances of the NRSC and activities of the joint fundraising committees. See FEC reports at Tabs 13 and 14.

- D. NRSC is only one participant in the Inner Circle; substantive decisions of the committee are determined by all participants.

The DSCC alleges that the Inner Circle committees were captive organizations of the NRSC, rather than joint endeavors of many participants. That allegation is completely unsupported by the facts. The final allocation formula was arrived at after negotiations and bargaining among the participants. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7. See also Holch Aff. at ¶ 4. It reflects the collective decision-making and compromises of all participants. All decisions that would revise the terms of the joint fundraising agreement (e.g., a change in the allocation formula, a change in the participants) had to be approved by all participants.

Contrary to the assertions of the Complaint in this Matter, each participating committee was substantially involved in the planning and implementation of Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91. The participating committees reviewed and approved the solicitations before they were mailed, and they had the opportunity to "nominate" potential contributors from their states. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 15. The participating committees continued to be involved with the planning of the Leadership Conferences for contributors in Washington, D.C., and candidates participating in the joint fundraising committees were bound by common agreement to attend these fundraising events. Id.; Holch Aff. at ¶ 3; see also Coe Aff. at ¶ 5.

Moreover, the relationship of the NRSC to other participants is governed by the Agreement. The NRSC may not act outside the terms of the Agreement, nor does it control the funds of the Inner Circle committees. The Inner Circle committees maintain separate bank accounts that may only be used as provided in the joint fundraising agreements. Those accounts are not controlled by the NRSC. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 5. Likewise, when the Inner Circle committees sold their donor lists to the NRSC, these sales had to be approved pursuant to the joint fundraising agreements by a vote of the List Management Committees, of which the NRSC was only one of four members. Id. at ¶ 12.

In addition, all Republican Senate candidates had an opportunity to participate in Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 5. That some candidates chose not to participate further illustrates the individual decision-making of all potential participants. See, e.g., Coe Aff. at ¶ 5 and Holch Aff. at ¶ 3.

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

- E. The NRSC's advance of the costs of overhead for the Inner Circle committee is entirely permissible.

The DSCC alleges that the Inner Circle permitted the NRSC to shoulder all the expenses of the joint fundraising committee and did not allocate sufficient proceeds to the NRSC to justify its participation. Both of these allegations result from the DSCC's lack of information.

With regard to the expenses of the Inner Circle committees, each participant's share of expenses is based on the percentage of receipts the participant has been allocated pursuant to the provisions of the Joint Fundraising Agreements and the Commission's regulations. See 11 C.F.R § 102.17(b)(3)(i) and Article III, Section C, of the Joint Fundraising Agreements.

However, the regulations also provide that one participant may advance funds for the payment of expenses in excess of its proportionate share up to the amount that participant could legally contribute to the remaining participants. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b)(3)(ii). As a committee of a national political party, the NRSC is permitted to make

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

direct contributions to any Senate candidate up to $17,500. Id. at § 110.2(e). Accordingly, the NRSC was permitted to advance up to $17,500 for each of the other participating committees -- as much as $840,000 for Inner Circle 90-91. The NRSC's advance was substantially less than that. See FEC reports at Tabs 13 and 14.

The Inner Circle committees reimbursed the NRSC for those administrative expenses on October 19, 1990, over two weeks before the general election. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 10. The NRSC's post-general disclosure report indicates that over $1.7 million in cash contributions and coordinated expenditures were released to candidates (many of whom were participants in the joint fundraising committees) between October 19 and November 26, 1990. The advance for indirect expenses of the Inner Circle Committees was repaid to the NRSC before that time. Id. This arrangement is completely permissible under 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b)(3) as the permissible advance of funds within a participant's contribution limits. Because the amount was reimbursed, the NRSC was free to make direct contributions once the debts were paid.²¹

²¹ This repayment justification does not even reach the fact that many participants in the Inner Circle

- F. The NRSC's allocation of receipts represents a significant amount of the total funds received through the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees.

The Complaint also alleges that these committees cannot be bona fide joint fundraising committees because the NRSC received a disproportionately small portion of the committees' receipts (and therefore, that the NRSC allegedly appeared interested only in raising money for entities other than the NRSC). This convoluted theory, of dubious legal import in any case, is completely undermined by the facts of the allocation formula.

First, many participants receive even less than the NRSC's 1% share. For instance, the candidates who share in the 12% tier of Inner Circle 90-91's receipts each receive 1/21 of 12%, or .57% of the total. See allocation formula in joint fundraising agreements at Tabs 5 and 6. Some other participants in the Inner Circle committees received .75%, 3.63%, .6%, or 2.9%. The tier with the highest allocation of

Committees are not up for election in 1990, and thus, have not received any contributions from the NRSC for their next election, nor does it address the much larger resources that may be advanced to the joint fundraiser through coordinated expenditures between the NRSC and the other participating committees. See 11 C.F.R. § 110.17.

either Committee only received 7% of the contributions. Id.
When viewed in the context of the other participants, the 1% to the NRSC was neither near the top nor the bottom of the participants in terms of receipts from the joint fundraising committees.

However, the 1% does not tell the whole story. In addition to the fixed 1% allocation, the NRSC received all funds from the Inner Circle's non-federal accounts (composed of contributions from corporations and labor unions) as permitted by 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(B). Hagen Aff. at ¶ 15. See also joint fundraising agreements at Tabs 5 and 6.
Thus, the NRSC's ultimate receipts from these committees were quite substantial indeed, far larger than many other participants and certainly contradictory to the DSCC's allegation that the NRSC did not receive funds of any significance from the joint fundraising committee.

G. Inner Circle Joint Fundraising Is Not Unusual or Unprecedented

Contrary to the artificially outraged tone of the Complaint, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are not unusual or unprecedented. In fact, the Complainant, the DSCC, has itself been a participant in a number of joint fundraising committees. These other committees, which function similarly to the Inner Circle committees, conduct their fundraising and report their activities to the Commission apparently without complaint, either from the National Democratic Party organizations (one of which filed this Complaint) or from the Republicans (who are governed by the same joint fundraising regulations). The Complaint's characterization of the Inner Circle committees as a new "loophole" in political fundraising is more than misleading. Complaint at 30.

For instance, the Democratic Party participates in the following joint fundraisers for its Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee and Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee: The California '88 Victory Committee (FEC Identification No. C 00214437), the Democratic Congressional Dinner Committee (FEC Identification No. C 00000182), the Democratic House and Senate Council (FEC Identification No. C 00080572), and the Democratic Congressional Summer Dinner Committee (FEC Identification No. C 00237529).

In fact, Democratic Party Committees have been even more inventive than the Republican participants in the Inner Circle committees. Voices for Change '88 (FEC Identification No. C 00232645) is a joint fundraising committee composed of a national party committee (the DSCC), a state political party (the Democratic State Central Committee of California), a non-connected committee (the Hollywood Women's Political Committee), and six campaign committees of candidates for the United States Senate.^{8/} According to FEC reports, that committee jointly raised and then disbursed among its participants $442,000 in 1988. A separate joint fundraising committee, Victory Flight '88 (FEC Identification No. C 00232819) comprised the Hollywood Women's Political Committee and four of the same Democratic U.S. Senate campaign committees.^{9/} The composition and operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees appear to be similar, if more straightforward, in all relevant aspects to these other, apparently permissible committees.

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

^{9/} The participating committees were: Kerry for Senate Committee, Lautenberg Committee, McCarthy for U.S. Senate, and Metzenbaum for Senate '88.

II. As a Matter of Law, the Concepts of Joint Fundraising Committees and Earmarked Contributions (or "Bundling") are Distinct Fundraising Methods Governed By Separate Regulations.

Without regard to the facts in this Matter or the existing regulations governing joint fundraising committees, the DSCC urges that the receipts of the Inner Circle committees should be treated as earmarked contributions under 11 C.F.R. § 110.6. The Complaint makes repeated analogies to Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990). As a matter of law, the FEC should not examine through the lens of that case or the Commission's regulations for earmarked contributions a committee that is registered as a joint fundraising committee, and in all respects looks, acts, and reports like a joint fundraising committee. As the previous discussion illustrates, there is no merit to the argument that the Inner Circle committees are anything but bona fide joint fundraising committees pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a). They should be evaluated for what they are and not recast as earmarked contribution programs. Nevertheless, the DSCC is intent on forcing a square peg into a round hole.

A. The regulations treat joint fundraisers and bundling programs separately.

That joint fundraising committees are to be considered separately and differently from earmarked contribution programs is plain from the text of the regulations. First, 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(2)(i)(B) which sets out the limit on earmarked contributions specifically excludes joint fundraising from the scope of that section:

For purposes of [the regulations governing earmarked contributions], the following persons shall not be considered conduits or intermediaries:
. . . (B) A fundraising representative conducting joint fundraising with the candidate's authorized committee pursuant to 11 CFR 102.17 or 9034.8.

The Explanation & Justification for this 1989 revision to the regulation explained "[f]undraising representatives have been excluded because their activities are already covered by the joint fundraising regulations" 54 Fed. Reg. 34106 (Aug. 17, 1989). The Commission made a conscious decision at that time, consistent with its past policy to treat joint fundraising committees and intermediaries as separate creatures of the law.

Second, the term "direction and control" as it is used in the earmarked contribution regulations is not even applicable to a joint fundraising committee. The term

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

"direction and control" consistently refers to whether the conduit makes "the choice of the recipient candidate."

11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2). The regulations make clear that an intermediary who exercises direction and control over the choice of the recipient candidate of a contribution would be required to list the amount as a contribution from itself as well as the original contributor. Id.

However, because of the nature of joint fundraising, there can be no direction and control over the choice of candidate by the designated fundraising agent. The joint fundraising agreement is a legally binding document on all the parties with a pre-determined allocation of the proceeds. Id. at § 102.17(c)(1). Contributors are informed of this formula in the joint fundraising notice that accompanies any solicitation by the joint fundraising committee. Id. at § 102.17(c)(2). Therefore, even if one of the participating committees is the designated fundraising agent (which is not the case here since the participants established a separate reporting committee to receive the funds), it exercises NO direction or control. It is only a custodian of the account; it cannot distribute or withhold the funds in any manner inconsistent with the pre-determined formula. Unlike

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

91040870506
"bundled" contributions, the result of the required allocation formula is that donors have complete control over their contributions because the allocation of the receipts is determined before the first dollar is contributed, id. at § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(B), or the donor himself directs the contribution to a particular candidate when making the contribution, id. at § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(C).

- B. The regulations expressly exclude transfers of joint fundraising proceeds from the contribution limits.

Earmarked contributions are subject to the contribution limits on both the original contributor and the conduit who exercises control over those funds. Id. at § 110.6(d)(2). By comparison, the Commission's regulations expressly exclude transfers from joint fundraising committees to their participants from the contribution limits, including the limit on contributions by political party committees to Senate candidates that appears at 11 C.F.R. § 110.2(e). Section 110.3(c) states:

(c) Transfers. The contribution limitations of 11 CFR 110.1 and 110.2 shall not limit the transfers set forth below: . . .

(2) Transfers of joint fundraising proceeds between organizations or committees participating in the joint fundraising activity provided that no participating committee or organization governed by 11 C.F.R. § 102.17 receives more than its allocated share of the funds.

11 C.F.R. § 110.3(c)(2). To the extent that the Commission exempted these activities from the limits on political party committees, it clearly intended that political parties could participate in joint fundraisers and that these transfers would not be subject to the party contribution limits. The Commission has sent a message that it considers joint fundraising proceeds different from earmarked contributions.

- C. The regulations governing earmarked contributions and joint fundraising committees reflect distinct policy choices and requirements, whose distinctions should not be blurred.

The chart below highlights numerous additional distinctions, as a matter of law, between the regulations governing earmarked contributions and joint fundraising committees:

LEGAL DISTINCTIONS BETWEEN INTERMEDIARIES AND JOINT FUNDRAISING COMMITTEES

Intermediaries

1. Intermediary is not considered a contributor unless it exercises direction and control. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d).

Joint Fundraising Committees

1. Joint fundraising committee must be a reporting entity but it makes transfers, not contributions to its participants. 11 C.F.R. §§

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

102.17(a)(1) and 102.17(c)(8).

2. Ultimate recipient must be a candidate's authorized committee. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(1).
3. Contributions may pass through the intermediary's account. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(c)(2)(v).
4. Intermediary must forward contributions to recipient within 10 days. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(2)(iii).
5. Intermediary may not use any portion of contribution to pay its expenses. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(2)(iii).
6. Intermediary may exercise direction and control over recipients of funds: no formal arrangement binds the intermediary's earmarked contributions.
7. No special requirements for solicitations.
2. Joint fundraising participants may be candidate committee, separate segregated fund or even an unregistered committee or organization. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(1)(i).
3. Joint fundraising representative must establish a separate depository account for all receipts and disbursements of the committee. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3)(i).
4. Joint fundraising representative may delay distribution until all contributions are received and expenses are paid. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3)(ii).
5. Designated representative must pay expenses from gross receipts before proceeds are distributed. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(7)(A).
6. Written joint fundraising agreement pre-determines allocation formula and legally binds all participants. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(1).
7. Solicitation letters must include joint fundraising notice. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2).

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

8. Ultimate recipient has no control over intermediary's activity.

8. Joint fundraising participants control activity and decisions of joint fundraising committee.

The significance of these legal distinctions cannot be overstated. In combination, they create a rigid and comprehensive set of guidelines governing joint fundraisers. To disregard the Commission's clear regulatory structure and superimpose the earmarked contribution regulations on a joint fundraising committee ignores the framework of safeguards established for joint fundraisers and the numerous distinctions in the law. It replaces a carefully balanced framework with dual, and sometimes inconsistent regulations.

D. The legal implications of bundling and joint fundraising are different.

Another legal distinction between earmarking programs and joint fundraising is that the joint fundraising agreement creates a legally enforceable contract among the participants which binds all parties to a mutually agreed upon allocation of the expenses and receipts. This situation is quite different from earmarked contributions in which the intermediary potentially can exercise discretion and the

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

would-be recipients, as well as misinformed contributors, are without recourse.

Additionally, the joint fundraising regulations require the designated fundraising representative to establish a separate account for the joint fundraising proceeds, 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3), so that these funds do not "pass through" the general accounts of the fundraising representative. This complete separation and reporting of funds insures that the lack of discretion contemplated by the joint fundraising agreement is carried out in practice.

III. The Inner Circle Joint Fundraising Committees Are Factually Quite Different Than the Earmarking Program In Common Cause v. FEC.

Thus far, this Response has detailed the extent to which the Inner Circle committees have assured compliance with the Commission's regulations for joint fundraising committees and demonstrated the numerous legal distinctions between earmarked contributions and joint fundraising committees. It should be quite apparent at this point that the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees at issue here are vastly different from the earmarked contribution program in Common Cause v. FEC. 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990).

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.
Page 44

The allegations of the Complaint suggest that the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are nothing more than the a modified version of that program; that could not be farther from the truth.^{10/} The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are factually distinct from that program in numerous respects, as demonstrated below:

Factors Alleged in
Common Cause v. FEC
(Earmarking)

- ° NRSC determined allocation formula. Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148, ¶ 4.c. (D.D.C. 1990).
- ° NRSC chose the 12 campaigns included in the program. Common Cause, at ¶ 4.a.
- ° Campaigns signed agreement with NRSC to pay for mailings by the NRSC mentioning that candidate's race. Common Cause, at ¶ 5.

(Joint Fundraising)

- ° All participants negotiated and approved allocation formula prior to their participation. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7.
- ° All Republican Senate campaigns had opportunity to participate. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 5.
- ° Agreements with campaigns set out allocation formulas for contributions and expenses. Joint Fundraising Agreements at Tabs 5 and 6.

^{10/} In any case, the permissibility of that program has not been determined conclusively, as that program is still being litigated today. The Court of Appeals has ruled that, because the NRSC was not a party to that case, the decision is not binding upon the NRSC. Common Cause v. FEC, C.A. No. 90-5317 (D.C. Cir. 1990). A separate action filed by the Federal Election Commission against the NRSC is still pending. FEC v. NRSC et al., No. 90-2055 (GAG) (D.D.C., filed August 24, 1990).

- ° NRSC received all proceeds specifically designated to it plus all corporate contributions.

These facts illustrate the very different circumstances of the two programs that the Complaint obtusely calls "precisely the same bundling vehicle." Complaint at 10. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have vigorously and meticulously complied with the Commission's regulations for joint fundraisers. See generally, Hagen Aff. The result is a joint fundraising committee which is not subject to the national party limitations precisely because the national party committee does not direct or control the funds.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

IV. Contrary to Allegations, the Inner Circle Committees Actually Provides "Cleaner" Contributions and More Accountability Than Normal Fundraising and Are Entirely Within the Act.

A. Joint fundraising committees do not tamper with individual contribution limits, but do reduce the influence of single "fat cat" contributors.

From reading the Complaint in this Matter, one could easily be led to believe that the Inner Circle activities were some covert attempt to circumvent all spending limits. This conclusion overlooks the most obvious contribution limits of all: the individual federal limits of $1,000 per candidate per election and $25,000 in aggregate per calendar year, 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(1) and (3). Joint fundraising does not inflate individual spending limits -- they remain completely unchanged. What Inner Circle does do is help individuals within their existing limits to locate and contribute to candidates in a number of states who share their political views, and help candidates to raise funds

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

collectively, and thus efficiently. In fact, the concern for monitoring contribution limits is what led the Inner Circle participants to decide not to accept the percentage of funds from contributors in their own state. That would have increased the possibility that a contribution would be accepted in error, from a contributor who had already reached his limit with respect to a home state campaign.

Moreover, because the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees distributed funds among many candidates, the typical $1,000 contribution ended up allocated to individual campaigns in the amount of $36.30, $29, $6, etc. This creates numerous "small donors" to any particular campaign, rather than relatively more influential $1,000 donors to a single campaign. In passing the 1974 amendments to the Federal Election Campaign Act, 2 U.S.C. §§ 431 et seq., the House Administration Committee called individual limits on contributions "the most significant reform" in the bill. "Contribution limitations should restore public confidence by eliminating or reducing public suspicion that candidates are being 'bought' or influenced by large campaign contributions." H.R. Rep. No. 93-1239, 93rd Cong., 2d Sess., at 115 (1974). The practical effect of the Inner Circle

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

joint fundraising committees is the reduced likelihood of improper influence. As Roll Call recently pointed out, "A contributor who gives Jake Garn, for example, the equivalent of six bucks a year isn't likely to have the influence of a Charles Keating." Roll Call (Monday, April 16, 1990) at 6 (attached hereto at Tab 17).

- B. Joint fundraising committee assure contributors who the ultimate recipients of their contributions will be.

Secondly, joint fundraising makes for "cleaner" politics because there is no discretion left to an intermediary concerning how to spend the money. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees provide accountability to their donors because they are assured by the joint fundraising agreements and the solicitation notices that the money will be used in a specified manner according to the published allocation formula. And if a contributor wants to designate a different allocation or make the contribution solely to one participant, that arrangement must be honored as well. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(C). There is absolutely no discretion in the joint fundraising committee to reallocate the receipts based on the financial needs of a particular participant.

CONCLUSION

BEFORE THE FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION

City of Washington)
District of Columbia) MUR 3131

AFFIDAVIT OF ALBERT E. MITCHLER

ALBERT E. MITCHLER, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. I am Albert E. Mitchler. I serve as the Finance Director of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 (Inner Circle '90) and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 (Inner Circle '90-91), two separate joint fundraising committees registered with the Federal Election Commission.

2. In my capacity as Finance Director, my duties include the development and execution of fundraising projects for these joint fundraising committees. I have primary responsibility for the direct mail solicitations, the purchase and rental of mailing lists, and the daily management of fundraising activity for both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91.

3. Both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 were created as mechanisms for cooperative fundraising efforts among Republican Senate candidates. The joint committees promote candidate involvement in the fundraising process for their campaigns.

4. These joint fundraising committees provide potential contributors with a convenient method for contributing to more than one Republican Senate candidate in response to a single solicitation and through a single check. The committees provide an efficient way for contributors who would like to see a majority of the U.S. Senate controlled by Republicans to make donations to multiple candidates who share their political views. At the same time, the Inner Circle committees provide assurance to contributors that their donations to these joint fundraising committees will be transferred directly to the specified candidates accordingly to a pre-determined formula of allocation.

5. All campaigns of incumbent Republican U.S. Senators and all announced Republican candidates for the 1990 election to the U.S. Senate as of January, 1990 had the opportunity to attend an initial organizational meeting to discuss establishing the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees in February, 1990.

6. At that meeting, all aspects of the joint fundraising proposal were reviewed, and the nature of the fundraising activity was debated. Each attending campaign committee took from the meeting a package of draft materials of the proposed Inner Circle for his or her review and comment. Each campaign committee reviewed these materials and decided whether it wished to participate in the joint fundraising effort. The campaign committees of Senators John

Danforth, Jr., Robert Dole, Charles Grassley, Orrin Hatch, Nancy Kassebaum, William V. Roth Jr., and Warren Rudman declined to participate in the proposed joint fundraising committees.

7. Based on a series of negotiations among representatives from the participating committees, the campaigns that decided to participate eventually arrived at an agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of receipts and the payment of expenses of the committee among the participants. These percentages were the subject of much bargaining among the participants and the final amounts reflect intensive negotiations and compromise among all participants. The final allocation was the result of such factors as incumbency (with challengers and candidates for open seats receiving a higher percentage), the presence of a substantive opponent, and whether the participant was involved in a 1990 election.

8. I supervised the production of all direct mail solicitations for both Inner Circle committees. Inner Circle '90 mailed to approximately 400,000 households and Inner Circle '90-91 mailed to approximately 340,000 homes.

9. Each of the solicitation letters for contributions to Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 includes a joint fundraising notice that clearly states: 1) the names of all participating committees; 2) the allocation formula for all funds received; 3) a statement that contributors may designate all of their contribution to particular candidates;

4) a statement that the allocation may change if a contribution would violate the permissible contributions limits; and 5) a statement that contributions from corporations or labor unions which are prohibited under the Act will be allocated solely to the NRSC.

10. Additionally, the joint fundraising notices indicated that no contributions from the same state as a participating candidate committee would be allocated to that campaign. Some participating committees expressed the concern that Inner Circle receipts would make it harder to ensure that contributions did not exceed the permissible limits from their own constituents who would also give directly to their campaigns. As a result, the participants decided jointly to re-allocate these receipts to reduce their potential of receiving excess contributions.

11. Fundraising letters were mailed to potential contributors using mailing lists compiled from a variety of sources. The Inner Circle committees compiled the vast majority of names (approximately 80-85 percent) from renting commercial mailing lists from commercial vendors. The initial costs of these lists were paid out of the loans received by the Inner Circle committees.

12. Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 also rented about 15 percent of the names (approximately 16,000 names) from the NRSC. To ensure that neither the NRSC nor

the joint fundraising committees derived excess advantage from this rental, I insisted that the NRSC charge the Inner Circle committees a premium rate that was comparable to commercial lists of similar composition and proven donor potential. The Inner Circle committees paid $.15 per name in rent for the lists from the NRSC.

13. The joint fundraising committees also mailed to 4,500 names and addresses that it received from the participating campaign committees.

14. Following the completion of the Inner Circle fundraising activities and the conclusion of the 1990 elections, the Inner Circle committees sold their donor lists to the NRSC. I recommended that a premium price should be charged for the mailing lists, comparable with similar lists in the commercial direct-mail market, because of the proven donor potential of those names. The Inner Circle committees charged the NRSC $1.50 per name for these lists.

15. A representative from each participating committee attended the mandatory organizational meeting in February, 1990. It was emphasized at that meeting that participation in the Inner Circle entailed continuing involvement of all participants. Participating committees played instrumental role in the determination of the allocation formula; they were included in the "nomination" process for potential contributors from their state. Participating committees also worked closely with the Inner Circles during the development itation package. Each participant reviewed and solicitation materials. Finally, each candidate tee participated in either Inner Circle obligated herself to take part in the conferences held in D.C. for contributors to the Inner Circle joint committees.

AFFIDAVIT OF JAMES L. HAGEN

JAMES L. HAGEN, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. I am James L. Hagen. I serve as Treasurer of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 (Inner Circle '90) and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 (Inner Circle '90-91), two separate joint fundraising committees registered with the Federal Election Commission.

2. In my capacities as Treasurer of Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91, I have primary responsibility for maintaining records of the contributions to and the transfers and expenditures of these joint fundraising committees. I also have responsibility for filing regular reports with the Federal Election Commission of the receipts, transfers and expenses of these committees.

3. When Inner Circle '90 was created, and later, when Inner Circle '90-91 was established, the participants chose to establish a separate reporting committee to act as the designated fundraising representative of the joint fundraising committees. Although the FEC regulations permit a participant in the joint fundraiser to serve as the designated agent, separate committees were established to assure that receipts of the joint fundraiser were separately maintained and accounted for. These committees were given responsibility for collecting contributions, paying fundraising costs and disbursing net proceeds among the participants.

4. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees each registered as joint fundraising committees with the Commission, listing all of their respective participants.

5. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have their own independent identities, separate from each other and any of their participants. Each committee has applied for and received a separate employer tax identification number from the Internal Revenue Service. Each committee has separate bank accounts into which all contributions to that Committee are deposited.

6. Each participating committee was notified, both orally at an organizational meeting and in writing in a memorandum distributed to all potential participants, of the requirement that participating committees amend their own Statements of Organization to reflect the appropriate Inner Circle entity as an authorized committee and to identify the Inner Circle's bank as a separate depository account of each participant.

7. Each Inner Circle Committee obtained a $300,000 bank loan secured by its mailing lists and future receipts.

The initial direct costs of fundraising (initial production, postage, purchase of mailing lists, etc.) were paid out of these funds. Once the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees began to receive contributions, their expenses, as well as the repayment of the loans, were paid out of their incoming receipts. The loans have been repaid in full.

8. The administrative costs of the joint fundraising committees' activities (salaries, phone, electricity, equipment and supplies, office space, etc.) have also been paid by the Inner Circle committees. The day-to-day operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were executed by personnel of the National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC) at its headquarters, but the Inner Circle committees reimbursed the NRSC for these expenses.

9. To compute these costs, I identified those persons on NRSC payroll who were involved with the Inner Circle committees. With the assistance of Albert E. Mitchler, I determined the percentages of their time spent performing Inner Circle functions, and computed the sum of that portion of their salaries, employer's share of taxes, health insurance premiums, fringe benefits, etc. Once allocable salaries were determined, I added to that figure the same portion of the overhead rate for the operation of the NRSC (e.g., computer, electricity, phone service, interest on mortgage, etc.) as determined by the external audits of the

NRSC for the two previous years. Two outside certified public accountants have reviewed this process and verified that it is a reasonable and appropriate method of computing the allocation of overhead.

10. The NRSC billed the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees for these expenses once that accounting process was complete and the Inner Circle committees reimbursed those amounts to the NRSC promptly. Those indirect costs through October 18, 1990 were paid on October 19, 1990, over two weeks before the general election. The NRSC's post-general disclosure report indicates that over $1.7 million in cash contributions and coordinated expenditures were released to candidates (many of whom were participants in the joint fundraising committees) between October 19 and November 26, 1990. The advance from the NRSC for indirect expenses of the Inner Circle committees was repaid to the NRSC before that time. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees will continue to reimburse the NRSC for overhead expenses incurred subsequently as these bills are submitted, until the committees are terminated.

11. Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 rented mailing lists of approximately 16,000 names from the NRSC. In both cases, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees paid the NRSC $.15 per name, a rental price comparable with the price that similar lists would bring in the commercial, direct-mail market.

12. Subsequently, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees sold to the NRSC the lists of names of all actual donors to the Inner Circle committees. Because the Inner Circle committees will soon terminate and an ongoing rental arrangement is not practicable, I recommended and the List Management Committees determined that these mailing lists should be sold rather than rented. Like the rental price paid by the Inner Circles, the determination of a purchase price for the NRSC was based on the cost for comparable lists in the commercial direct-mail market.

13. All expenses of the Inner Circles were borne by the respective joint fundraising committees and paid out of the gross receipts prior to the disbursement of any contributions among the participants. I made the decisions when to transfer the funds to the participants once all expenses were paid and supervised my staff in the determination of the appropriate apportionment of funds based on the allocation formula in the joint fundraising agreements.

14. Slight discrepancies that may have occurred in the amount of funds received by members of the same "tier" of the allocation formula are a result of individual contributions specifically designated for particular participants, contributions from the same state as the participating committee, and marginal rounding errors by the computer. The joint fundraising committees are required by FEC regulation to acknowledge requests from contributors for particular designations among the participants that differ from the allocation formula.

15. The NRSC received one percent of the net proceeds from both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 as provided for in the allocation formula. In addition to the fixed-percentage allocation of contributions received by the NRSC, the joint fundraising agreements also provide that the NRSC non-federal account shall receive all funds from Inner Circle committees' non-federal accounts (composed of contributions from corporations and labor unions). These non-federal receipts of the Inner Circle committee have been substantial.

16. The solicitation notices for Inner Circle '90 stated that contributions from the same state as a participating committee "would be allocated solely as a contribution to the National Republican Senatorial Committee." However, the computer program created by the joint fundraising committee reattributed "home state" contributions (as well as PAC money originally allocated to participants who had made campaign promises not to accept these funds) among other candidates in the same "tier," rather than transferring the money to the NRSC. This discrepancy resulted from a miscommunication between the producer of the solicitation letter and the computer programmers. Additionally, it was unclear whether a reallocation which was not required under the joint fundraising regulations but jointly agreed to by the participants could be directed to a single participant or was required to be distributed in relation to the allocations of the remaining participants. The disclaimer in Inner Circle '90-91 was revised to reflect the proper reallocation.

17. I have filed monthly, pre-general and post-general reports, as appropriate, with the Commission for both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 since their establishments. These reports detail all contributions, expenditures and transfers of the committees since their inception.

The above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

2. On behalf of the Dole for Senate '92 Committee, I

5. The Dole for Senate Committee decided not to participate in the joint fundraising committees because Senator Dole's term does not expire until 1992, and therefore, he was not up for election in 1990. AFFIDAVIT OF NIELS C. HOLCH

NIELS C.HOLCH, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. I am Niels C. Holch. On behalf of the McConnell Senate Committee '90, the authorized campaign committee of U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell, I attended a meeting in February, 1990, of the representatives of the campaign committees of numerous Republican candidates for the United States Senate. At that meeting, the formation of a joint fundraising committee was discussed.

2. The McConnell Committee '90, along with other candidate committees, had the opportunity to participate in the joint fundraising committees known as the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91.

3. The McConnell Senate Committee '90 reviewed the proposed drafts of the joint fundraising committee materials and decided to participate in the joint fundraising committees. Senator McConnell committed his time to attend the events of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle joint fundraising committees and, with the help of his campaign staff, participated in the fundraising process of the committees.

4. Once the McConnell Committee '90 chose to participate, it entered into a joint fundraising agreement with the other participants which included a formula for the allocation of contributions to these participating committees. I understood that the terms and conditions of participation, including the respective allocation of the funds among the participants were negotiable. The McConnell Committee '90 found the terms with respect to itself to be acceptable as proposed.

5. Because Senator McConnell and his campaign staff were familiar with the regulations providing for joint fundraising committees, the McConnell Senate Committee '90 was willing to participate in what it perceived to be a completely legal and potentially profitable joint fundraising effort.

Dear _____:

Enclosed you will find an Addendum to the Joint Fundraising Agreement of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-'91. As you will recall, we recently sent to you a package containing materials regarding the creation of the new Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-'91 joint fundraising committee.

In preparing those materials, we neglected to include in the allocation formula the committees of the two candidates in the September 18, 1990 Massachusetts Republican primary election. These two committees are now included in the allocation formula via this Addendum. In addition, the Addendum makes clear that proceeds to be distributed to the Senator Ben Bagert to Put Louisiana First committee will be designated for the open primary to be held in Louisiana on October 6, 1990.

Please sign and date the Addendum and return it to us. A copy is included for your records.

TAX FORMS YOU MUST FILE:

Notice of New Employer Identification Number Assigned

Thank you for your Form SS-4, Application for Employer Identification Number (EIN). The number assigned to you is shown above. This number will be used to identify your business account and related tax returns and documents, even if you do not have employees.

1. Keep a copy of this number in your permanent records.
2. Use this number and your name exactly as shown above on all Federal tax forms.
3. Use this number on all tax payments and tax-related correspondence or documents.

Any variation used when filing tax returns, making FTD payments or subsequent payments may result in improper or delayed posting of payments to your account and on the assignment of more than one EIN.

The filing requirements and tax period shown above have been established for your account based on information contained on your Form SS-4. If you are a trust, your tax year generally must be a calendar year, unless you are exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code or a charitable trust described in section 4947(a)(1) of the Code. To help you to determine your required tax year, you may obtain Publication 538, Accounting Periods and Methods. This publication is available at most IRS offices for more information.

Please note that the assignment of this number does not grant tax-exempt status to nonprofit organizations. Any organization (other than a private foundation) having annual gross receipts normally of $5,000 or less is exempt by statute from the requirements of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. These organizations are not required to file Form 1023, Application for Recognition of Exemption, or file Form 990 (Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax). However, if the organization wants to establish its exemption with the Internal Revenue Service and receive a ruling or determination letter recognizing its exempt status, it should file Form 1023 with the key district director. For details on how to apply for this exemption, see IRS publication 557, Tax-Exempt Status for your Organization, available at most IRS offices.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Keep this part for your records.

CP 575 (Rev. 10-83)

Only return this part with your correspondence if you have any questions so we may identify your account.
Please correct any errors in your name or address.

LOAN AND SECURITY AGREEMENT

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The Committee has requested that the Bank extend to it a $300,000 secured loan for the purpose of funding printing, mailing and related expenses of its operations. The Bank is prepared, subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, to provide such secured loan to the Committee.

NOW THEREFORE, the Bank and the Committee hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

Section 1.1. The Loan. The Bank agrees, on the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, to make a loan in the principal amount of $300,000 (the "Advance") to the Committee.

Section 1.2. Making the Advance. The Advance will be made on a date selected by the Committee after satisfaction of all conditions stated in 2.2 hereof (the "Closing Date").

Section 1.3. Use of Proceeds. All proceeds of the Advance hereunder will be used solely for the Committee's operating expenses for postage, list rentals, printing, and hotel facility deposits and in no event for funding of any political campaigns.

Section 1.4. Interest and Repayment. The Committee will repay to the Bank upon demand, or, if no demand previously has been made, on May 8, 1990 the aggregate unpaid principal amount of the Advance in accordance with a promissory note (the "Note") issued by the Committee to the Bank, in the form of Exhibit A, and the Advance shall be evidenced by the Note. The Committee may make prepayments under the Note at any time but may not reborrow any funds prepaid. The Committee will further pay to the Bank interest upon the aggregate unpaid principal amount under the Note at its maturity on May 8, 1990 (or upon demand), at a rate per annum (calculated on the basis of the actual number of days elapsed over a year of 360 days) equal to one half-percent in excess of the Bank's prime rate of interest in effect from time to time as publicly announced by the Bank as such prime rate ("the Prime Rate"). Each change in the rate of interest hereunder shall be effective as of the opening of business on the effective date of each change in the Prime Rate. In the event of any dispute as to the Prime Rate, a certificate executed by any Senior Vice President of the Bank stating the percent per annum constituting the Prime Rate and the date of its effectiveness shall be conclusive absent manifest error.

Section 1.5. Method of Payment. Whenever any payment of principal or interest to be made hereunder or under the Note becomes due on a Saturday, Sunday, or public holiday or the equivalent for banks generally under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia (any other day being a "Business Day"), such payment may be made on the next succeeding Business Day, and such extension of time shall in such case be included in the computation of the amount of interest then to be paid. All payments and prepayments hereunder shall be made to the Bank at its address stated on the first page hereof, in such money of the United States as at the time of payment shall be legal tender for the payment of public and private debts and in immediately available funds. Each payment shall be received by the Bank no later than 2:00 p.m. Eastern Time, and any payment received after such time shall be treated as received on the next Business Day.

ARTICLE II.

Section 2.1. Collateral. To secure repayment to the Bank of the Advance and the interest payable on the Advance, the Committee hereby grants to the Bank a security interest in and lien upon the following collateral now owned or hereafter acquired by the Committee and in the Committee's expectancy to acquire such collateral in the ordinary course of its business and affairs:

(a) the spool or spools of machine-readable computer tape containing the mailing list of the Committee that the Committee proposes to use in soliciting contributions to the Committee during 1990, known as the "Inner Circle File of Contributors";

(b) all proceeds of demand deposit account No. 6520172880 maintained at the Bank by the Committee;

(c) all money, instruments, accounts receivable, general intangibles, chattel paper, deposit accounts and other personal property now owned or hereafter acquired by or on behalf of the Committee in response to fundraising efforts or otherwise; and

(d) all cash and non-cash proceeds of the foregoing (all collectively the "Collateral").

Section 2.2. Conditions Precedent. The Bank's obligations under Section 1.1 hereof will be subject to the fulfillment of the following conditions precedent in manner and form satisfactory to the Bank and its special counsel:

(a) The Committee shall have delivered to the Bank

(i) an opinion of the Committee's counsel in form and substance satisfactory to the Bank;

91040870577

(ii) a certification of authority substantially as set forth in Exhibit B hereto, duly executed by the officers of the Committee specified therein;

(iii) duplicate originals of this Agreement, duly executed by the Committee;

(iv) duplicate originals of a Commercial Account Agreement Supplement, duly executed by the Committee;

(v) the Note, duly executed by the Committee;

(vi) the collateral described in Section 2.1 hereof that is now owned by the Committee;

(vii) copies of all approvals or other actions necessary under its organization or governance documents for authorization of the execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and the Note;

(viii) a copy of its current statement of organization as filed by it under Section 303 of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the "FEC Act"); and

(ix) a closing fee in the amount of $500.

(b) There shall not have occurred any Event of Default or event which, with due notice or lapse of time or both, would constitute an Event of Default (Incipient Default") under this Agreement.

ARTICLE III. WARRANTIES AND REPRESENTATIONS

Section 3.1. Organization. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that it is an unincorporated association validly organized and existing under the laws of, and with an office, its financial and other records and its principal place of business in, the District of Columbia; that it is a national "political committee," as defined in Section 301(4) of the FEC Act; and that it has filed with the Federal Election Commission ("FEC") or custodians for FEC as designated in the FEC Act all required registrations and reports in order to be in compliance with applicable requirements of the FEC Act and regulations thereunder.

Section 3.2. Authority; Approvals. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that the persons executing this Agreement and the Note on behalf of the Committee are duly authorized by the Committee to enter into this Agreement, to issue the Note and to bind the Committee to perform this Agreement and the Note in accordance with their respective terms; that the execution and performance of this Agreement and the Note are within the duly authorized powers of the Committee and do not contravene any law, rule, or regulation applicable to the Committee, any organizational documents, by-law or rule governing the Committee, or any contractual obligation binding upon the Committee; that the lawful execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and the Note do not require any filing with, notice to or approval by the FEC or any other governmental entity, and that this Agreement and, when issued, the Note will be valid, legal and binding obligations of the Committee enforceable in accordance with their respective terms.

Section 3.3. No Prior Interests. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that none of the Collateral described in Section 2.1 hereof is subject to any assignment, claim, security interest or other lien or encumbrance except the security interest and lien granted herein to the Bank.

Section 3.4. No Default. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that no event has occurred and no condition exists which, upon the execution of this Agreement, would constitute an Event of Default or Incipient Default hereunder, nor is the Committee in default under any other agreement, organizational document, statement of policy, by-law or other instrument to which it is a party or by which it may be bound.

ARTICLE IV. COVENANTS

Section 4.1. Records; Reports. The Committee will keep full and accurate records of all money, instruments, securities and other personal property received by or on behalf of the Committee in response to fundraising efforts or otherwise, and will permit the Bank or any of its agents to call at the Committee's office or offices at reasonable times and intervals and, without hindrance or delay, to inspect, audit, review and make extracts from such records or any other documents relating to them. Upon reasonable written request by the Bank, the Committee shall promptly deliver to the Bank copies of any financial statement or report prepared by or for the use of the Committee or filed with the FEC.

Section 4.2. Protection of Rights. The Committee agrees that, upon request by the Bank, it will execute any documents or perform any acts that may reasonably be deemed by the Bank to be necessary or appropriate for the protection of the Bank's rights under or arising out of this Agreement.

Section 4.3. Good Standing; Maintenance of Office and Records. The Committee agrees that, during the term of this Agreement, it will maintain its status as a political committee under the FEC Act; that it will comply with all registration and reporting requirements and all other applicable requirements of the FEC Act and regulations thereunder; and that it will not remove its office and principal place of business from the District of Columbia and will not transfer its financial or other records from the District of Columbia, without the prior written consent of the Bank.

Section 4.4. Receipt of Funds. All money, instruments and other personal property ("receipts") received by the Committee in response to fundraising efforts or otherwise will be delivered to the Bank as Collateral hereunder as soon as practicable after receipt by the Committee. Delivery will be made by messenger provided by the Bank no less frequently than once each Business Day. The Committee will not commingle such receipts, prior to their delivery to the Bank, with the funds or personal property of any other person and will hold such receipts expressly in trust for the Bank. Such receipts constitute part of the Collateral described in Section 2.1 hereof, and the Bank will hold and deal with them accordingly; provided that, unless and until an Event of Default occurs hereunder, the Committee shall be entitled to use all such receipts for its valid purposes and operations but shall not be entitled to use any such receipts for campaign contributions or funding until the Advance has been repaid in full.

Section 4.5. Deposit Accounts. The Committee will maintain at the Bank all of its deposit accounts, and the Committee will cause to maintain in full force and effect the Commercial Checking Account Agreement Supplement in the form as accepted by the Bank under Section 2.2(a)(iv) of this Agreement.

Section 4.6. Defense of Security Interest. The Committee will defend the Bank's security interest in the Collateral hereunder against all claims and demands of any person claiming any interest therein equal or superior to that of the Bank.

Section 4.7. Fundraising Efforts. The Committee will perform fundraising efforts in compliance with the FEC Act and other applicable laws and regulations; provided, however, that such efforts shall include at least four direct mailings to persons listed on the Inner Circle File of Contributors and other fundraising lists soliciting contributions during the period beginning with the date of this Agreement and ending May 8, 1990.

Section 4.8. Legal Compliance. The Committee shall comply with all laws, rules, regulations, orders, judgments, decrees and reporting requirements applicable to it or to its officers or assets.

Section 4.9. Indebtedness; Encumbrances. The Committee will not create, incur, assume, become obligated for or permit to exist, directly or indirectly, indebtedness of the Committee or any encumbrances of any kind upon any of its assets except (i) indebtedness and encumbrances to the Bank, and (ii) current accounts payable or accrued, incurred by the Committee in the ordinary course of its business, provided that the same are paid when due in accordance with customary trade terms.

ARTICLE V

Section 5.1. Events of Default. Each of the following shall constitute an Event of Default under this Agreement:

(a) failure by the Committee to pay or cause to be paid when due under this Agreement or upon demand by the Bank, any amount required to be paid by the Committee pursuant to Article I hereof;

(b) failure by the Committee to perform any covenant, condition or agreement which it is obligated to perform hereunder or under any other instrument or agreement binding upon it, if such failure shall continue for more than 15 days;

(c) the making or furnishing by the Committee to the Bank of any materially false representation, warranty, opinion or certificate as set forth in this Agreement or otherwise made in connection with this Agreement;

(d) the entry of a judgment, decree or order against it by any court of record for the payment of any sum of money in excess of $50,000 or prohibiting it from performing any covenant or other obligation hereunder, if such judgment, decree or order remains unstayed for a period in excess of 15 days; or

(e) the security interest in any material portion of the Collateral shall, for any reason, cease to be a valid and preferred first priority security interest.

Section 5.2. Remedies on Default. Whenever any Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing, the Bank may take any one or more of the following remedial steps:

(a) The Bank will have all of the remedial rights of a secured party and creditor under this Agreement, the Uniform Commercial Code as enacted in the applicable jurisdiction governing this Agreement, and under other applicable law, including, without limitation, the right to liquidate the collateral and apply the proceeds against the Committee's

SENATORIAL SENATORIAL WASHINGTON

March 26, 1990

Mr. John Q. Sample
123 Main Street
Anywhere, USA 12345

Dear Mr. Sample:

Very few Americans ever attend a Presidential event. But those that do take home memories that last a lifetime.

Today, I'd like to offer you the chance for such memories by extending to you an invitation to become a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join President and Mrs. Bush in Washington, D.C. for the Inner Circle's Spring Gala on May 2nd and 3rd.

Truly, no other organization offers you the opportunity to participate in closed-door briefings with Washington's power elite, have lunch with one of the Republican Party's top leaders, and then cap the evening off by joining President and Mrs. Bush at a Gala Dinner Dance.

All within a single two day trip to Washington!

Republican Senators, Cabinet members, senior White House officials, sports and entertainment celebrities will join us at our Gala Dinner Dance for an elegant evening of festivities that will kick-off our 1990 Senate campaigns.

In addition to our evening with President and Mrs. Bush, Inner Circle members will take part in all of the activities listed on the accompanying agenda.

And by accepting this invitation now, you'll also be able to join in a full year of other exciting Inner Circle events. Foremost among these will be our Fall Briefing, which will feature a special reception with Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle, traditionally held at the Vice President's residence. We'll also hold our exclusive VIP Dinners, where Inner Circle members have the opportunity to dine with the Cabinet member, Senator or senior White House official of their choice.

But perhaps the greatest asset of Inner Circle membership is that it brings together men and women who share a common commitment -- a commitment to a continuation of the strong, responsible Republican leadership that has reshaped and rejuvenated this country.

That's because 100% of your Inner Circle membership dues are escrowed in a special account to provide direct assistance to our Senate candidates, incumbents and challengers alike, to restore a Republican majority in the United States Senate.

I want to assure you that Inner Circle membership will be one of the most rewarding investments you will ever make.

To accept Inner Circle membership and secure your place at our Spring Briefing and Gala Dinner Dance, please complete the enclosed Nomination Acceptance and Spring Briefing Registration form and return it to me in the postage-paid envelope I've provided.

But please don't delay -- it is imperative that I know of your decision as soon as possible.

If you can't accept your invitation to join the Inner Circle at this time, I understand. However, I hope that you will register your approval of our goal for a Republican Senate Majority by forwarding a contribution.

I know that President Bush, Vice President Quayle and my Republican Senate colleagues will be delighted to learn that you have joined them in the ranks of our nation's leadership as a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle.

I look forward to welcoming you to our Inner Circle Spring Briefing and Gala Dinner Dance on May 2nd and 3rd!

Sincerely,

Senator Don Nickles
Chairman

P.S. Since our Gala Dinner Dance with President and Mrs. Bush will require Secret Service clearance for everyone, it is important that you include your Social Security number and date of birth on your Nomination Acceptance form. If you have any questions or need additional information, please call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106. Thank you.

REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL INNER CIRCLE
1990 SPRING BRIEFING

Senator Don Nickles
CHAIRMAN

March 19, 1990

Mr. John Sample
123 Main Street
Anywhere, Virginia 12345

Dear John:

As millions of people around the world celebrate the freedom to participate in democracy, I want to invite you to an exciting, informative and fun-filled celebration of American politics.

It's TEAM '90 -- The Inner Circle's 1990 Spring Briefing which will take place in Washington, D.C., on May 2nd and 3rd. This event will be a great celebration of American politics, American elections and our great American spirit.

But best of all, our TEAM '90 Spring Briefing will be a chance for all of us to get together to build the winning momentum which will carry our Republican candidates to victory in November.

Among the exciting events lined up for you during TEAM '90 is our exclusive "Salute to a Winning Season" gala dinner where President and Mrs. Bush will join us for an enjoyable and fun-filled evening of dining, dancing and entertainment. Also joining the First Couple will be Senators, Cabinet members, top Administration officials and sports celebrities to help us open our 1990 Senate campaign season.

I think sports is a wonderful theme for our Inner Circle Spring Briefing because nothing invigorates Americans more than a good contest. And who's had a stronger and closer contest than the Republicans and the Democrats in the U.S. Senate.

With TEAM '90, we'll introduce you to our line-up of the Republican All-Stars that we're counting on to bring our Senate team to victory in 1990.

You'll meet one of our newest stars, Congresswoman Lynn Martin, who is locked in a tight battle with liberal Senator Paul Simon in Illinois. And you'll join veteran Senator Jesse Helms who's determined to come out on top in what promises to be a fierce Senate contest in North Carolina.

Our TEAM '90 roster goes on and on, as we root for Claudine Schneider in Rhode Island, Tom Tauke in Iowa, Hank Brown in Colorado, Hal Daub in Nebraska, Mitch McConnell in Kentucky and other incumbents and challengers in hot Senate contests from coast-to-coast.

When you think about it, TEAM '90 is a great way to get us all in the spirit to go out and do our best to win in November. Acting now we can ensure that, when this election season is over, George Bush can look forward to the Republican Senate Majority he needs to keep America moving forward to a brighter future.

Our Spring Briefing begins on Wednesday, May 2nd, when we "GREET THE TEAM" at our welcome reception with Republican members of the U.S. Senate, the U.S. House of Representatives and top Bush Administration officials.

The following morning, you'll join some of our Senators and their key Senate aides at a state or regional breakfast designed to give you the chance to get acquainted with them and with fellow Inner Circle members from your area of the country.

Our morning session will bring you face to face with some of the nation's top political strategists -- the media experts, consultants and pollsters who read the pulse of the electorate and help turn out the winning votes that will bring about a solid GOP victory in November.

In addition, you'll also meet our TEAM '90 ALL-STARS, the candidates we're counting on to score the impressive victories to once again put the U.S. Senate in Republican hands.

Our "PRESIDENT'S TEAM" luncheon will honor a member of the President's Cabinet and you'll hear an insider's view from someone who is working side by side with our President in shaping the America of the 1990's.

We've set aside the afternoon session of our Spring Briefing for a serious discussion of some of the most important issues presently facing our legislators. At TEAM '90, you'll join with Republican Senators, Cabinet members and Administration officials for a full day of policy briefings on the major issues of the day.

We are making special efforts to ensure that there is plenty of time for "give and take" discussions between our featured speakers and our members.

Finally, we'll cap our TEAM '90 gathering with a spectacular "SALUTE TO A WINNING SEASON" gala dinner and dance which will feature President and Mrs. Bush and bring together a wide array of Senators, challengers, Administration officials and sports celebrities.

Please see the enclosed agenda which lists all of our TEAM '90 events as well as information about air travel and hotel accommodations.

To register for TEAM '90 simply fill out the enclosed registration material and return it along with your 1990 membership commitment to me today.

As is policy with all Inner Circle events, your membership must be a fully renewed in order for you to participate in TEAM '90. Please, if you have not already done so, take a moment now to return your annual membership commitment of $1,000 ($2,000 per couple). By renewing at this time, you can show President Bush that he can continue to count on you to help him score the needed victories in November.

Remember, from the moment he took office President Bush offered the Democrats in Congress the opportunity to be part of the new team that would continue to build a better America. Unfortunately, these Democrats have consistently proven that they're determined to defeat the President at every turn.

That's why it's up to all of us to give our President the extra support he needs to help him win the majority -- and win it big in 1990!

Your participation at TEAM '90 is important. It's a way of showing our President that he can continue to count on you to help even the score in the United States Senate -- starting this year!

Please support our 1990 Senate team and register for the Spring Briefing today.

I look forward to seeing you in Washington on May 2nd and 3rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Don Nickles
Chairman

P.S. Joining in the excitement of TEAM '90 makes you an important part in our plans for a big Republican win in November!

So, plan now to join President and Mrs. Bush and all of my Republican colleagues for TEAM '90 here in Washington. Please use the enclosed Registration Form to renew your membership with a contribution of $1,000 ($2,000 per couple) and to register for our TEAM '90 Spring Briefing today. Thank you.

BOB DOLE

Mr. John Sample
123 Any Street
Anywhere, VA 12345

Dear Mr. Sample:

On behalf of my colleagues in the United States Senate, it is my privilege to invite you to accept membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle for a private reception on the grounds of the Vice President's residence.

Senator John Warner placed your name in nomination because he believes your accomplishments and commitment to our nation prove you worthy of membership in this prestigious organization.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of individuals who gather together on a regular basis to discuss national and regional topics in a comfortable mix of business and social gatherings.

Our next Inner Circle Briefing will be held in Washington, D.C., on September 23rd and 24th. The schedule for this event includes the private reception at the Vice President's residence, a full day of closed-door briefings by key Washington officials, and a members-only luncheon featuring one of the Republican Party's most noteworthy leaders.

You are also invited to participate in something truly unique to the Inner Circle.

On Monday evening, September 24th, you'll be joining a Republican Senator, Cabinet member or high-ranking Bush Administration official at one of our special VIP dinners. These private dinners, limited to Inner Circle members only, are held in private homes, elegant restaurants and hotels, and at beautiful historical sites.

Hosts of past Inner Circle VIP dinners have included Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Jack Kemp, and Senators Phil Gramm, Nancy Kassebaum, Connie Mack and Pete Wilson, among others.

It will also be my privilege to host one of these dinners personally.

Since reservations to this event are limited, I hope you will return your Nomination Acceptance today to reserve your place at the Fall Briefing.

As the enclosed agenda for the September meeting notes, Inner Circle members will have an opportunity to meet with many key government officials. Through panel discussions and question-and-answer sessions, Inner Circle members will attend a series of briefings on the political and economic upheavals sweeping across Eastern Europe, trade and monetary policy and the 1990 elections with national and international leaders.

Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, former Secretary of State George Shultz, White House Chief of Staff John Sununu and former Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick are among the many well-known officials who have in the past taken an active role in personally briefing Inner Circle members.

But of course the Inner Circle's schedule of events won't be over this fall. Nominees who join at this time will also be eligible for a full twelve months of Inner Circle activities both here in Washington and around the country. You'll be kept abreast of upcoming events on a regular basis, including the 1991 Inner Circle Spring Briefing, which traditionally features a dinner hosted by the President.

Many other benefits are made available to Inner Circle members. These are explained more fully in the enclosed Inner Circle Membership Prospectus. The financial details of Inner Circle membership are also covered in the accompanying Membership Prospectus.

After reviewing the agenda for our Spring Briefing and the Membership Prospectus, I hope that you will agree with me that Inner Circle membership is a worthwhile investment of your time and commitment.

Since plans for our Fall Briefing -- especially the private reception with Vice President Quayle -- must be made many weeks ahead of time, it is imperative that I hear from you soon as to whether or not you will accept this nomination to join the Inner Circle. So please fill out the enclosed Inner Circle Nomination Acceptance and return it as soon as possible.

I look forward to welcoming you to Washington on September 23rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Bob Dole
Senate Republican Leader

P.S. It is important that you fill out all information regarding your date of birth and Social Security number when accepting your Inner Circle nomination, as this information is required by the Secret Service for clearance to all events with President Bush and Vice President Quayle.

If you have any questions concerning Inner Circle membership, please feel free to call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106.

Republican Senatorial Inner Circle

January 1981

MEMBERSHIP PROSPECTUS

PURPOSE

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is dedicated to advancing America's heritage of freedom and prosperity by recapturing a Republican Majority in the United States Senate. Founded in 1979, the Inner Circle was instrumental in electing a Republican Senate Majority in 1980, and in preserving that majority in 1982 and 1984.

Members are nominated by a U.S. Senator and represent an impressive cross-section of American society — community leaders, business executives, entrepreneurs, retirees, sports and entertainment celebrities — with a deep interest in our nation's prosperity and security.

As a member of the Inner Circle, you will be encouraged to forge personal contacts with Republican Senators, senior White House officials, Cabinet secretaries and Party leaders. Toward that end, you will be invited to Inner Circle members only gatherings in Washington, D.C. and around the country. These meetings provide direct, straightforward briefings on world and national events with key decision makers at the highest levels of our government.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

While there are many benefits to Inner Circle membership, perhaps the most rewarding are the twice annual Inner Circle Briefings. Held in Washington, D.C., these gatherings bring together Washington's top policy makers with Inner Circle members in both business and social settings.

■ Annual Inner Circle Spring Briefing

■ Annual Inner Circle Fall Briefing

Featuring closed door briefings, a private reception traditionally hosted by the Vice President, and the choice of a VIP dinner hosted by Republican Senators, Cabinet secretaries and Administration officials at a historic Washington landmark or internationally acclaimed restaurant.

■ Exclusive Publications

Two exclusive publications, POLITICAL CIRCLE and GOPeople, are provided to report on campaign and political developments, profile Senate candidates and keep members up-to-date on Inner Circle events.

■ Members-only Hotline

Toll-free hotline to the Inner Circle office in Washington, D.C., where Inner Circle staff can provide up-to-the-minute information on pending legislation, congressional hearings, administration policy and, of course, upcoming Inner Circle activities.

■ Inner Circle Staff

Assistance by Inner Circle staff in arranging White House tours and obtaining passes to the Senate and House galleries and information on other Washington landmarks.

■ Other Benefits

Distinctive lapel insignia, personalized Inner Circle Membership Card and Regional Membership Directory.

MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Inner Circle membership entails an annual commitment of $1,000 per person ($2,000 per couple). Since 100% of the membership dues is used solely for direct contributions and campaign assistance to Republican Senate candidates, a conference fee to cover meeting costs is assessed to members attending our events. Conference fees average $250-$300 per person for all events at a meeting.

Inner Circle

Dear Inner Circle Nominee:

It's one of the most historic homes in America.

And, because it's also the home of one of America's most famous families, few individuals decline an invitation to attend an event there.

That's why I'm writing to you today.

Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle have graciously invited the members of the Inner Circle to join them for a reception on the lawn of the Vice President's residence during the Inner Circle's Fall Briefing, September 23rd and 24th.

By now, you have already heard from both Vice President Quayle and Senator Bob Dole inviting you to become a member of this prestigious group. If you have already responded to their invitations, thank you. If not, it is imperative that I hear from you today -- one way or the other -- so I know whether or not to include you in the planning for our Fall Briefing.

I know that you do not want to be left out.

Truly, no other organization offers you the opportunity to meet the Vice President and his wife at their home, participate in closed-door briefings with national and international figures, and then top the evening off by joining a Senator, Cabinet member or U.S. Senate candidate for a private dinner.

All within a single two day trip to Washington!

By accepting this invitation now, you'll also be able to participate in a full year's worth of exciting Inner Circle activities.

Perhaps the greatest asset about membership in the

Inner Circle is that it brings together men and women who share a common commitment -- a commitment to a continuation of the strong, responsible Republican leadership which has re-shaped and rejuvenated this country during the past ten years.

That's because 100% of your membership dues to the Inner Circle are used to provide vital campaign assistance for our Senate candidates, incumbents and challengers alike, to restore the Republican majority in the United States Senate.

I want to assure you that Inner Circle membership will be one of the most rewarding investments you will ever make.

To accept your Inner Circle membership and secure your place for all of our upcoming events, please complete the enclosed Nomination Acceptance and Fall Briefing Registration form, and return it to me in the enclosed postage-paid envelope.

Please don't delay -- it is imperative that I have this information in hand as soon as possible.

If you can't accept your Inner Circle nomination at this time, I understand. However, I would hope that you will register your approval of our quest for a Republican Senate Majority by forwarding a contribution.

I know that President Bush, Vice President Quayle and my Republican Senate colleagues will be delighted to learn that you have joined them in the ranks of our nation's leadership as a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle.

I look forward to seeing you at the Vice President's residence on September 23rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Don Nickles
Chairman

P.S. Since our reception with Vice President and Mrs. Quayle requires Secret Service clearance for everyone, it is mandatory that you include your social security number and date of birth on your membership acceptance form. If you have any questions or need additional information, please call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106. Thank you.

'Public' Financing, Thanks to Wealthy Republican Donors

It wasn't that long ago that the Democratic and Republican Senatorial campaign committees had trouble raising enough money to "max out" — that is, to put the maximum legal level of funding into each of the competitive races for the US Senate.

The National Republican Senatorial Committee first hit full stride during the early 1980s, while Democrats were first able to max out in the most competitive races in 1986. Since then, both committees — particularly the Republicans — have tried hard to shoehorn every dollar they possibly can into tight contests.

The GOP has been on the cutting edge of testing and extending their reach around the Federal Election Campaign Act. A new effort already underway may be their most innovative attempt yet.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of several thousand well-heeled donors that give between $1,000 and $5,000 a year to the National Republican Senatorial Committee; it's been in existence for years.

Twice a year, Inner Circle members (read donors) come to Washington to be "briefed" by GOP Congressional and Administration officials and to be wined and dined. Between meetings, members get newsletters, tour passes, and other constituent-like service from the NRSC.

In the past, group proceeds went directly into NRSC coffers, which combined with fundraising from other sources such as direct mail, go toward an annual dinner and the Senatorial Trust ($10,000 a year). The money filled the committee's war chest for contributions to Senatorial candidates and covered the overhead expenses of the committee itself.

Legally, the NRSC and the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee can contribute up to $17,500 to each of its candidates, plus spend an additional sum, depending upon the size of the state, on behalf of their candidates in so-called "coordinated expenditures."

Based on a complicated formula (two cents multiplied by the voting age population with a built-in inflation escalator), the limits in this year's Senate contests range from a low of $100,245.92 in the smallest states to a high of $1,210,541.28 in the largest. Combined, the total is $10,840,253.92 for 1990.

The NRSC has been able to "max out" in the competitive races with money to spare, so the committee recently retooled its Inner Circle to funnel significantly more funds into key races over and above that allowed by law.

It's a move one envious Democratic strategist called "brilliant" and conceded was entirely within the law. The money never technically passes through the NRSC treasury and doesn't count towards the legal limits. It operates like this: Jane Doe, responding to a direct mail invitation to join the Circle, writes a $1,000 check made payable to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990.

According to the material accompanying the solicitation, 29 percent, or $290 of the contribution, would be divided equally among ten GOP incumbents facing re-election this year: Rudy Boschwitz (Minn), Thad Cochran (Miss), Bill Cohen (Maine), Pete Domenici (NM), Phil Gramm (Texas), Mark Hatfield (Ore), Alan Simpson (Wyo), Ted Stevens (Alaska), Strom Thurmond (SC), and John Warner (Va). In effect, each of these candidates would receive a contribution from Jane Doe for $29.

Fifty-eight percent of the contribution ($580) would be divided among 16 other 1990 GOP candidates. Contributions of $36.25 in Doe's name would go to seven non-incumbents specified in the material: Ben Bagert (La), Hank Brown (Colo), Bill Cabaniss (Ala), Hal Daub (Neb), Lynn Martin (Ill), Claudine Schneider (RI), Bob Smith (NH), and Tom Tauke (Iowa).

The eventual winners in four other states with contested nominations (Idaho, Massachusetts, Michigan, and Montana) would also get $36.25 from Doe, as would three other GOP Senate incumbents: Jesse Helms (NC), Mitch McConnell (Ky), and Larry Pressler (SD).

Another 12 percent ($120) would be split among 20 incumbents who won't be up for re-election until 1992 or 1994. Kit Bond (Mo), Conrad Burns (Mont), John Chafee (RI), Alfonse D'Amato (NY), David Durenberger (Minn), Jake Garn (Utah), Stade Gorton (Wash), John Heinz (Pa), Jim Jeffords (Vt), Bob Kasten (Wis), Trent Lott (Miss), Richard Lugar (Ind), Connie Mack (Fla), John McCain (Ariz), Frank Murkowski (Alaska), Don Nickles (Okla), Bob Packwood (Ore), Arlen Specter (Pa), Steve Symms (Idaho), and Malcolm Wallop (Wyo) would each get $6 from Circle members.

Though there are a few obvious incumbents on the list who are unlikely to face a serious challenge, for the most part this is a who's who of the 1992 and 1994 Democratic targets.

While Common Cause will probably view such a program with dismay, and Democrats will be feeling a combination of admiration and fear, this is the cleanest possible money in American politics. A contributor who gives Jake Garn, for ex-

One envious Democratic strategist called the NRSC's new fundraising plan 'brilliant' and conceded it was entirely legal.

Re: MUR 3135 (Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990
and Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91)

Dear Mr. Noble:

This Response, including the attached Affidavits and Exhibits, is submitted on behalf of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 (the "Inner Circle joint fundraising committees") and their treasurer, James L. Hagen, in reply to a Complaint filed by Common Cause and designated Matter Under Review ("MUR") 3135. The Complaint alleges that the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees and their participant committees violated the contribution limits and reporting requirements of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the "Act"). For the reasons set forth herein, the Federal Election Commission ("FEC" or "Commission") should find no reason to believe that either the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees or any participating committees in the joint fundraisers have violated any provision of the Act.

FACTS

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 ("Inner Circle '90") and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 ("Inner Circle '90-91") are two distinct joint fundraising committees^{1/} registered with the Federal Election Commission

^{1/} Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 are separate and distinct entities. Each committee has registered separately with the Federal Election Commission, each committee accounts for its own receipts and disbursements; and each files separate disclosure reports with the Commission. Inner Circle '90 was created in February 1990 and Inner Circle '90-91 was established in August 1990. Although their compositions overlap to an extent, the Inner Circle committees are composed of different participating committees, with some candidate committees choosing to participate in one but not the other joint fundraiser. See footnote 3, infra. As a result, the allocation formulas for receipts also vary between Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91.

Because of their similarities, the two committees will be discussed concurrently as the "Inner Circle joint fundraising committees." Nevertheless, the two committees cannot be treated as a single legal entity, as the Complaint in this Matter did. For instance, Common Cause alleges that "[i]n [a] second-round solicitation, the NRSC changed the allocation formula." See Complaint at ¶ 9. The allocation formula for each committee has not changed since it was agreed upon by the participating committees at the time the committee was established. In fact, the "change" in pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b)(1). Established and operated entirely within the joint fundraising provisions of the Commission's regulations, found at 11 C.F.R. § 102.17, Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 are composed of the authorized campaign committees of numerous Republican candidates for the United States Senate and the National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC).

A. Inception of Inner Circle

Both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 were created as mechanisms for cooperative fundraising efforts among Republican Senate candidates. The joint fundraising committees promote candidate involvement in the fundraising process. These joint fundraising committees provide candidates with a way to raise funds collectively from potential supporters with a single solicitation and from a single check. Affidavit of Albert E. Mitchler in MUR 3135 (hereinafter "Mitchler Aff.") at ¶¶ 3 and 4, attached hereto at Tab 1. The contribution is then distributed among each of allocations noted in the Complaint is a comparison of the respective allocation formulas of the two committees. The difference in allocation formulas between the two Inner Circle committees was a result of different numbers of participants and different negotiations.

the candidates, as specified in the allocation formula in the solicitation. The committees provide an efficient way for contributors who would like to see a majority of the U.S. Senate controlled by Republicans to make donations to multiple candidates who share their political views. At the same time, each Inner Circle committee provided assurance to contributors that their donations to these joint fundraising committees would be transferred directly to the specified participants. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 4.

All campaigns of incumbent Republican U.S. Senators and all announced Republican candidates for the 1990 election to the U.S. Senate as of January, 1990 had the opportunity to attend an initial meeting to discuss establishing the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees in February, 1990. Id. at ¶ 5. See also, Affidavit of Jo-Anne L. Coe in MUR 3135 (hereinafter "Coe Aff.") at ¶2, attached hereto at Tab 3; Affidavit of Niels C. Holch in MUR 3135 (hereinafter "Holch Aff.") at ¶ 1, attached hereto at Tab 4. At that meeting, all aspects of the joint fundraising proposal were reviewed, and the nature of the fundraising activity was debated. Each attending campaign committee took from the meeting a draft version of the Inner Circle materials. Holch Aff. at ¶ 3.

Thereafter, several Republican committees declined to participate in the proposed joint fundraising committees,^{2/} and others negotiated over their relative allocation of receipts. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 6; Coe Aff. at ¶¶ 4 and 5; Holch Aff. at ¶¶ 3-5.

B. Allocation Formula

Based on a series of negotiations among representatives from the participating committees, the campaigns that decided to participate eventually arrived at a mutually agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of receipts and the payment of expenses of the committee among the participants.

^{2/} At the time Inner Circle '90 was established, the party nominees in some states had not yet been chosen. Accordingly, all announced candidates were given an opportunity to participate with the understanding that the winner of the primary would receive the allocation of contributions. These contingent participants in Inner Circle '90 were Larry Craig for U.S. Senate and Jim Jones for Idaho Committee; Dan Daly Committee and Rappaport for Senate; John Domenech for U.S. Senate, Montanans for Farrell, Kolstad for U.S. Senate Committee, and Bruce Vorhauer for U.S. Senate Committee; and Durant for Senate and Bill Schuette for U.S. Senate.

Additionally, Jane Brady for U.S. Senate, Saiki in '90 Committee, and Christine Whitman for U.S. Senate participated in Inner Circle '90-91 but not in Inner Circle '90. Finally, the campaigns of the following incumbent Republican Senators chose not to participate in either joint fundraising committee: Senators John Danforth, Robert Dole, Charles Grassley, Orrin Hatch, Nancy Kassebaum, William V. Roth, Jr., and Warren Rudman. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 6.

Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7; Holch Aff. at ¶ 4. These percentages were the subject of much bargaining among the participants, and the final amounts reflected intensive negotiations and compromise among all participants. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7. The final allocation was the result of such factors as incumbency (with challengers and candidates for open seats seeking and receiving a higher percentage), the presence of a substantive opponent, and whether the participant was involved in a 1990 election. Id.

Based on that compromise, all participants agreed to a joint fundraising agreement which stated the allocation formula. A copy of the Inner Circle '90 Joint Fundraising Agreement is attached hereto at Tab 5; the Inner Circle '90-91 Joint Fundraising Agreement is attached hereto at Tab 6.

C. Designated Fundraising Representative

With the creation of the Inner Circles, the participants chose to establish separate reporting committees to act as the designated fundraising representative of the joint fundraising committees, pursuant to 11 C.F.R.

§ 102.17(a)(1)(i). Although the FEC regulations permit a participant in the joint fundraiser to serve as the designated agent, separate committees were established to assure that receipts of the joint fundraiser were separately maintained and accounted for. Affidavit of James L. Hagen in MUR 3135 (hereinafter "Hagen Aff.") at ¶ 3, attached hereto at Tab 2. Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 each registered with the Federal Election Commission as joint fundraising committees, listing all their respective participants. Id. at ¶ 4. Copies of the Inner Circle Statements of Organization are attached hereto at Tabs 7 and 8. Each of these committees was responsible for collecting contributions, paying fundraising costs and disbursing net proceeds among the participants pursuant to the procedures set out at 11 C.F.R. § 102.17. Id. at ¶ 3. The committees had their own independent identities, separate from each other and any of their participants. For example, each committee applied for and received a separate employer tax identification number from the Internal Revenue Service. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 5. See Applications for Employer Tax Identification Number, attached hereto at Tabs 9 and 10.

Each participating committee was notified, both orally at an organizational meeting and in writing in a memorandum distributed to all potential participants, of the requirement that participating committees amend their own Statements of Organization to reflect the appropriate Inner Circle entity as an authorized committee and to identify the Inner Circle's bank as a separate depository account of each participant. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 6. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3).

All expenses of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were borne by the respective joint fundraising committees and paid out of the gross receipts prior to disbursement of any contributions among the participants. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 13. Each Inner Circle committee obtained a $300,000 bank loan secured by its mailing lists and future receipts. Id. at ¶ 7. Copies of the Loan Agreements are attached hereto at Tabs 11 and 12. The initial direct costs of fundraising (initial production, postage, purchase of mailing lists, etc.) were paid out of these funds. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 7. Once the Inner Circle committees began to receive contributions, their expenses, as well as the repayment of those loans, were paid out of their incoming receipts. The initial loans have been repaid in full. Id.

The administrative costs of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees' activities (salaries, phone, electricity, equipment and supplies, office space, etc.) have also been paid by the Inner Circle committees. The day-to-day operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were executed by personnel of the NRSC at its headquarters, but the Inner Circle committees reimbursed the NRSC for these expenses. Id. at ¶ 8. James L. Hagen, Treasurer of both Inner Circle joint fundraising committees, identified those persons on NRSC payroll who provided administrative assistance to the Inner Circle committees, and with the assistance of Albert E. Mitchler, he determined the percentage of their time spent performing Inner Circle functions, and computed the sum of that portion of their salaries, employer share of taxes, health insurance premiums, fringe benefits, etc. To that figure was added the overhead rate for operation of the NRSC's building (e.g., computer, electricity, phone service, interest on mortgage, etc.) as determined by the external audits of the NRSC for the two previous years. Id. at ¶ 9. This procedure was verified by two outside certified public accountants as a reasonable and appropriate method of computing the allocation of overhead. Id. The Inner Circle committees received bills from the NRSC for these expenses once that accounting process was complete, and the Inner Circle committees promptly paid those bills, as documented in the Inner Circle committees' FEC disclosure reports.^{2/} Hagen Aff. at ¶ 10. See also FEC Reports attached hereto at Tab 11 and 12.

E. Solicitations and Disclaimers

Each of the solicitation letters for contributions to Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 included a joint fundraising notice that clearly stated: 1) the names of all participating committees; 2) the allocation formula for all funds received; 3) a statement that contributors could designate their contributions to a particular participant or participants; 4) a statement that the allocation would change if a contribution would violate the permissible contributions limits; and 5) a statement that contributions from corporations or labor unions which are prohibited under the Act would be allocated solely to the NRSC. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 9. See sample solicitation letters for Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 attached hereto at Tabs 15 and 16.

^{2/} Those administrative costs through October 18, 1990 were paid on October 19, 1990, over two weeks before the general election. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 10. The NRSC's post-general disclosure report indicates that over $1.7 million in cash contributions and coordinated expenditures were released to candidates (many of whom were participants in the joint fundraising committees) between October 19 and November 26, 1990. The advance for indirect expenses of the Inner Circle committees was repaid to the NRSC before that time. Id.

Lastly, the joint fundraising notices indicated that no contributions from the same state as a participating candidate committee would be allocated to that campaign.^{4/} Those funds would either be reallocated to other committees in the same "tier" or reallocated solely to the NRSC.^{5/} Id.

^{4/} As part of the negotiation process for the allocation formula, many participating committees expressed the concern that Inner Circle receipts would make it harder to ensure that contributions did not exceed the permissible limits from their own constituents who would also give directly to their campaigns. As a result, the participants decided jointly to allocate these receipts to reduce their potential of receiving excess contributions. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 10.

^{5/} The solicitation notices for Inner Circle '90 stated that contributions from the same state as a participating committee "would be allocated solely as a contribution to the National Republican Senatorial Committee." See joint fundraising notice for Inner Circle '90 at Tab 15. However, regulations require that distributions that would violate the law's contribution limits require reallocation which "shall be based on the remaining participants' proportionate shares under the allocation formula." 11 C.F.R §102.17 (c)(6)(i).

The decision to reallocate "home state" contributions, was a voluntary one of the participants, not one required by law, so it was unclear whether this reallocation formula for impermissible contributions was applicable. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 16. Nevertheless, the computer program created by the joint fundraising committee did reattribute "home state" contributions (as well as PAC money originally allocated to participants who had made campaign promises not to accept these funds) among other candidates in the same "tier," rather than transferring the money to the NRSC. The disclaimer in Inner Circle '90-91 was revised to reflect that state of affairs. Id. See joint fundraising notice for Inner Circle '90-91 at Tab 16.

F. Mailing Lists

The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees mailed fundraising letters to potential contributors using mailing lists obtained from a variety of sources. Inner Circle '90 mailed to approximately 400,000 households and Inner Circle '90-91 mailed to approximately 340,000 homes. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 8. The Inner Circle committees compiled the vast majority of names (approximately 80-85 percent) from renting commercial mailing lists from commercial vendors. Id. at ¶ 11.

Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 also rented about 15 percent of the names (approximately 16,000 names) from the NRSC. To ensure that neither the NRSC nor the joint fundraising committees derived excess advantage from this rental, the NRSC charged the Inner Circle committees a premium rate comparable to commercial lists of similar composition and proven donor potential, charging $.15 per name in rent. Id. at ¶ 12. Finally, the joint fundraising committees also mailed fundraising letters to approximately 4,500 names and addresses that it received from the participating campaign committees. Id. at ¶ 13.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

21040870817
Following the conclusion of the 1990 elections, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have sold their donor lists to the NRSC. Because the Inner Circles will soon terminate and an ongoing rental arrangement is not practicable, the Treasurer recommended and the List Management Committee determined that the names should be sold instead of rented. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 12. Like the rental price paid by the Inner Circles, the determination of a purchase price for the NRSC was based on the premium rate for comparable lists in the commercial direct-mail market given of the proven donor potential of those names. The Inner Circle committees charged the NRSC $1.50 per name for these lists. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 14.

G. Involvement of Participating Committees

From the very beginning, all participants in the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were involved in the decision making and activities of the joint fundraiser. A representative from each participating committee attended the organizational meeting in February, 1990. See Coe Aff. at ¶ 2; Holch Aff. at ¶ 1. As explained above, the nature of the joint fundraiser was determined by the negotiations and subsequent involvement of all of the participating committees. See also Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 15. Their bargaining determined the allocation formula among all the participating candidates. Holch Aff. at ¶ 4. Participating committees were involved in the "nomination" process for potential contributors from their states (through provision of their own fundraising lists to the joint fundraising committees), and participating committees also worked closely with the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees during the development and approval of the solicitation package. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 15. Finally, each candidate who participated in either Inner Circle committee obligated himself or herself to take part in the conferences held in Washington, D.C. for contributors to the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees. Id. See Coe Aff. at ¶ 5; Holch Aff. at ¶ 3. The details of these seminars are discussed more thoroughly in the solicitation letters attached to the Complaint in this Matter See also Tabs 15 and 16.

H. Allocation and Reallocation of Contributions

As was clearly stated in the joint fundraising agreements and the notices to contributors, the NRSC received one percent of the net proceeds from both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91. In addition to the fixed-percentage allocation of contributions received by the NRSC, the joint fundraising agreement also provided that the NRSC non-federal account would receive any funds from that Inner Circles' nonfederal accounts (composed of contributions from corporations and labor unions). These receipts to the non-federal account have been substantial. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 15.

I. Transfers to Participating Committees

In accordance with the allocation formula established by the joint fundraising agreements, the Inner Circle committees distributed all receipts to the participating committees after the expenses of the Inner Circles, including the computation and payment of overhead to the NRSC, had been paid out of the gross receipts. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 13.

Documentation of these distributions appears in the Inner Circles' FEC reports attached hereto at Tabs 13 and 14.

Slight discrepancies in the amounts that may have occurred among members of the same "tier" of the allocation formula are a result of individual contributions specifically designated for particular participants, contributions from the same state as the participating committee, and marginal rounding by the computer. Id. at ¶ 14.

J. Reporting

Both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 have filed monthly, pre-general, and post-general reports with the Commission since their establishment. These reports detail all contributions, expenditures and transfers of the committees since their inception. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 17. Copies of the FEC disclosure reports for Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 are attached hereto at Tabs 13 and 14, respectively.

ARGUMENT

When all the rhetoric and straw arguments are stripped away, the logic of Common Cause's Complaint is this: 1) The NRSC organized an earmarked contribution program with the designation "Inner Circle." See Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148, 149 (D.D.C. 1990). 2) The permissibility of that program is still being litigated today.^{6/} 3) In 1990, two joint fundraising committees were created bearing the same

^{6/} In the Common Cause v. FEC matter, the Court of Appeals has ruled that, because NRSC was not a party to that case, the decision is not binding upon the NRSC. Common Cause v. FEC, C.A. No. 90-5317 (D.C. Cir., 1990). A separate action filed by the Federal Election Commission against the NRSC is still pending. FEC v. NRSC et al., No. 90-2055 (GAG) (D.D.C., filed August 24, 1990).

name as the 1986 program. One of the participants in these committees is the NRSC. 4) Thus, Common Cause asserts, without regard for the laws and regulations governing joint fundraising, or the distinguishing facts in this case, that these joint fundraising committees must be considered to be earmarked contribution programs, and unlawful.

Common Cause's Complaint is flawed in numerous respects. It misrepresents the facts; misapplies the Commission's regulations on earmarked contribution programs; misinterprets the law governing joint fundraising committees and "misses the boat" in its interpretation of Congressional intent and FEC policy regarding contribution limits and the role of national parties in fundraising for candidates. As this Response demonstrates, the Inner Circle committees are bona fide joint fundraising committees following the letter and spirit of the law. Second, the regulations governing earmarked contribution programs have no application here as a matter of law, nor do the facts of this case support the recasting of this program as an earmarked contribution program (which it certainly is not). The balance of policy interest served by joint fundraising committees and achieved by Congress and the Commission would be upset if clearly inappropriate restrictions were applied to such ventures. Finally, the nature of joint fundraising activities works no disservice on the Commission's objectives and the policy interests intended by Congress, and may in fact promote those policies.

- I. Both Of The Inner Circle Joint Fundraising Committees Are Legitimate And Bona Fide Joint Fundraising Committees Within the Letter and Spirit of the Law.

From the very beginning of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees' existence, these committees have been meticulous in their observance of the regulations governing joint fundraising committees. Their objectives are completely permissible ones: to allow multiple candidates to raise funds collectively from supporters who contribute with a single check and to assure those contributors that their contributions would be directed completely toward the specified participants in pre-designated percentages. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 4. These committees have followed the prescriptions of the law every step of the way.

The Commission's joint fundraising regulations provide that political committees engaged in joint fundraising "shall either establish a separate committee or select a participating committee, to act as fundraising representative for all participants." 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(1)(i). Once the participants in the Inner Circles decided to form the joint fundraisers, they determined that, to avoid even an appearance of impropriety, a separate designated fundraising representative should be created instead of permitting one of the participating committees to serve in that capacity. The regulations further provide that the "separate committee shall be a reporting political committee," id. at § 102.17(b)(1), and thus, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were created and registered with the FEC. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 1. See also FEC Statements of Organization attached hereto as Tabs 7 and 8. The regulations expressly state that "The participants in joint fundraising activity may include political party committees . . . [and] candidate committees" 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(2).

According to the regulations, the fundraising representative "shall establish a separate depository to be used solely for the receipt and disbursement of the joint fundraising proceeds." Id. at § 102.17(c)(3). Moreover, "[e]ach participant shall amend its Statement of Organization to reflect the account as an additional depository." Id. Accordingly, the Inner Circle committees set up separate bank accounts and notified participants to amend their Statements of Organization. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 6. A separate nonfederal account was established for contributions from corporations or labor unions, with the understanding that these receipts would be distributed only to the nonfederal account of the NRSC, the only participant which could accept non-federal funds. Id. at ¶ 15. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3)(iii).

Next, the participants determined a mutually agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of receipts, as required by 11 C.F.R. §102.17(c)(1). After much negotiation, the participants agreed on an allocation formula, Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7, and the joint fundraising agreements were drafted to incorporate all the terms of the joint fundraising venture. Copies of the joint fundraising agreements are attached hereto at Tabs 5 and 6. See also Holch Aff. at ¶ 4.

The Inner Circles have followed the instruction of the regulations to determine how expenses of the joint fundraising committees would be paid. The regulations permit a participant to advance funds to, or pay the expenses of, a joint fundraising committee up to the contribution limits imposed by 11 C.F.R. § 110. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(7)(B). The plain meaning of this provision would permit the NRSC to advance to the joint fundraising committees the costs of expenses up to its total contribution limits (including cash contributions and coordinated expenditures) for all other participants. Nevertheless, the participants decided to seek commercial bank loans for the direct operating costs until contributions were received to cover these costs. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 7. The NRSC only advanced to the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees the indirect costs of the joint fundraiser, by providing personnel, office space and supplies to administer the projects. These amounts were reimbursed to the NRSC from the gross receipts of the joint fundraising committees. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 8.

The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees followed the instruction of the regulations in creating its solicitation letters. As prescribed, all solicitations included the following fundraising notices: 1) the names of all participating committees; 2) the allocation formula for all funds received; 3) a statement that contributors could designate their contributions to a particular participant or participants; 4) a statement that the allocation would change if a contribution would violate the permissible contributions limits; and 5) a statement that contributions from corporations or labor unions which are prohibited under the Act would be allocated solely to the NRSC. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 9. See 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2). Sample solicitation letters are attached hereto at Tabs 15 and 16.

The participants determined that all expenses would be paid by the fundraising representative from the gross proceeds of the joint fundraiser, and the distribution of any receipts among the participants would be delayed until all expenses, including the advances from the NRSC, had been paid. See id. at §§ 102.17(c)(3)(ii) and 102.17(c)(7)(B)(iii); see also Art. III, section C of the respective joint fundraising agreements at Tabs 5 and 6. Once the expenses had been paid, the net receipts were distributed among the participants according to the predetermined allocation formulas. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 13.

These transfers to the participants from the joint fundraising committees are not reportable contributions from the NRSC, or any other participant, because they are expressly exempted from the contribution limits of section 110. 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(c)(2).

Since their establishment, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have filed monthly reports with the Commission detailing all activity of the joint fundraisers in compliance with 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(4) and (8). See copies of these FEC reports attached hereto at Tabs 13 and 14.

B. The NRSC's Participation in a Joint Fundraising Committee is Permissible.

In spite of the Inner Circles' careful efforts to comply with the joint fundraising regulations, Common Cause argues that there is something that is somehow suspect simply from the participation of a political party committee in a joint fundraiser. Section 102.17(a)(1) of the Commission's regulations defines "joint fundraising committees" and permits them to include all "political committees" (see id. at § 100.5), as well as unregistered committees and organizations. Section 102.17(a)(2) goes on to expressly allow party committees to take part, stating, "The participants in a joint fundraiser may include political party committees (whether or not they are political committees under 11 CFR 100.5), candidate committees, multicandidate committees and unregistered organizations...."

Political party committees have on numerous occasions been participants in joint fundraising committees that have been approved by the Commission. See FEC Advisory Opinions 1977-14, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) ¶ 5246, (1977) (DSCC and DCCC); FEC Advisory Opinion 1977-61, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) ¶ 5291, (1977) (state Democratic party); FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-12, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) ¶ 5395 (1979) (local Democratic committee); FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-35, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5423 (1979) (DSCC).

Moreover, there is no reason why a political party participant in a joint fundraiser could not act as the fundraising representative. The regulations expressly permit one participant to serve as the designated fundraising agent, advancing funds, supplies and personnel within permissible limits. See id. at § 102.17(b). Necessarily, that means one participant must take an active role. See, e.g., FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-35, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide

(CCH) at ¶ 5423 (1979); FEC Advisory Opinion 1977-8, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5254 (1977); and FEC Advisory Opinion 1988-24; Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5929 (1988). Complainants cannot point to any provision suggesting otherwise. Although the participants in the Inner Circle Committees established separate fundraising representatives, the regulations contemplate that the NRSC could have maintained a much more active role than it did.

C. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees and the NRSC are separate entities.

Throughout the Complaint, Common Cause intimates that the NRSC controlled the Inner Circle Committees to such a degree that these committees were simply the alter egos of the NRSC. These allegations are utterly false. Despite the clear permission for the NRSC (or any other participant) to serve as the designated fundraising representative, see 11 C.F.R. 102.17(a)(1)(i), the Inner Circle participants decided to establish separate reporting committees to avoid even the appearance that the NRSC was controlling the funds of the joint fundraisers. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 3. Those separate reporting joint fundraising committees, Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91, have paid all direct and indirect costs of administering the project out of the funds of the joint fundraising committees. Id. at ¶ 7.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

While the regulations permit a participant to pay without reimbursement the expenses of the joint fundraising committee up to the contribution limits of section 110.5, the NRSC was reimbursed for the advance of all indirect costs of the Inner Circle committees. The day-to-day operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are administered by personnel of the NRSC at its headquarters, but the Treasurer of the Inner Circle committees went to great lengths to ensure that all overhead and indirect costs of the joint fundraising committees' activities (salaries, health benefits, employment tax, phone, electricity, equipment and supplies, allocable portion of mortgage on the office space, etc.) have been properly and generously calculated. The value of such managerial and administrative assistance was billed to the Inner Circles and reimbursed to the NRSC by the joint fundraising committees. Id. at ¶ 8.

Additionally, the Inner Circle fundraising representatives received commercial bank loans to cover direct expenses based on their own collateral (the mailing lists purchased with the borrowed money and the anticipated receipts). Id. at ¶ 7. Whenever the Inner Circle committees dealt with the NRSC in commercial transactions (e.g., arriving at a rental price for the NRSC's mailing list, determining a fair amount to pay in administrative expenses), the Inner Circle committees did so at arms' length, often receiving outside professional appraisals and advice. Id. at ¶¶ 8-12. The FEC reports of the Inner Circle committees reflect this attention to maintaining a strict division between the finances of the NRSC and activities of the joint fundraising committees. See FEC reports at Tabs 13 and 14.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

D. NRSC is only one participant in the Inner Circle; substantive decisions of the committee are determined by all participants.

Common Cause alleges that the Inner Circle committees were captive organizations of the NRSC, rather than joint endeavors of many participants. That allegation is completely unsupported by the facts. The final allocation formula was arrived at after negotiations and bargaining among the participants. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 7. See also Holch Aff. at ¶ 4. It reflects the collective decision-making and compromises of all participants. All decisions that would revise the terms of the joint fundraising agreement (e.g., a change in the allocation formula, a change in the participants) had to be approved by all participants.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

Contrary to the assertions of the Complaint in this Matter, each participating committee was substantially involved in the planning and implementation of Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91. The participating committees reviewed and approved the solicitations before they were mailed, and they had the opportunity to "nominate" potential contributors from their states. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 15. The participating committees continued to be involved with the planning of the Leadership Conferences for contributors in Washington, D.C., and candidates participating in the joint fundraising committees were bound by common agreement to attend these fundraising events. Id.; Holch Aff. at ¶ 3; see also Coe Aff. at ¶ 5.

Moreover, the relationship of the NRSC to other participants is governed by the Agreement. The NRSC may not act outside the terms of the Agreement, nor does it control the funds of the Inner Circle committees. The Inner Circle committees maintain separate bank accounts that may only be used as provided in the joint fundraising agreements. Those accounts are not controlled by the NRSC. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 5.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

Likewise, when the Inner Circle committees sold their donor lists to the NRSC, these sales had to be approved pursuant to the joint fundraising agreements by a vote of the List Management Committees, of which the NRSC was only one of four members. Id. at ¶ 12.

In addition, all Republican Senate candidates had an opportunity to participate in Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 5. That some candidates chose not to participate further illustrates the individual decision-making of all potential participants. See, e.g., Coe Aff. at ¶ 5 and Holch Aff. at ¶ 3.

E. The NRSC's advance of the costs of overhead for the Inner Circle committee is entirely permissible.

Common Cause alleges that the Inner Circle permitted the NRSC to shoulder all the expenses of the joint fundraising committee and did not allocate sufficient proceeds to the NRSC to justify its participation. Both of these allegations result from Common Causes's lack of information.

With regard to the expenses of the Inner Circle committees, each participant's share of expenses is based on the percentage of receipts the participant has been allocated pursuant to the provisions of the Joint Fundraising Agreements and the Commission's regulations. See 11 C.F.R § 102.17(b)(3)(i) and Article III, Section C, of the Joint Fundraising Agreements.

However, the regulations also provide that one participant may advance funds for the payment of expenses in excess of its proportionate share up to the amount that participant could legally contribute to the remaining participants. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b)(3)(ii). As a committee of a national political party, the NRSC is permitted to make direct contributions to any Senate candidate up to $17,500. Id. at § 110.2(e). Accordingly, the NRSC was permitted to advance up to $17,500 for each of the other participating committees -- as much as $840,000 for Inner Circle 90-91. The NRSC's advance was substantially less than that. See FEC reports at Tabs 13 and 14.

The Inner Circle committees reimbursed the NRSC for those administrative expenses on October 19, 1990, over two weeks before the general election. Hagen Aff. at ¶ 10. The NRSC's post-general disclosure report indicates that over $1.7 million in cash contributions and coordinated expenditures were released to candidates (many of whom were participants in the joint fundraising committees) between October 19 and November 26, 1990. The advance for indirect expenses of the Inner Circle Committees was repaid to the NRSC before that time. Id. This arrangement is completely permissible under 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b)(3) as the permissible advance of funds within a participant's contribution limits. Because the amount was reimbursed, the NRSC was free to make direct contributions once the debts were paid.²¹

F. Inner Circle Joint Fundraising Is Not Unusual or Unprecedented

The Complaint's characterization of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees as a new evil in political fundraising is misinformed. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are not unusual or unprecedented. Numerous other committees, which function similarly to the Inner Circle committees, conduct their fundraising and report their activities to the Commission apparently without Complaint by Common Cause.

For instance, the Democratic Party employs the following joint fundraisers for its Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee and the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee: The California '88 Victory Committee (FEC Identification No. C 00214437), the Democratic Congressional Dinner Committee (FEC Identification No. C 00000182), the Democratic House and Senate Council (FEC Identification No. C 00080572), and the Democratic Congressional Summer Dinner Committee (FEC Identification No. C 00237529).

Nor have these previous joint fundraising committees been limited to political parties. Voices for Change '88 (FEC Identification No. C 00232645) is a joint fundraising committee composed of a national party committee (the DSCC), a state political party (the Democratic State Central Committee of California), a non-connected committee (the Hollywood Women's Political Committee), and six campaign committees of candidates for the United States Senate.^{8/} According to FEC reports, that committee jointly raised and then disbursed among its participants $442,000 in 1988. A separate joint fundraising committee, Victory Flight '88 (FEC Identification No. C 00232819) comprised the Hollywood Women's Political Committee and four of the same U.S. Senate candidate committees.^{2/} The composition and operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees appear to be similar to, and perhaps more straightforward than, these other, apparently permissible committees.

II. As a Matter of Law, the Concepts of Joint Fundraising Committees and Earmarked Contributions (or "Bundling") are Distinct Fundraising Methods Governed By Separate Regulations.

Without regard to the facts in this Matter or the existing regulations governing joint fundraising committees, Common Cause urges that the receipts of the Inner Circle committees should be treated as earmarked contributions under 11 C.F.R. § 110.6. The Complaint makes repeated analogies to Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990). As a matter of law, the FEC should not examine through the lens of that case or the Commission's regulations for earmarked contributions a committee that is registered as a joint fundraising committee, and in all respects looks, acts, and reports like a joint fundraising committee. As the previous discussion illustrates, there is no merit to the argument that the Inner Circle committees are anything but bona fide joint fundraising committees pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a). They should be evaluated for what they are and not recast as earmarked contribution programs. Nevertheless, Common Cause is intent on forcing a square peg into a round hole.

A. The regulations treat joint fundraisers and bundling programs separately.

That joint fundraising committees are to be considered separately and differently from earmarked contribution programs is plain from the text of the regulations. First, 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(2)(i)(B) which sets out the limit on earmarked contributions specifically excludes joint fundraising from the scope of that section:

For purposes of [the regulations governing earmarked contributions], the following persons shall not be considered conduits or intermediaries:
. . . (B) A fundraising representative conducting joint fundraising with the candidate's authorized committee pursuant to 11 CFR 102.17 or 9034.8.

The Explanation & Justification for this 1989 revision to the regulation explained "[f]undraising representatives have been excluded because their activities are already covered by

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

the joint fundraising regulations" 54 Fed. Reg. 34106 (Aug. 17, 1989). The Commission made a conscious decision at that time, consistent with its past policy to treat joint fundraising committees and intermediaries as separate creatures of the law.

Second, the term "direction and control" as it is used in the earmarked contribution regulations is not even applicable to a joint fundraising committee. The term "direction and control" consistently refers to whether the conduit makes "the choice of the recipient candidate." 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2). The regulations make clear that an intermediary who exercises direction and control over the choice of the recipient candidate of a contribution would be required to list the amount as a contribution from itself as well as the original contributor. Id.

However, because of the nature of joint fundraising, there can be no direction and control over the choice of candidate by the designated fundraising agent. The joint fundraising agreement is a legally binding document on all the parties with a pre-determined allocation of the proceeds. Id. at § 102.17(c)(1). Contributors are informed of this formula in the joint fundraising notice that accompanies any solicitation by the joint fundraising committee. Id. at § 102.17(c)(2). Therefore, even if one of the participating committees is the designated fundraising agent (which is not the case here since the participants established a separate reporting committee to receive the funds), it exercises NO direction or control. It is only a custodian of the account; it cannot distribute or withhold the funds in any manner inconsistent with the pre-determined formula. Unlike "bundled" contributions, the result of the required allocation formula is that donors have complete control over their contributions because the allocation of the receipts is determined before the first dollar is contributed, id. at § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(B), or the donor himself directs the contribution to a particular candidate when making the contribution, id. at § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(C).

- B. The regulations expressly exclude transfers of joint fundraising proceeds from the contribution limits.

Earmarked contributions are subject to the contribution limits on both the original contributor and the conduit who exercises control over those funds. Id. at § 110.6(d)(2). By comparison, the Commission's regulations expressly exclude transfers from joint fundraising committees to their participants from the contribution limits, including the limit on contributions by political party committees to Senate candidates that appears at 11 C.F.R. § 110.2(e).

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

Page 37

Section 110.3(c) states:

(c) Transfers. The contribution limitations of 11 CFR 110.1 and 110.2 shall not limit the transfers set forth below: . . .

(2) Transfers of joint fundraising proceeds between organizations or committees participating in the joint fundraising activity provided that no participating committee or organization governed by 11 C.F.R. § 102.17 receives more than its allocated share of the funds.

11 C.F.R. § 110.3(c)(2). To the extent that the Commission exempted these activities from the limits on political party committees, it clearly intended that political parties could participate in joint fundraisers and that these transfers would not be subject to the party contribution limits. The Commission has sent a message that it considers joint fundraising proceeds different from earmarked contributions.

- C. The regulations governing earmarked contributions and joint fundraising committees reflect distinct policy choices and requirements, whose distinctions should not be blurred.

The chart below highlights numerous additional distinctions, as a matter of law, between the regulations governing earmarked contributions and joint fundraising committees:

JOINT FUNDRAISING COMMITTEES

Intermediaries	Joint Fundraising Committees
1. Intermediary is not considered a contributor unless it exercises direction and control. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d).	1. Joint fundraising committee must be a reporting entity but it makes transfers, not contributions to its participants. 11 C.F.R. §§ 102.17(a)(1) and 102.17(c)(8).
2. Ultimate recipient must be a candidate's authorized committee. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(1).	2. Joint fundraising participants may be candidate committee, separate segregated fund or even an unregistered committee or organization. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(1)(i).
3. Contributions may pass through the intermediary's account. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(c)(2)(v).	3. Joint fundraising representative must establish a separate depository account for all receipts and disbursements of the committee. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3)(i).

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

4. Intermediary must forward contributions to recipient within 10 days. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(2)(iii).
5. Intermediary may not use any portion of contribution to pay its expenses. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b)(2)(iii).
6. Intermediary may exercise direction and control over recipients of funds: no formal arrangement binds the intermediary's earmarked contributions.
7. No special requirements for solicitations.
8. Ultimate recipient has no control over intermediary's activity.
4. Joint fundraising representative may delay distribution until all contributions are received and expenses are paid. 11 C.F.R. §102.17(c)(3)(ii).
5. Designated representative must pay expenses from gross receipts before proceeds are distributed. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(7)(A).
6. Written joint fundraising agreement pre-determines allocation formula and legally binds all participants. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(1).
7. Solicitation letters must include joint fundraising notice. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2).
8. Joint fundraising participants control activity and decisions of joint fundraising committee.

The significance of these legal distinctions cannot be overstated. In combination, they create a rigid and comprehensive set of guidelines governing joint fundraisers. To disregard the Commission's clear regulatory structure and superimpose the earmarked contribution regulations on a joint fundraising committee ignores the framework of safeguards established for joint fundraisers and the numerous

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

distinctions in the law. It replaces a carefully balanced framework with dual, and sometimes inconsistent regulations.

D. The legal implications of bundling and joint fundraising are different.

Another legal distinction between earmarking programs and joint fundraising is that the joint fundraising agreement creates a legally enforceable contract among the participants which binds all parties to a mutually agreed upon allocation of the expenses and receipts. This situation is quite different from earmarked contributions in which the intermediary potentially can exercise discretion and the would-be recipients, as well as misinformed contributors, are without recourse.

Additionally, the joint fundraising regulations require the designated fundraising representative to establish a separate account for the joint fundraising proceeds, 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3), so that these funds do not "pass through" the general accounts of the fundraising representative. This complete separation and reporting of funds insures that the lack of discretion contemplated by the joint fundraising agreement is carried out in practice.

III. The Inner Circle Joint Fundraising Committees Are Factually Quite Different Than the Earmarking Program In Common Cause v. FEC.

Thus far, this Response has detailed the extent to which the Inner Circle committees have assured compliance with the Commission's regulations for joint fundraising committees and demonstrated the numerous legal distinctions between earmarked contributions and joint fundraising committees. It should be quite apparent at this point that the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees at issue here are vastly different from the earmarked contribution program in Common Cause v. FEC. 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990).

The allegations of the Complaint suggest that the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are nothing more than the a modified version of that program; that could not be farther from the truth.^{10/} The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are factually distinct from that program in numerous respects, as demonstrated below:

^{10/} In any case, the permissibility of that program has not been determined conclusively, as that program is still being litigated today. The Court of Appeals has ruled that, because the NRSC was not a party to that case, the decision is not binding upon the NRSC. Common Cause v. FEC, C.A. No. 90-5317 (D.C. Cir. 1990). A separate action filed by the Federal Election Commission against the NRSC is still pending. FEC v. NRSC et al., No. 90-2055 (GAG) (D.D.C., filed August 24, 1990).

- ° NRSC passed all contributions on to use of 12 candidates. Common Cause, at ¶ 10.
- ° Certain amounts were determined to have been earmarked to NRSC but NRSC used funds as if earmarked for specific candidates ($108,086). Common Cause, at ¶ 9.
- ° Inner Circle reports as joint fundraising committee; NRSC reports only its own proportion of receipts. Hagen Aff. at ¶¶ 3 and 17.
- ° NRSC gets 1% of proceeds plus all nonfederal contributions. See allocation formula in Joint Fundraising Agreements at Tabs 5 and 6.
- ° NRSC received all proceeds specifically designated to it plus all corporate contributions.

These facts illustrate the very different circumstances of the two programs that the Complaint obtusely calls "essentially identical." Complaint at ¶ 1. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have vigorously and meticulously complied with the Commission's regulations for joint fundraisers. See generally, Hagen Aff. The result is a joint fundraising committee which is not subject to the national party limitations precisely because the national party committee does not direct or control the funds.

IV. Contrary to Allegations, the Inner Circle Committees Actually Provides "Cleaner" Contributions and More Accountability Than Normal Fundraising and Are Entirely Within the Act.

- A. Joint fundraising committees do not tamper with individual contribution limits, but do reduce the influence of single "fat cat" contributors.

From reading the Complaint in this Matter, one could easily be led to believe that the Inner Circle activities were some covert attempt to circumvent all spending limits. This conclusion overlooks the most obvious contribution limits of all: the individual federal limits of $1,000 per candidate per election and $25,000 in aggregate per calendar year, 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(1) and (3). Joint fundraising does not inflate individual spending limits -- they remain completely unchanged. What Inner Circle does do is help individuals within their existing limits to locate and contribute to candidates in a number of states who share their political view, and help candidates to raise funds collectively, and thus efficiently. In fact, the concern for monitoring contribution limits is what led the Inner Circle participants to decide not to accept the percentage of funds from contributors in their own state. That would have increased the possibility that a contribution would be

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

accepted in error, from a contributor who had already reached his limit with respect to a home state campaign.

Moreover, because the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees distributed funds among many candidates, the typical $1,000 contribution ended up allocated to individual campaigns in the amount of $36.30, $29, $6, etc. This creates numerous "small donors" to any particular campaign, rather than relatively more influential $1,000 donors to a single campaign. In passing the 1974 amendments to the Federal Election Campaign Act, 2 U.S.C. §§ 431 et seq., the House Administration Committee called individual limits on contributions "the most significant reform" in the bill. "Contribution limitations should restore public confidence by eliminating or reducing public suspicion that candidates are being 'bought' or influenced by large campaign contributions." H.R. Rep. No. 93-1239, 93rd Cong., 2d Sess., at 115 (1974). The practical effect of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees is the reduced likelihood of improper influence. As Roll Call recently pointed out, "A contributor who gives Jake Garn, for example, the equivalent of six bucks a year isn't likely to have the influence of a

Charles Keating." Roll Call (Monday, April 16, 1990) at 6 (attached hereto at Tab 17).

- B. Joint fundraising committee assure contributors who the ultimate recipients of their contributions will be.

Secondly, joint fundraising makes for "cleaner" politics because there is no discretion left to an intermediary concerning how to spend the money. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees provide accountability to their donors because they are assured by the joint fundraising agreements and the solicitation notices that the money will be used in a specified manner according to the published allocation formula. And if a contributor wants to designate a different allocation or make the contribution solely to one participant, that arrangement must be honored as well. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(C). There is absolutely no discretion in the joint fundraising committee to reallocate the receipts based on the financial needs of a particular participant.

- C. Joint fundraising activities are not limited to single events.

Lastly, the Complaint alleges that the joint fundraising regulations were intended to apply only to "specific events,"

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Lawrence M. Noble, Esq.

not an ongoing fundraising program. The Complaint claims to draw support for its argument from very selected Advisory Opinions of the Commission, a few words ("fundraiser," "event," and "activity") quoted out of context from the FEC's Explanation and Justification for the regulation, and the bald assertion that any statements by the Commission contradicting its position "are contrary to the FECA." Complaint at footnote 13.

This interpretation of the regulations is baseless. To begin with, the Explanation and Justification for the joint fundraising regulations clearly contemplates ongoing joint fundraising activities. The Commission's comment that "it is common for the fundraising representatives to receive contributions over an extended time period" 48 Fed. Reg. 26,298, 26,299 (June 7, 1983), reveals the Commission's awareness and approval of the ongoing nature of fundraising activities.

Moreover, the Complaint's selective use of Advisory Opinions overlooks numerous incidents of Commission-approved joint fundraising activities that involved more than a single event. See, e.g., FEC Advisory Opinion 1977-14, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5246 (1977) (approving a joint fundraising committee composed of three Democratic Presidential candidates engaged in ongoing fundraising to retire their campaign debts). While one aspect of their request in the Advisory Opinion involved participation in a fundraising dinner, it by no means limited their fundraising to a single event. See also FEC Advisory Opinion 1977-20, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5253 (1977) (Requestors sought and received approval for a "joint (State/Federal) fundraising campaign" not confined to any single event.); FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-35, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5423 (1979) (Commission approved a joint fundraising committee for the sale of artist's prints not connected with any "single event.") Most curious, and most important to the Commission's consideration of this Matter, is the Complainant's attempt to divert the Commission's attention from two other Advisory Opinions which it discredits without reason. FEC Advisory Opinion 1977-23, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5256 (1977), gave Commission approval to a direct mail joint fundraising project among 11 Members of Congress unrelated to any particular event or activity and FEC Advisory Opinion 1988-24, Fed. Election Camp. Fin. Guide (CCH) at ¶ 5929 (1988), approved a joint fundraising committee to function throughout the California primary season in which participants would share expenses and produce and distribute common campaign literature.

WILEY, REIN & FIELDING

Finally, if the Complainant persists in looking for a "single event" by which time the committee's activities are complete, the Inner Circle committees also did just that. As explained in the solicitation letter attached to the Complaint, the Inner Circle committees hosted Leadership Conferences in Washington, D.C. in which all the Senators in the Inner Circle participated. Mitchler Aff. at ¶ 15; Holch Aff. at ¶ 3. All contributions must be received prior to these events if the contributor wishes to take part. Having completed these activities, both Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are currently in the process of winding down and terminating their existence.

CONCLUSION

Accordingly, the Commission should find no reason to believe that either the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91, or any of the participants in the joint fundraising committees

BEFORE THE FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION

City of Washington)
District of Columbia) MUR 3135

ALBERT E. MITCHLER, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. I am Albert E. Mitchler. I serve as the Finance Director of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 (Inner Circle '90) and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 (Inner Circle '90-91), two separate joint fundraising committees registered with the Federal Election Commission.

2. In my capacity as Finance Director, my duties include the development and execution of fundraising projects for these joint fundraising committees. I have primary responsibility for the direct mail solicitations, the purchase and rental of mailing lists, and the daily management of fundraising activity for both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91.

3. Both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 were created as mechanisms for cooperative fundraising efforts among Republican Senate candidates. The joint committees promote candidate involvement in the fundraising process for their campaigns.

4. These joint fundraising committees provide potential contributors with a convenient method for contributing to more than one Republican Senate candidate in response to a single solicitation and through a single check. The committees provide an efficient way for contributors who would like to see a majority of the U.S. Senate controlled by Republicans to make donations to multiple candidates who share their political views. At the same time, the Inner Circle committees provide assurance to contributors that their donations to these joint fundraising committees will be transferred directly to the specified candidates accordingly to a pre-determined formula of allocation.

5. All campaigns of incumbent Republican U.S. Senators and all announced Republican candidates for the 1990 election to the U.S. Senate as of January, 1990 had the opportunity to attend an initial organizational meeting to discuss establishing the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees in February, 1990.

6. At that meeting, all aspects of the joint fundraising proposal were reviewed, and the nature of the fundraising activity was debated. Each attending campaign committee took from the meeting a package of draft materials of the proposed Inner Circle for his or her review and comment. Each campaign committee reviewed these materials and decided whether it wished to participate in the joint fundraising effort. The campaign committees of Senators John Danforth, Jr., Robert Dole, Charles Grassley, Orrin Hatch, Nancy Kassebaum, William V. Roth Jr., and Warren Rudman declined to participate in the proposed joint fundraising committees.

7. Based on a series of negotiations among representatives from the participating committees, the campaigns that decided to participate eventually arrived at an agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of receipts and the payment of expenses of the committee among the participants. These percentages were the subject of much bargaining among the participants and the final amounts reflect intensive negotiations and compromise among all participants. The final allocation was the result of such factors as incumbency (with challengers and candidates for open seats receiving a higher percentage), the presence of a substantive opponent, and whether the participant was involved in a 1990 election.

8. I supervised the production of all direct mail solicitations for both Inner Circle committees. Inner Circle '90 mailed to approximately 400,000 households and Inner Circle '90-91 mailed to approximately 340,000 homes.

9. Each of the solicitation letters for contributions to Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 includes a joint fundraising notice that clearly states: 1) the names of all participating committees; 2) the allocation formula for all funds received; 3) a statement that contributors may designate all of their contribution to particular candidates;

4) a statement that the allocation may change if a contribution would violate the permissible contributions limits; and 5) a statement that contributions from corporations or labor unions which are prohibited under the Act will be allocated solely to the NRSC.

10. Additionally, the joint fundraising notices indicated that no contributions from the same state as a participating candidate committee would be allocated to that campaign. Some participating committees expressed the concern that Inner Circle receipts would make it harder to ensure that contributions did not exceed the permissible limits from their own constituents who would also give directly to their campaigns. As a result, the participants decided jointly to re-allocate these receipts to reduce their potential of receiving excess contributions.

11. Fundraising letters were mailed to potential contributors using mailing lists compiled from a variety of sources. The Inner Circle committees compiled the vast majority of names (approximately 80-85 percent) from renting commercial mailing lists from commercial vendors. The initial costs of these lists were paid out of the loans received by the Inner Circle committees.

12. Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 also rented about 15 percent of the names (approximately 16,000 names) from the NRSC. To ensure that neither the NRSC nor the joint fundraising committees derived excess advantage from this rental, I insisted that the NRSC charge the Inner Circle committees a premium rate that was comparable to commercial lists of similar composition and proven donor potential. The Inner Circle committees paid $.15 per name in rent for the lists from the NRSC.

13. The joint fundraising committees also mailed to 4,500 names and addresses that it received from the participating campaign committees.

14. Following the completion of the Inner Circle fundraising activities and the conclusion of the 1990 elections, the Inner Circle committees sold their donor lists to the NRSC. I recommended that a premium price should be charged for the mailing lists, comparable with similar lists in the commercial direct-mail market, because of the proven donor potential of those names. The Inner Circle committees charged the NRSC $1.50 per name for these lists.

15. A representative from each participating committee attended the mandatory organizational meeting in February, 1990. It was emphasized at that meeting that participation in the Inner Circle entailed continuing involvement of all participants. Participating committees played instrumental role in the determination of the allocation formula; they were included in the "nomination" process for potential contributors from their state. Participating committees also worked closely with the Inner Circles during the development of the solicitation package. Each participant reviewed and approved the solicitation materials. Finally, each candidate whose committee participated in either Inner Circle obligated himself or herself to take part in the conferences held in Washington, D.C. for contributors to the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees.

The above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

BEFORE THE FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION

City of Washington)
District of Columbia) MUR 3135

JAMES L. HAGEN, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. I am James L. Hagen. I serve as Treasurer of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 (Inner Circle '90) and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 (Inner Circle '90-91), two separate joint fundraising committees registered with the Federal Election Commission.

2. In my capacities as Treasurer of Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91, I have primary responsibility for maintaining records of the contributions to and the transfers and expenditures of these joint fundraising committees. I also have responsibility for filing regular reports with the Federal Election Commission of the receipts, transfers and expenses of these committees.

3. When Inner Circle '90 was created, and later, when Inner Circle '90-91 was established, the participants chose to establish a separate reporting committee to act as the designated fundraising representative of the joint fundraising committees. Although the FEC regulations permit a participant in the joint fundraiser to serve as the designated agent, separate committees were established to assure that receipts of the joint fundraiser were separately maintained and accounted for. These committees were given responsibility for collecting contributions, paying fundraising costs and disbursing net proceeds among the participants.

4. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees each registered as joint fundraising committees with the Commission, listing all of their respective participants.

5. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees have their own independent identities, separate from each other and any of their participants. Each committee has applied for and received a separate employer tax identification number from the Internal Revenue Service. Each committee has separate bank accounts into which all contributions to that Committee are deposited.

6. Each participating committee was notified, both orally at an organizational meeting and in writing in a memorandum distributed to all potential participants, of the requirement that participating committees amend their own Statements of Organization to reflect the appropriate Inner Circle entity as an authorized committee and to identify the Inner Circle's bank as a separate depository account of each participant.

7. Each Inner Circle Committee obtained a $300,000 bank loan secured by its mailing lists and future receipts.

The initial direct costs of fundraising (initial production, postage, purchase of mailing lists, etc.) were paid out of these funds. Once the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees began to receive contributions, their expenses, as well as the repayment of the loans, were paid out of their incoming receipts. The loans have been repaid in full.

8. The administrative costs of the joint fundraising committees' activities (salaries, phone, electricity, equipment and supplies, office space, etc.) have also been paid by the Inner Circle committees. The day-to-day operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were executed by personnel of the National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC) at its headquarters, but the Inner Circle committees reimbursed the NRSC for these expenses.

9. To compute these costs, I identified those persons on NRSC payroll who were involved with the Inner Circle committees. With the assistance of Albert E. Mitchler, I determined the percentages of their time spent performing Inner Circle functions, and computed the sum of that portion of their salaries, employer's share of taxes, health insurance premiums, fringe benefits, etc. Once allocable salaries were determined, I added to that figure the same portion of the overhead rate for the operation of the NRSC (e.g., computer, electricity, phone service, interest on mortgage, etc.) as determined by the external audits of the NRSC for the two previous years. Two outside certified public accountants have reviewed this process and verified that it is a reasonable and appropriate method of computing the allocation of overhead.

10. The NRSC billed the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees for these expenses once that accounting process was complete and the Inner Circle committees reimbursed those amounts to the NRSC promptly. Those indirect costs through October 18, 1990 were paid on October 19, 1990, over two weeks before the general election. The NRSC's post-general disclosure report indicates that over $1.7 million in cash contributions and coordinated expenditures were released to candidates (many of whom were participants in the joint fundraising committees) between October 19 and November 26, 1990. The advance from the NRSC for indirect expenses of the Inner Circle committees was repaid to the NRSC before that time. The Inner Circle joint fundraising committees will continue to reimburse the NRSC for overhead expenses incurred subsequently as these bills are submitted, until the committees are terminated.

11. Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 rented mailing lists of approximately 16,000 names from the NRSC. In both cases, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees paid the NRSC $.15 per name, a rental price comparable with the price that similar lists would bring in the commercial, direct-mail market.

12. Subsequently, the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees sold to the NRSC the lists of names of all actual donors to the Inner Circle committees. Because the Inner Circle committees will soon terminate and an ongoing rental arrangement is not practicable, I recommended and the List Management Committees determined that these mailing lists should be sold rather than rented. Like the rental price paid by the Inner Circles, the determination of a purchase price for the NRSC was based on the cost for comparable lists in the commercial direct-mail market.

13. All expenses of the Inner Circles were borne by the respective joint fundraising committees and paid out of the gross receipts prior to the disbursement of any contributions among the participants. I made the decisions when to transfer the funds to the participants once all expenses were paid and supervised my staff in the determination of the appropriate apportionment of funds based on the allocation formula in the joint fundraising agreements.

14. Slight discrepancies that may have occurred in the amount of funds received by members of the same "tier" of the allocation formula are a result of individual contributions specifically designated for particular participants, contributions from the same state as the participating committee, and marginal rounding errors by the computer. The joint fundraising committees are required by FEC regulation to acknowledge requests from contributors for particular designations among the participants that differ from the allocation formula.

15. The NRSC received one percent of the net proceeds from both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 as provided for in the allocation formula. In addition to the fixed-percentage allocation of contributions received by the NRSC, the joint fundraising agreements also provide that the NRSC non-federal account shall receive all funds from Inner Circle committees' non-federal accounts (composed of contributions from corporations and labor unions). These non-federal receipts of the Inner Circle committee have been substantial.

16. The solicitation notices for Inner Circle '90 stated that contributions from the same state as a participating committee "would be allocated solely as a contribution to the National Republican Senatorial Committee." However, the computer program created by the joint fundraising committee reattributed "home state" contributions (as well as PAC money originally allocated to participants who had made campaign promises not to accept these funds) among other candidates in the same "tier," rather than transferring the money to the NRSC. This discrepancy resulted from a miscommunication between the producer of the solicitation letter and the computer programmers. Additionally, it was unclear whether a reallocation which was not required under the joint fundraising regulations but jointly agreed to by the participants could be directed to a single participant or was required to be distributed in relation to the allocations of the remaining participants. The disclaimer in Inner Circle '90-91 was revised to reflect the proper reallocation.

17. I have filed monthly, pre-general and post-general reports, as appropriate, with the Commission for both Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 since their establishments. These reports detail all contributions, expenditures and transfers of the committees since their inception.

The above information is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

2. On behalf of the Dole for Senate '92 Committee, I attended a meeting in February, 1990, of the representatives for the United States Senate. At that meeting, the formation of a joint fundraising committee was discussed.

3. The Dole for Senate '92 Committee, along with other candidate committees, had the opportunity to participate in the joint fundraising committees known as the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91.

4. If the Dole for Senate '92 Committee chose to participate, it would enter into a joint fundraising agreement with the other participants which would include a committees. Participants were free to discuss the terms and conditions of their participation, including their respective allocation of the funds.

5. The Dole for Senate Committee decided not to participate in the joint fundraising committees because Senator Dole's term does not expire until 1992, and therefore, he was not up for election in 1990. Senator Dole had not decided at that time whether to seek re-election in 1992 and he was not prepared to commit himself to the time required to participate in the activities and events of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees.

NIELS C. HOLCH, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. I am Niels C. Holch. On behalf of the McConnell Senate Committee '90, the authorized campaign committee of U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell, I attended a meeting in February, 1990, of the representatives of the campaign committees of numerous Republican candidates for the United States Senate. At that meeting, the formation of a joint fundraising committee was discussed.

2. The McConnell Committee '90, along with other candidate committees, had the opportunity to participate in the joint fundraising committees known as the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91.

3. The McConnell Senate Committee '90 reviewed the proposed drafts of the joint fundraising committee materials and decided to participate in the joint fundraising committees. Senator McConnell committed his time to attend the events of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle joint fundraising committees and, with the help of his campaign staff, participated in the fundraising process of the committees.

4. Once the McConnell Committee '90 chose to participate, it entered into a joint fundraising agreement with the other participants which included a formula for the allocation of contributions to these participating committees. I understood that the terms and conditions of participation, including the respective allocation of the funds among the participants were negotiable. The McConnell Committee '90 found the terms with respect to itself to be acceptable as proposed.

5. Because Senator McConnell and his campaign staff were familiar with the regulations providing for joint fundraising committees, the McConnell Senate Committee '90 was willing to participate in what it perceived to be a completely legal and potentially profitable joint fundraising effort.

Dear _____:

Enclosed you will find an Addendum to the Joint Fundraising Agreement of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-'91. As you will recall, we recently sent to you a package containing materials regarding the creation of the new Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-'91 joint fundraising committee.

In preparing those materials, we neglected to include in the allocation formula the committees of the two candidates in the September 18, 1990 Massachusetts Republican primary election. These two committees are now included in the allocation formula via this Addendum. In addition, the Addendum makes clear that proceeds to be distributed to the Senator Ben Bagert to Put Louisiana First committee will be designated for the open primary to be held in Louisiana on October 6, 1990.

Please sign and date the Addendum and return it to us. A copy is included for your records.

TAX FORMS YOU MUST FILE:

Notice of New Employer Identification Number Assigned

Thank you for your Form SS-4, Application for Employer Identification Number (EIN). The number assigned to you is shown above. This number will be used to identify your business account and related tax returns and documents, even if you do not have employees.

1. Keep a copy of this number in your permanent records.
2. Use this number and your name exactly as shown above, on all Federal tax forms.
3. Use this number on all tax payments and tax related correspondence or documents.

Any variation used when filing tax returns, making EFTD payments or subsequent payments may result in improper or delayed posting of payments to your account and/or the assignment of more than one EIN.

The filing requirement(s) and tax period shown above have been established for your account based on information contained on your Form SS-4. If you are a trust, your tax year generally must be a calendar year, unless you are exempt from taxation under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code or a charitable trust described in section 4947(a)(1) of the Code. To help you to determine your required tax year, you may obtain Publication 538, Accounting Periods and Methods. This publication is available at most IRS offices for more information.

Please note that the assignment of this number does not grant tax exempt status to nonprofit organizations. Any organization (other than a private foundation) having annual gross receipts normally of $5,000 or more is exempt by statute from the requirements of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. These organizations are not required to file Form 1023 (Application for Recognition of Exemption) or file Form 990 (Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax). However, if the organization wants to establish its exemption with the Internal Revenue Service and receive a ruling or determination letter recognizing its exempt status, it should file Form 1023 with the key district director. For details on how to apply for this exemption, see IRS publication 557, Tax Exempt Status for your Organization, available at most IRS offices.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Keep this part for your records.

LOAN AND SECURITY AGREEMENT

This Loan and Security Agreement ("Agreement") is entered into as of this 8th day of March, 1990, by and between Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990, an unincorporated association with an office and principal place of business at 425 Second Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20002, hereinafter called "the Committee," and Signet Bank/Virginia, a banking corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia, with offices at 8330 Boone Boulevard, Vienna, Virginia 22180, hereinafter called "the Bank".

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The Committee has requested that the Bank extend to it a $300,000 secured loan for the purpose of funding printing, mailing and related expenses of its operations. The Bank is prepared, subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, to provide such secured loan to the Committee.

NOW THEREFORE, the Bank and the Committee hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

Section 1.1. The Loan. The Bank agrees, on the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, to make a loan in the principal amount of $300,000 (the "Advance") to the Committee.

Section 1.2. Making the Advance. The Advance will be made on a date selected by the Committee after satisfaction of all conditions stated in 2.2 hereof (the "Closing Date").

Section 1.3. Use of Proceeds. All proceeds of the Advance hereunder will be used solely for the Committee's operating expenses for postage, list rentals, printing, and hotel facility deposits and in no event for funding of any political campaigns.

Section 1.4. Interest and Repayment. The Committee will repay to the Bank upon demand, or, if no demand previously has been made, on May 8, 1990 the aggregate unpaid principal amount of the Advance in accordance with a promissory note (the "Note") issued by the Committee to the Bank, in the form of Exhibit A, and the Advance shall be evidenced by the Note. The Committee may make prepayments under the Note at any time but may not reborrow any funds prepaid. The Committee will further pay to the Bank interest upon the aggregate unpaid principal amount under the Note at its maturity on May 8, 1990 (or upon demand), at a rate per annum (calculated on the basis of the actual number of days elapsed over a year of 360 days) equal to one half-percent in excess of the Bank's prime rate of interest in effect from time to time as publicly announced by the Bank as such prime rate ("the Prime Rate"). Each change in the rate of interest hereunder shall be effective as of the opening of business on the effective date of each change in the Prime Rate. In the event of any dispute as to the Prime Rate, a certificate executed by any Senior Vice President of the Bank stating the percent per annum constituting the Prime Rate and the date of its effectiveness shall be conclusive absent manifest error.

Section 1.5. Method of Payment. Whenever any payment of principal or interest to be made hereunder or under the Note becomes due on a Saturday, Sunday, or public holiday or the equivalent for banks generally under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia (any other day being a "Business Day"), such payment may be made on the next succeeding Business Day, and such extension of time shall in such case be included in the computation of the amount of interest then to be paid. All payments and prepayments hereunder shall be made to the Bank at its address stated on the first page hereof, in such money of the United States as at the time of payment shall be legal tender for the payment of public and private debts and in immediately available funds. Each payment shall be received by the Bank no later than 2:00 p.m. Eastern Time, and any payment received after such time shall be treated as received on the next Business Day.

ARTICLE II.

Section 2.1. Collateral. To secure repayment to the Bank of the Advance and the interest payable on the Advance, the Committee hereby grants to the Bank a security interest in and lien upon the following collateral now owned or hereafter acquired by the Committee and in the Committee's expectancy to acquire such collateral in the ordinary course of its business and affairs:

(a) the spool or spools of machine-readable computer tape containing the mailing list of the Committee that the Committee proposes to use in soliciting contributions to the Committee during 1990, known as the "Inner Circle File of Contributors";

(b) all proceeds of demand deposit account No. 6520172880 maintained at the Bank by the Committee;

(c) all money, instruments, accounts receivable, general intangibles, chattel paper, deposit accounts and other personal property now owned or hereafter acquired by or on behalf of the Committee in response to fundraising efforts or otherwise; and

(d) all cash and non-cash proceeds of the foregoing (all collectively the "Collateral").

Section 2.2. Conditions Precedent. The Bank's obligations under Section 1.1 hereof will be subject to the fulfillment of the following conditions precedent in manner and form satisfactory to the Bank and its special counsel:

(a) The Committee shall have delivered to the Bank

(i) an opinion of the Committee's counsel in form and substance satisfactory to the Bank;

91040870914

(ii) a certification of authority substantially as set forth in Exhibit B hereto, duly executed by the officers of the Committee specified therein;

(iii) duplicate originals of this Agreement, duly executed by the Committee;

(iv) duplicate originals of a Commercial Account Agreement Supplement, duly executed by the Committee;

(v) the Note, duly executed by the Committee;

(vi) the collateral described in Section 2.1 hereof that is now owned by the Committee;

(vii) copies of all approvals or other actions necessary under its organization or governance documents for authorization of the execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and the Note;

(viii) a copy of its current statement of organization as filed by it under Section 303 of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the "FEC Act"); and

(ix) a closing fee in the amount of $500.

(b) There shall not have occurred any Event of Default or event which, with due notice or lapse of time or both, would constitute an Event of Default (Incipient Default") under this Agreement.

ARTICLE III. WARRANTIES AND REPRESENTATIONS

Section 3.1. Organization. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that it is an unincorporated association validly organized and existing under the laws of, and with an office, its financial and other records and its principal place of business in, the District of Columbia; that it is a national "political committee," as defined in Section 301(4) of the FEC Act; and that it has filed with the Federal Election Commission ("FEC") or custodians for FEC as designated in the FEC Act all required registrations and reports in order to be in compliance with applicable requirements of the FEC Act and regulations thereunder.

Section 3.2. Authority; Approvals. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that the persons executing this Agreement and the Note on behalf of the Committee are duly authorized by the Committee to enter into this Agreement, to issue the Note and to bind the Committee to perform this Agreement and the Note in accordance with their respective terms; that the execution and performance of this Agreement and the Note are within the duly authorized powers of the Committee and do not contravene any law, rule, or regulation applicable to the Committee, any organizational documents, by-law or rule governing the Committee, or any contractual obligation binding upon the Committee; that the lawful execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and the Note do not require any filing with, notice to or approval by the FEC or any other governmental entity, and that this Agreement and, when issued, the Note will be valid, legal and binding obligations of the Committee enforceable in accordance with their respective terms.

Section 3.3. No Prior Interests. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that none of the Collateral described in Section 2.1 hereof is subject to any assignment, claim, security interest or other lien or encumbrance except the security interest and lien granted herein to the Bank.

Section 3.4. No Default. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that no event has occurred and no condition exists which, upon the execution of this Agreement, would constitute an Event of Default or Incipient Default hereunder, nor is the Committee in default under any other agreement, organizational document, statement of policy, by-law or other instrument to which it is a party or by which it may be bound.

ARTICLE IV. COVENANTS

Section 4.1. Records; Reports. The Committee will keep full and accurate records of all money, instruments, securities and other personal property received by or on behalf of the Committee in response to fundraising efforts or otherwise, and will permit the Bank or any of its agents to call at the Committee's office or offices at reasonable times and intervals and, without hindrance or delay, to inspect, audit, review and make extracts from such records or any other documents relating to them. Upon reasonable written request by the Bank, the Committee shall promptly deliver to the Bank copies of any financial statement or report prepared by or for the use of the Committee or filed with the FEC.

Section 4.2. Protection of Rights. The Committee agrees that, upon request by the Bank, it will execute any documents or perform any acts that may reasonably be deemed by the Bank to be necessary or appropriate for the protection of the Bank's rights under or arising out of this Agreement.

Section 4.3. Good Standing; Maintenance of Office and Records. The Committee agrees that, during the term of this Agreement, it will maintain its status as a political committee under the FEC Act; that it will comply with all registration and reporting requirements and all other applicable requirements of the FEC Act and regulations thereunder; and that it will not remove its office and principal place of business from the District of Columbia and will not transfer its financial or other records from the District of Columbia, without the prior written consent of the Bank.

Section 4.4. Receipt of Funds. All money, instruments and other personal property ("receipts") received by the Committee in response to fundraising efforts or otherwise will be delivered to the Bank as Collateral hereunder as soon as practicable after receipt by the Committee. Delivery will be made by messenger provided by the Bank no less frequently than once each Business Day. The Committee will not commingle such receipts, prior to their delivery to the Bank, with the funds or personal property of any other person and will hold such receipts expressly in trust for the Bank. Such receipts constitute part of the Collateral described in Section 2.1 hereof, and the Bank will hold and deal with them accordingly; provided that, unless and until an Event of Default occurs hereunder, the Committee shall be entitled to use all such receipts for its valid purposes and operations but shall not be entitled to use any such receipts for campaign contributions or funding until the Advance has been repaid in full.

Section 4.5. Deposit Accounts. The Committee will maintain at the Bank all of its deposit accounts, and the Committee will cause to maintain in full force and effect the Commercial Checking Account Agreement Supplement in the form as accepted by the Bank under Section 2.2(a)(iv) of this Agreement.

Section 4.6. Defense of Security Interest. The Committee will defend the Bank's security interest in the Collateral hereunder against all claims and demands of any person claiming any interest therein equal or superior to that of the Bank.

Section 4.7. Fundraising Efforts. The Committee will perform fundraising efforts in compliance with the FEC Act and other applicable laws and regulations; provided, however, that such efforts shall include at least four direct mailings to persons listed on the Inner Circle File of Contributors and other fundraising lists soliciting contributions during the period beginning with the date of this Agreement and ending May 8, 1990.

Section 4.8. Legal Compliance. The Committee shall comply with all laws, rules, regulations, orders, judgments, decrees and reporting requirements applicable to it or to its officers or assets.

Section 4.9. Indebtedness; Encumbrances. The Committee will not create, incur, assume, become obligated for or permit to exist, directly or indirectly, indebtedness of the Committee or any encumbrances of any kind upon any of its assets except (i) indebtedness and encumbrances to the Bank, and (ii) current accounts payable or accrued, incurred by the Committee in the ordinary course of its business, provided that the same are paid when due in accordance with customary trade terms.

ARTICLE V

Section 5.1. Events of Default. Each of the following shall constitute an Event of Default under this Agreement:

(a) failure by the Committee to pay or cause to be paid when due under this Agreement or upon demand by the Bank, any amount required to be paid by the Committee pursuant to Article I hereof;

(b) failure by the Committee to perform any covenant, condition or agreement which it is obligated to perform hereunder or under any other instrument or agreement binding upon it, if such failure shall continue for more than 15 days;

(c) the making or furnishing by the Committee to the Bank of any materially false representation, warranty, opinion or certificate as set forth in this Agreement or otherwise made in connection with this Agreement;

(d) the entry of a judgment, decree or order against it by any court of record for the payment of any sum of money in excess of $50,000 or prohibiting it from performing any covenant or other obligation hereunder, if such judgment, decree or order remains unstayed for a period in excess of 15 days; or

(e) the security interest in any material portion of the Collateral shall, for any reason, cease to be a valid and preferred first priority security interest.

Section 5.2. Remedies on Default. Whenever any Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing, the Bank may take any one or more of the following remedial steps:

(a) The Bank will have all of the remedial rights of a secured party and creditor under this Agreement, the Uniform Commercial Code as enacted in the applicable jurisdiction governing this Agreement, and under other applicable law, including, without limitation, the right to liquidate the collateral and apply the proceeds against the Committee's obligations hereunder and the right to apply to a court of equity for injunctive relief; and

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The Committee has requested that the Bank extend to it a $300,000 secured loan for the purpose of funding mailing and related expenses of its operations. The Bank is prepared, subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, to provide such secured loan to the Committee.

NOW THEREFORE, the Bank and the Committee hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

Section 1.1. The Loan. The Bank agrees, on the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, to make a loan in the principal amount of $300,000 (the "Advance") to the Committee.

Section 1.2. Making the Advance. The Advance will be made on a date selected by the Committee after satisfaction of all conditions stated in 2.2 hereof (the "Closing Date").

Section 1.3. Use of Proceeds. All proceeds of the Advance hereunder will be used solely for the Committee's operating expenses for postage and related mailing expenses, and in no event for funding of any political campaigns.

Section 1.4. Interest and Repayment. The Committee will repay to the Bank, on October 12, 1990 the aggregate unpaid principal amount of the Advance in accordance with a promissory note (the "Note") issued by the Committee to the Bank, in the form of Exhibit A, and the Advance shall be evidenced by the Note. The Committee may make prepayments under the Note at any time but may not reborrow any funds prepaid. The Committee will further pay to the Bank interest upon the aggregate unpaid principal amount under the Note at its maturity on October 12, 1990 (or upon demand), at a rate per annum (calculated on the basis of the actual number of days elapsed over a year of 360 days) equal to one half-percent in excess of the Bank's prime rate of interest in effect from time to time as publicly announced by the Bank as such prime rate ("the Prime Rate"). Each change in the rate of interest hereunder shall be effective as of the opening of business on the effective date of each change in the Prime Rate. In the event of any dispute as to the Prime Rate, a certificate executed by any Senior Vice President of the Bank stating the percent per annum constituting the Prime Rate and the date of its effectiveness shall be conclusive absent manifest error.

Section 1.5. Method of Payment. Whenever any payment of principal or interest to be made hereunder or under the Note becomes due on a Saturday, Sunday, or public holiday or the equivalent for banks generally under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia (any other day being a "Business Day"), such payment may be made on the next succeeding Business Day, and such extension of time shall in such case be included in the computation of the amount of interest then to be paid. All payments and prepayments hereunder shall be made to the Bank at its address stated on the first page hereof, in such money of the United States as at the time of payment shall be legal tender for the payment of public and private debts and in immediately available funds. Each payment shall be received by the Bank no later than 2:00 p.m. Eastern Time, and any payment received after such time shall be treated as received on the next Business Day.

ARTICLE II.

Section 2.1. Collateral. To secure repayment to the Bank of the Advance and the interest payable on the Advance, the Committee hereby grants to the Bank a security interest in and lien upon the following collateral now owned or hereafter acquired by the Committee and in the Committee's expectancy to

ARTICLE III. WARRANTIES AND REPRESENTATIONS

Section 3.1. Organization. The Committee hereby warrants and represents that it is an unincorporated association validly organized and existing under the laws of, and with an office, its financial and other records and its principal place of business in, the District of Columbia; that it is a national "political committee," as defined in Section 301(4) of the FEC Act; and that it has filed with the Federal Election Commission ("FEC") or custodians for FEC as designated in the FEC Act all required registrations and reports in order to be in compliance with applicable requirements of the FEC Act and regulations thereunder.

ARTICLE V

Section 5.1. Events of Default. Each of the following shall constitute an Event of Default under this Agreement:

REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL

Inner Circle

SENATOR DON NICKLES
CHAIRMAN

March 26, 1990

Mr. John Q. Sample
123 Main Street
Anywhere, USA 12345

Dear Mr. Sample:

Very few Americans ever attend a Presidential event. But those that do take home memories that last a lifetime.

Today, I'd like to offer you the chance for such memories by extending to you an invitation to become a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join President and Mrs. Bush in Washington, D.C. for the Inner Circle's Spring Gala on May 2nd and 3rd.

Truly, no other organization offers you the opportunity to participate in closed-door briefings with Washington's power elite, have lunch with one of the Republican Party's top leaders, and then cap the evening off by joining President and Mrs. Bush at a Gala Dinner Dance.

All within a single two day trip to Washington!

Republican Senators, Cabinet members, senior White House officials, sports and entertainment celebrities will join us at our Gala Dinner Dance for an elegant evening of festivities that will kick-off our 1990 Senate campaigns.

In addition to our evening with President and Mrs. Bush, Inner Circle members will take part in all of the activities listed on the accompanying agenda.

And by accepting this invitation now, you'll also be able to join in a full year of other exciting Inner Circle events. Foremost among these will be our Fall Briefing, which will feature a special reception with Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle, traditionally held at the Vice President's residence. We'll also hold our exclusive VIP Dinners, where Inner Circle members have the opportunity to dine with the Cabinet member, Senator or senior White House official of their choice.

But perhaps the greatest asset of Inner Circle membership is that it brings together men and women who share a common commitment -- a commitment to a continuation of the strong, responsible Republican leadership that has reshaped and rejuvenated this country.

That's because 100% of your Inner Circle membership dues are escrowed in a special account to provide direct assistance to our Senate candidates, incumbents and challengers alike, to restore a Republican majority in the United States Senate.

I want to assure you that Inner Circle membership will be one of the most rewarding investments you will ever make.

To accept Inner Circle membership and secure your place at our Spring Briefing and Gala Dinner Dance, please complete the enclosed Nomination Acceptance and Spring Briefing Registration form and return it to me in the postage-paid envelope I've provided.

But please don't delay -- it is imperative that I know of your decision as soon as possible.

If you can't accept your invitation to join the Inner Circle at this time, I understand. However, I hope that you will register your approval of our goal for a Republican Senate Majority by forwarding a contribution.

I know that President Bush, Vice President Quayle and my Republican Senate colleagues will be delighted to learn that you have joined them in the ranks of our nation's leadership as a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle.

I look forward to welcoming you to our Inner Circle Spring Briefing and Gala Dinner Dance on May 2nd and 3rd!

Sincerely,

Senator Don Nickles
Chairman

P.S. Since our Gala Dinner Dance with President and Mrs. Bush will require Secret Service clearance for everyone, it is important that you include your Social Security number and date of birth on your Nomination Acceptance form. If you have any questions or need additional information, please call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106. Thank you.

REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL INNER CIRCLE
1990 SPF VG BRIEFING

Senator Don Nickles
CHAIRMAN

March 19, 1990

Mr. John Sample
123 Main Street
Anywhere, Virginia 12345

Dear John:

As millions of people around the world celebrate the freedom to participate in democracy, I want to invite you to an exciting, informative and fun-filled celebration of American politics.

It's TEAM '90 -- The Inner Circle's 1990 Spring Briefing which will take place in Washington, D.C., on May 2nd and 3rd. This event will be a great celebration of American politics, American elections and our great American spirit.

But best of all, our TEAM '90 Spring Briefing will be a chance for all of us to get together to build the winning momentum which will carry our Republican candidates to victory in November.

Among the exciting events lined up for you during TEAM '90 is our exclusive "Salute to a Winning Season" gala dinner where President and Mrs. Bush will join us for an enjoyable and fun-filled evening of dining, dancing and entertainment. Also joining the First Couple will be Senators, Cabinet members, top Administration officials and sports celebrities to help us open our 1990 Senate campaign season.

I think sports is a wonderful theme for our Inner Circle Spring Briefing because nothing invigorates Americans more than a good contest. And who's had a stronger and closer contest than the Republicans and the Democrats in the U.S. Senate.

With TEAM '90, we'll introduce you to our line-up of the Republican All-Stars that we're counting on to bring our Senate team to victory in 1990.

You'll meet one of our newest stars, Congresswoman Lynn Martin, who is locked in a tight battle with liberal Senator Paul Simon in Illinois. And you'll join veteran Senator Jesse Helms who's determined to come out on top in what promises to be a fierce Senate contest in North Carolina.

Our TEAM '90 roster goes on and on, as we root for Claudine Schneider in Rhode Island, Tom Tauke in Iowa, Hank Brown in Colorado, Hal Daub in Nebraska, Mitch McConnell in Kentucky and other incumbents and challengers in hot Senate contests from coast-to-coast.

When you think about it, TEAM '90 is a great way to get us all in the spirit to go out and do our best to win in November. Acting now we can ensure that, when this election season is over, George Bush can look forward to the Republican Senate Majority he needs to keep America moving forward to a brighter future.

Our Spring Briefing begins on Wednesday, May 2nd, when we "GREET THE TEAM" at our welcome reception with Republican members of the U.S. Senate, the U.S. House of Representatives and top Bush Administration officials.

The following morning, you'll join some of our Senators and their key Senate aides at a state or regional breakfast designed to give you the chance to get acquainted with them and with fellow Inner Circle members from your area of the country.

Our morning session will bring you face to face with some of the nation's top political strategists -- the media experts, consultants and pollsters who read the pulse of the electorate and help turn out the winning votes that will bring about a solid GOP victory in November.

In addition, you'll also meet our TEAM '90 ALL-STARS, the candidates we're counting on to score the impressive victories to once again put the U.S. Senate in Republican hands.

Our "PRESIDENT'S TEAM" luncheon will honor a member of the President's Cabinet and you'll hear an insider's view from someone who is working side by side with our President in shaping the America of the 1990's.

We've set aside the afternoon session of our Spring Briefing for a serious discussion of some of the most important issues presently facing our legislators. At TEAM '90, you'll join with Republican Senators, Cabinet members and Administration officials for a full day of policy briefings on the major issues of the day.

We are making special efforts to ensure that there is plenty of time for "give and take" discussions between our featured speakers and our members.

Finally, we'll cap our TEAM '90 gathering with a spectacular "SALUTE TO A WINNING SEASON" gala dinner and dance which will feature President and Mrs. Bush and bring together a wide array of Senators, challengers, Administration officials and sports celebrities.

Please see the enclosed agenda which lists all of our TEAM '90 events as well as information about air travel and hotel accommodations.

To register for TEAM '90 simply fill out the enclosed registration material and return it along with your 1990 membership commitment to me today.

As is policy with all Inner Circle events, your membership must be a fully renewed in order for you to participate in TEAM '90. Please, if you have not already done so, take a moment now to return your annual membership commitment of $1,000 ($2,000 per couple). By renewing at this time, you can show President Bush that he can continue to count on you to help him score the needed victories in November.

Remember, from the moment he took office President Bush offered the Democrats in Congress the opportunity to be part of the new team that would continue to build a better America. Unfortunately, these Democrats have consistently proven that they're determined to defeat the President at every turn.

That's why it's up to all of us to give our President the extra support he needs to help him win the majority -- and win it big in 1990!

Your participation at TEAM '90 is important. It's a way of showing our President that he can continue to count on you to help even the score in the United States Senate -- starting this year!

Please support our 1990 Senate team and register for the Spring Briefing today.

I look forward to seeing you in Washington on May 2nd and 3rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Don Nickles
Chairman

P.S. Joining in the excitement of TEAM '90 makes you an important part in our plans for a big Republican win in November!

So, plan now to join President and Mrs. Bush and all of my Republican colleagues for TEAM '90 here in Washington. Please use the enclosed Registration Form to renew your membership with a contribution of $1,000 ($2,000 per couple) and to register for our TEAM '90 Spring Briefing today. Thank you.

BOB DOLE

Mr. John Sample
123 Any Street

Dear Mr. Sample:

On behalf of my colleagues in the United States Senate, it is my privilege to invite you to accept membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle for a private reception on the grounds of the Vice President's residence.

Senator John Warner placed your name in nomination because he believes your accomplishments and commitment to our nation prove you worthy of membership in this prestigious organization.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of individuals who gather together on a regular basis to discuss national and regional topics in a comfortable mix of business and social gatherings.

Our next Inner Circle Briefing will be held in Washington, D.C., on September 23rd and 24th. The schedule for this event includes the private reception at the Vice President's residence, a full day of closed-door briefings by key Washington officials, and a members-only luncheon featuring one of the Republican Party's most noteworthy leaders.

You are also invited to participate in something truly unique to the Inner Circle.

On Monday evening, September 24th, you'll be joining a Republican Senator, Cabinet member or high-ranking Bush Administration official at one of our special VIP dinners. These private dinners, limited to Inner Circle members only, are held in private homes, elegant restaurants and hotels, and at beautiful historical sites.

included Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Jack Kemp, and Senators Phil Gramm, Nancy Kassebaum, Connie Mack and Pete Wilson, among others.

It will also be my privilege to host one of these dinners personally.

Since reservations to this event are limited, I hope you will return your Nomination Acceptance today to reserve your place at the Fall Briefing.

As the enclosed agenda for the September meeting notes, Inner Circle members will have an opportunity to meet with many key government officials. Through panel discussions and question-and-answer sessions, Inner Circle members will attend a series of briefings on the political and economic upheavals sweeping across Eastern Europe, trade and monetary policy and the 1990 elections with national and international leaders.

Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, former Secretary of State George Shultz, White House Chief of Staff John Sununu and former Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick are among the many well-known officials who have in the past taken an active role in personally briefing Inner Circle members.

But of course the Inner Circle's schedule of events won't be over this fall. Nominees who join at this time will also be eligible for a full twelve months of Inner Circle activities both here in Washington and around the country. You'll be kept abreast of upcoming events on a regular basis, including the 1991 Inner Circle Spring Briefing, which traditionally features a dinner hosted by the President.

Many other benefits are made available to Inner Circle members. These are explained more fully in the enclosed Inner Circle Membership Prospectus. The financial details of Inner Circle membership are also covered in the accompanying Membership Prospectus.

After reviewing the agenda for our Spring Briefing and the Membership Prospectus, I hope that you will agree with me that Inner Circle membership is a worthwhile investment of your time and commitment.

the private reception with Vice President Quayle -- must be made many weeks ahead of time, it is imperative that I hear from you soon as to whether or not you will accept this nomination to join the Inner Circle. So please fill out the enclosed Inner Circle Nomination Acceptance and return it as soon as possible.

I look forward to welcoming you to Washington on September 23rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Bob Dole
Senate Republican Leader

P.S. It is important that you fill out all information regarding your date of birth and Social Security number when accepting your Inner Circle nomination, as this information is required by the Secret Service for clearance to all events with President Bush and Vice President Quayle.

If you have any questions concerning Inner Circle membership, please feel free to call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106.

Republican Senatorial

Inner Circle

January 1981

PURPOSE

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is dedicated to advancing America's heritage of freedom and prosperity by recapturing a Republican Majority in the United States Senate. Founded in 1979, the Inner Circle was instrumental in electing a Republican Senate Majority in 1980, and in preserving that majority in 1982 and 1984.

Members are nominated by a U.S. Senator and represent an impressive cross-section of American society—community leaders, business executives, entrepreneurs, retirees, sports and entertainment celebrities—with a deep interest in our nation's prosperity and security.

As a member of the Inner Circle, you will be encouraged to forge personal contacts with Republican Senators, senior White House officials, Cabinet secretaries and Party leaders. Toward that end, you will be invited to Inner Circle members only gatherings in Washington, D.C. and around the country. These meetings provide direct, straightforward briefings on world and national events with key decision makers at the highest levels of our government.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

While there are many benefits to Inner Circle membership, perhaps the most rewarding are the twice annual Inner Circle Briefings. Held in Washington, D.C., these gatherings bring together Washington's top policy makers with Inner Circle members in both business and social settings.

■ Annual Inner Circle Spring Briefing

■ Annual Inner Circle Fall Briefing

Featuring closed door briefings, a private reception traditionally hosted by the Vice President, and the choice of a VIP dinner hosted by Republican Senators, Cabinet secretaries and Administration officials at a historic Washington landmark or internationally acclaimed restaurant.

■ Exclusive Publications

Two exclusive publications, POLITICAL CIRCLE and GOPeople, are provided to report on campaign and political developments, profile Senate candidates and keep members up-to-date on Inner Circle events.

■ Members-only Hotline

Toll-free hotline to the Inner Circle office in Washington, D.C., where Inner Circle staff can provide up to the minute information on pending legislation, congressional hearings, administration policy and, of course, upcoming Inner Circle activities.

■ Inner Circle Staff

Assistance by Inner Circle staff in arranging White House tours and obtaining passes to the Senate and House galleries and information on other Washington landmarks.

■ Other Benefits

MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Inner Circle membership entails an annual commitment of $1,000 per person ($2,000 per couple). Since 100% of the membership dues is used solely for direct contributions and campaign assistance to Republican Senate candidates, a conference fee to cover meeting costs is assessed to members attending our events. Conference fees average $250-$300 per person for all events at a meeting.

Inner Circle

Dear Inner Circle Nominee:

It's one of the most historic homes in America.

And, because it's also the home of one of America's most famous families, few individuals decline an invitation to attend an event there.

That's why I'm writing to you today.

Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle have graciously invited the members of the Inner Circle to join them for a reception on the lawn of the Vice President's residence during the Inner Circle's Fall Briefing, September 23rd and 24th.

By now, you have already heard from both Vice President Quayle and Senator Bob Dole inviting you to become a member of this prestigious group. If you have already responded to their invitations, thank you. If not, it is imperative that I hear from you today -- one way or the other -- so I know whether or not to include you in the planning for our Fall Briefing.

I know that you do not want to be left out.

Truly, no other organization offers you the opportunity to meet the Vice President and his wife at their home, participate in closed-door briefings with national and international figures, and then top the evening off by joining a Senator, Cabinet member or U.S. Senate candidate for a private dinner.

All within a single two day trip to Washington!

By accepting this invitation now, you'll also be able to participate in a full year's worth of exciting Inner Circle activities.

Perhaps the greatest asset about membership in the

Inner Circle is that it brings together men and women who share a common commitment -- a commitment to a continuation of the strong, responsible Republican leadership which has re-shaped and rejuvenated this country during the past ten years.

That's because 100% of your membership dues to the Inner Circle are used to provide vital campaign assistance for our Senate candidates, incumbents and challengers alike, to restore the Republican majority in the United States Senate.

I want to assure you that Inner Circle membership will be one of the most rewarding investments you will ever make.

To accept your Inner Circle membership and secure your place for all of our upcoming events, please complete the enclosed Nomination Acceptance and Fall Briefing Registration form, and return it to me in the enclosed postage-paid envelope.

Please don't delay -- it is imperative that I have this information in hand as soon as possible.

If you can't accept your Inner Circle nomination at this time, I understand. However, I would hope that you will register your approval of our quest for a Republican Senate Majority by forwarding a contribution.

I know that President Bush, Vice President Quayle and my Republican Senate colleagues will be delighted to learn that you have joined them in the ranks of our nation's leadership as a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle.

I look forward to seeing you at the Vice President's residence on September 23rd.

Sincerely,

Senator Don Nickles
Chairman

P.S. Since our reception with Vice President and Mrs. Quayle requires Secret Service clearance for everyone, it is mandatory that you include your social security number and date of birth on your membership acceptance form. If you have any questions or need additional information, please call our Membership Services Coordinator, Chris Young, at (202) 675-6106. Thank you.

'Public' Financing, Thanks to Wealthy Republican Donors

It wasn't that long ago that the Democratic and Republican Senatorial campaign committees had trouble raising enough money to "max out" — that is, to put the maximum legal level of funding into each of the competitive races for the US Senate.

The National Republican Senatorial Committee first hit full stride during the early 1980s, while Democrats were first able to max out in the most competitive races in 1986. Since then, both committees — particularly the Republicans — have tried hard to shoehorn every dollar they possibly can into tight contests.

The GOP has been on the cutting edge of testing and extending their reach around the Federal Election Campaign Act. A new effort already underway may be their most innovative attempt yet.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of several thousand well-heeled donors that give between $1,000 and $5,000 a year to the National Republican Senatorial Committee; it's been in existence for years.

Twice a year, Inner Circle members (read donors) come to Washington to be "briefed" by GOP Congressional and Administration officials and to be wined and dined. Between meetings, members get newsletters, tour passes, and other constituent-like service from the NRSC.

In the past, group proceeds went directly into NRSC coffers, which combined with fundraising from other sources such as direct mail, go toward an annual dinner and the Senatorial Trust ($10,000 a year). The money filled the committee's war chest for contributions to Senatorial candidates and covered the overhead expenses of the committee itself.

Legally, the NRSC and the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee can contribute up to $17,500 to each of its candidates, plus spend an additional sum, depending upon the size of the state, on behalf of their candidates in so-called "coordinated expenditures."

Based on a complicated formula (two cents multiplied by the voting age population with a built-in inflation escalator), the limits in this year's Senate contests range from a low of $100,245.92 in the smallest states to a high of $1,210,541.28 in the largest. Combined, the total is $10,840,253.92 for 1990.

The NRSC has been able to "max out" in the competitive races with money to spare, so the committee recently retooled its Inner Circle to funnel significantly more funds into key races over and above that allowed by law.

It's a move one envious Democratic strategist called "brilliant" and conceded was entirely within the law. The money never technically passes through the NRSC treasury and doesn't count towards the legal limits. It operates like this: Jane Doe, responding to a direct mail invitation to join the Circle, writes a $1,000 check made payable to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990.

According to the material accompanying the solicitation, 29 percent, or $290 of the contribution, would be divided equally among ten GOP incumbents facing re-election this year: Rudy Boschwitz (Minn), Thad Cochran (Miss), Bill Cohen (Maine), Pete Domenici (NM), Phil Gramm (Texas), Mark Hatfield (Ore), Alan Simpson (Wyo), Ted Stevens (Alaska), Strom Thurmond (SC), and John Warner (Va). In effect, each of these candidates would receive a contribution from Jane Doe for $29.

Fifty-eight percent of the contribution ($580) would be divided among 16 other 1990 GOP candidates. Contributions of $36.25 in Doe's name would go to seven non-incumbents specified in the material: Ben Bagert (La), Hank Brown (Colo), Bill Cabaniss (Ala), Hal Daub (Neb), Lynn Martin (Ill), Claudine Schneider (RI) Bob Smith (NH), and Tom Tauke (Iowa).

The eventual winners in four other states with contested nominations (Idaho, Massachusetts, Michigan, and Montana) would also get $36.25 from Doe, as would three other GOP Senate incumbents: Jesse Helms (NC), Mitch McConnell (Ky), and Larry Pressler (SD).

Another 12 percent ($120) would be split among 20 incumbents who won't be up for re-election until 1992 or 1994. Kit Bond (Mo), Conrad Burns (Mont), John Chafee (RI), Alfonse D'Amato (NY), David Durenberger (Minn), Jake Garn (Utah), Slade Gorton (Wash), John Heinz (Pa), Jim Jeffords (Vt), Bob Kasten (Wis), Trent Lott (Miss), Richard Lugar (Ind), Connie Mack (Fla), John McCain (Ariz), Frank Murkowski (Alaska), Don Nickles (Okla), Bob Packwood (Ore), Arlen Specter (Pa), Steve Symms (Idaho), and Malcolm Wallop (Wyo) would each get $6 from Circle members.

Though there are a few obvious incumbents on the list who are unlikely to face a serious challenge, for the most part this is a who's who of the 1992 and 1994 Democratic targets.

While Common Cause will probably view such a program with dismay, and Democrats will be feeling a combination of admiration and fear, this is the cleanest possible money in American politics. A contributor who gives Jake Garn, for example, the equivalent of six bucks a year isn't likely to have the influence of a Charles Keating. Inner Circle members get their picture taken with Bob Dole, a couple of meals with soggy egg rolls and some free drinks; the candidates get money with a minimal amount of personal effort. It ain't public financing, but it's close.

One envious Democratic strategist called the NRSC's new fundraising plan 'brilliant' and conceded it was entirely legal.

INTERNAL REPORTS CHECKED: National Republican Senatorial Committee
Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990
Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91

I. GENERATION OF MATTER

On September 27, 1990, the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee ("DSCC") filed a complaint (MUR 3131) alleging that the National Republican Senatorial Committee ("NRSC") and 48 named candidate committees had violated the Federal Election Campaign Act ("the Act") as the result of a fundraising program called the "Inner Circle" by failing to attribute to the NRSC, and to report, contributions to Senate candidates over which the NRSC exerted "direction or control." Shortly thereafter, on October 9, 1990, a complaint was filed against the NRSC and its chairman, Senator Don Nickles, by Common Cause (MUR 3135) alleging the making of contributions to candidates for the U.S. Senate in excess of the limitations of the Act and the failure to report those contributions.

Notifications of these complaints were sent to Senator Nickles, to all committees specifically cited as respondents, and to all committees named in solicitation information as potential beneficiaries of the fundraising efforts at issue. In addition, separate notifications were sent to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91, both of which had registered with the Commission as political committees.

Generally, the responses received from the candidate committees stated that they "expect[ed] to concur with the response filed by the Inner Circle."¹ On January 14, 1991, responses were received from counsel on behalf of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 (denoted together by counsel as the "Inner Circle joint fundraising committees"). There have been no separate responses submitted on behalf of the NRSC.

1. A more extensive response was received from the People for John Heinz Committee. (See below.)

II. FACTUAL AND LEGAL ANALYSIS

A. Background

On March 16, 1990, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 ("Inner Circle 1990") filed a statement of organization with the Commission, identifying itself as a multi-candidate committee. It also was stated that the committee had been "organized to serve as a Joint Fundraising Committee pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 102.14" and was "comprised of . . . [54] participating committees," all of which were listed. The address given was 425 Second Street, N.E., Washington, D.C., and the treasurer was James L. Hagen. The 54 committees included 52 authorized committees of candidates for the U.S. Senate, the National Republican Senatorial Committee - Expenditures, and the National Republican Senatorial Committee - Contributions.

According to information apparently supplied to contributors, funds received by Inner Circle 1990 would be divided as follows:

- a. Equal shares of 29% of total funds to 10 named committees for the 1990 general election;
- b. Equal shares of 58% of total funds to 16 named committees for the 1990 general election²;
- c. Equal shares of 12% of total funds to 20 named committees for their next primary election; and
- d. 1% of all net fundraising proceeds to the NRSC.

In addition, it was stated that "no portion of any contribution will be allocated to the Committee of any candidate seeking election in the state of the contributor; such portion shall be allocated solely as a contribution to the National Republican Senatorial Committee." Any excessive contributions would be allocated to the NRSC. Contributors were free to designate a contribution to a particular participant. Corporate contributions would be allocated to the NRSC Building Fund.

2. In four instances more than one committee was cited per state, with the statement that the proceeds would go to the winner of the primary.

Beginning with the 1990 April Monthly Report and ending with the 1990 Year-End Report, Inner Circle 1990 reported a total of $3,547,511 in receipts and $3,389,120 in disbursements. These included the receipt of a $300,000 loan on March 13, 1990, from Signet Bank/Virginia, which was repaid on April 5, 1990, and a total of $1,452,800 in transfers-out to candidate committees plus a $12,000 transfer to the NRSC. The transfers consisted of $43,500 each sent to 13 committees, $34,800 each sent to ten committees, and $7,200 each sent to 20 committees on June 5-6, 1990, as well as $43,500 sent to one committee on August 8, $10,000 each sent to 13 committees and $4,000-$8,000 each sent to 10 committees on August 27, $53,500 each transferred to two committees in September, $500-$1,700 distributed to each of 19 committees in October, and $10,000 sent to one committee in November.

Also included among the disbursements was a total of $185,781 in payments on June 29, 1990, ($123,601.57), on August 16, 1990, ($23,764.64), and on October 19, 1990, ($38,415.44), to NRSC-Contributions for advances of some combination of "Wages," "Payroll," "Overhead," "Direct Mail" and "Meetings." Inner Circle 1990 first reported an estimate of $25,000 owed the NRSC in its 1990 May Monthly Report and added $73,170 to the debt owed in the June Monthly Report and another $25,431 in the July Monthly Report for the total of $123,601.57. The $23,764.64 debt was reported as incurred in July and the $38,415.44 debt as incurred in September. Presumably this was based upon billings which the NRSC submitted to Inner Circle 1990. The NRSC did not report these amounts as debts owed to itself.

As of December 31, 1990, Inner Circle 1990 reported no debts owed and cash on hand of $158,389. Its 1991 February Monthly Report showed no disbursements and only $1,675 in receipts as the result of the sale of its mailing list to the NRSC, while its 1991 March Monthly Report showed no receipts or disbursements and cash on hand of $160,064.90, and its April Monthly Report showed receipts of $1,675 in form of interest payments, expenditures of $1,021 to the NRSC for payroll/overhead, and cash on hand of $159,042.

On August 13, 1990, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 ("Inner Circle 1990-91") registered with the Commission. Again, this registering entity identified itself as a multi-candidate committee and as a joint fundraising committee comprised of an attached list of participating committees, in this case 51 authorized committees of candidates for the U.S. Senate, the National Republican Senatorial Committee - Expenditures, and the National Republican Senatorial Committee - Contributions. The address and treasurer were the same as those for Inner Circle 1990.

According to information apparently sent to potential contributors, funds to be received by Inner Circle 1990-91 would be distributed as follows:

- a. Equal shares of 43% of total funds to 11 committees for the 1990 general election;
- b. Equal shares of 35% of total funds to 5 committees for the 1990 general election;

c. Equal shares of 12% of total funds to 21 committees for their next primary election;

d. Equal shares of 9% of total funds to 12 committees for the 1990 general election and a 1990 open primary election in Louisiana; and

e. 1% of all net proceeds to the NRSC.

The allocation information also contained additional details comparable to those included with the Inner Circle 1990 solicitations cited above, except that any contributions from a candidate's own state would be allocated to other committees in the same category, not to the NRSC.

Inner Circle 1990-91 reported totals of $1,945,620 in receipts and $1,916,451 in expenditures in 1990. These figures included the receipt of a $300,000 loan from Signet Bank on August 15, 1990, which was repaid on September 11, 1990, and a total of $500,297 in transfers to candidate committees on October 4 and November 2 in amounts which included $35,000 each to five committees, $20,000 each to 11 committees, $3,750 each to 12 committees and $2,857 to 21 committees. The NRSC itself was allocated $300.

The Inner Circle 1990-91 also reported payments on October 19, 1990, of debts totaling $108,735.78 owed the NRSC; these debts were for "Payroll/Overhead/Direct Mail," and had been first reported as owed in Inner Circle 1990-91's October Monthly Report. Again, the NRSC apparently never reported these amounts as debts owed by Inner Circle 1990-91, although it did report the receipt of the "reimbursement" on October 22. As of December 31, 1990, Inner Circle 1990-91 reported $29,168 in cash on hand and no debts owed. In its 1991 March Monthly Report the committee showed no receipts and $3,688 in expenditures, the latter being for "meeting expenses." Its April Monthly Report showed $2,571 in receipts, including $1,833 in interest payments, $8,370 in operating expenditures, including a $3,807 payment to the NRSC for "payroll/overhead/deliveries," and cash on hand of $16,525.

During the 1989-90 election cycle the NRSC reported making direct contributions totaling $696,017 to 57 candidates for the Senate, 37 of whose committees were participants in either Inner Circle 1990 or Inner Circle 1990-91 or both. Twenty-eight of the latter 37 committees, all involved in 1990 elections, received $15,000 or more in direct contributions.³ Candidates whose committees each received direct contributions from the NRSC of $15,000 as early as 1989 included Rudy Boschwitz, Bill Cabaniss, Daniel Coats, Thad Cochran, William Cohen, Pete Domenici, Lynn Martin, Mitch McConnell, Strom Thurmond, and John Warner, while Ben Bagert's committee received a $10,000 direct contribution on January 31, $423 on February 22 and $6,400 on April 30, 1990, Tom Tauke's committee received $15,000 on February 1 and $1,050 on February 22, 1990, Hank Brown's and Hal Daub's committees received $15,000 on March 1, 1990, Larry Pressler's committee received

3. These twenty-eight candidates were Ben Bagert ($17,500), Rudy Boschwitz ($17,166), Jane Brady ($16,176), Hank Brown ($17,400), Bill Cabaniss ($16,176), Daniel Coats ($16,916), Thad Cochran ($16,176), William Cohen ($17,503), Hal Daub ($16,924), Pete Domenici ($16,182), Philip Gramm ($16,176), Mark Hatfield ($16,897), Jesse Helms ($16,176), Allen Kolstad ($16,410), Lynn Martin ($18,201), Mitch McConnell ($17,451), Larry Pressler ($16,176), James Rappaport ($16,566), Patricia Saiki ($17,380), Claudine Schneider ($17,425), William Schuette ($17,400), Alan Simpson ($16,176), Robert Smith ($17,194), Ted Stevens ($16,966), Tom Tauke ($17,226), Strom Thurmond ($16,176), John Warner ($15,000) and Christine Whitman ($16,176).

$15,000 on March 15, 1990, Christine Whitman's committee received $15,000 on April 15, 1990, Jane Brady's received $15,000 on May 22, 1990, Philip Gramm's, Mark Hatfield's, Jesse Helms', Claudine Schneider's, Alan Simpson's, and Ted Stevens' committees received $15,000 each on May 1, 1990, and Allen Kolstad's and Patricia Saiki's committees received $15,000 each on June 7, 1990. All of these contributions were thus made in advance of the $162,017 in repayments of NRSC advances sent to the NRSC on June 29 and August 16, 1990, by Inner Circle 1990, and in advance of the $38,415 and $108,736 in such repayments made by Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91 respectively on October 19, 1990. In addition, James Rappaport's committee received $15,000 on September 19, 1990, William Schuette's committee received $15,000 on August 6 and $1,200 on August 16, 1990, and Robert Smith's committee received $15,000 on September 12, 1990, again well ahead of the October 19, 1990, repayments of the NRSC.

During 1989-90 the NRSC received authorizations from the Republican National Committee ("RNC") and from the Republican state party committees of Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, and Wyoming to serve as the agent of those committees for purposes of making expenditures pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 441a(d)(3). In all instances except those involving the party committees in Iowa and Texas, the NRSC was authorized to use 100% of the state committee's limitation; in Iowa the NRSC was limited to the amount not already utilized by the Republican Party of that state, and in Texas the NRSC was limited to 100% less $8,750.

The NRSC reported making coordinated party expenditures totaling $7,689,154 on behalf of 43 Senate candidates, including 31 who participated in the Inner Circle programs; of the latter 31 committees, 28 each benefited from more than $80,000 in coordinated expenditures made by the NRSC.⁴ These 28 included the committees of Ben Bagert, Bill Cabaniss, Jesse Helms, Lynn Martin and John Warner which had benefited from $95,877, $100,375, $175,000, $24,464 and $60,529 respectively in coordinated NRSC expenditures prior to the first $123,601 repayment of the NRSC's advances to Inner Circle 1990 on June 29, 1990.

B. Statutory and Regulatory Provisions

The Federal Election Campaign Act ("the Act") defines "contribution" as including "any gift, . . . loan, advance, . . . or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any election for Federal office." The Act generally limits to an aggregate of $5,000 the contributions which a multi-candidate committee may make to a candidate committee per election. 2 U.S.C.

4. These 28 candidates were Ben Bagert ($97,311), Rudy Boschwitz ($323,975), Jane Brady ($100,560), Hank Brown ($231,914), Bill Cabaniss ($302,685), Daniel Coats ($415,613), William Cohen ($100,559), Larry Craig ($100,272), Hal Daub ($118,283), Pete Domenici ($107,998), Philip Gramm ($1,090,385), Mark Hatfield ($211,694), Jesse Helms ($495,000), Alan Kolstad ($97,037), Lynn Martin ($857,997), Mitch McConnell ($277,536), Larry Pressler ($99,887), James Rappaport ($460,162), Patricia Saiki ($100,560), Claudine Schneider ($99,874), William Schuette ($685,967), Alan Simpson ($84,445), Robert Smith ($100,559), Ted Stevens ($100,556), Tom Tauke ($212,775), Strom Thurmond ($241,689), John Warner ($86,417), and Christine Whitman ($402,728).

§ 441a(a)(2)(A). However, national party committees or a party's Senatorial campaign committee are granted a special contribution limitation of $17,500 in the election year in which the recipient is a candidate. 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h). Any contribution made by a Senate committee in a year other than the candidate's election year will be considered to have been made in the latter year. 11 C.F.R. § 110.2(e). The national committee and state committees of a political party may each make expenditures in connection with the general election campaign of a candidate for the office of Senator provided that such expenditures do not exceed the greater of 2 cents multiplied by the voting age population of the state involved or $20,000. 2 U.S.C. § 441a(d). Although the Senate campaign committee of a political party is not itself authorized by this section to make these expenditures, the national and state party committees may agree that the Senate committee may expend their respective coordinated party expenditure allowances on their behalf. See FEC v. Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, 454 U.S. 27 (1981)

Pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(5), "all contributions made by political committees established or financed or maintained or controlled by any corporation, labor organization, or any other person . . . or by any group of such persons, shall be considered to have been made by a single political committee" Pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 100.5(g)(2) and (3), "all committees . . . established, financed, maintained or controlled by the same . . . group of persons . . . are affiliated. . . . Affiliated committees sharing a single contribution limitation . . . include all of the committees established, financed, maintained or controlled by . . . the same person or group of persons." See also 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(a)(2).

The Act further provides that any person, which is defined to include a committee, may act as a conduit or intermediary of contributions earmarked for a particular candidate, provided that the conduit or intermediary reports the original source and the intended recipient of such earmarked contributions to the Commission and the intended recipient. 2 U.S.C. § 441(a)(8); 11 C.F.R. § 110.6.

Commission regulations state that "earmarked means a designation, instruction, or encumbrance (including those which are direct or indirect, express or implied, oral or written) which results in all or any part of a contribution or expenditure being made to, or expended on behalf of, a clearly identified candidate or a candidate's authorized committee." 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b). These regulations require a conduit or intermediary to transmit an earmarked contribution to the intended recipient within 10 days of the conduit's or intermediary's receipt of the contribution. 11 C.F.R. § 102.8(a) and (d). The regulations further require that the conduit or intermediary report to the Commission and to the intended recipient the identification of each contributor, the amount of the contribution, the date received by the conduit, the intended recipient "as designated by the contributor," the date the contribution was passed on to the intended recipient and whether it was passed on in cash, by the contributor's check or by the conduit's check. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(c). Contributions which pass through the conduit's account are to be disclosed, regardless of amount, on schedules of itemized receipts and expenditures filed with the Commission by the conduit and are to be included in the total receipts and disbursements reported by the conduit. See 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(c)(1)(i).

Commission regulations also provide that a conduit's or intermediary's contribution limits are not affected by passing on earmarked contributions except where the conduit exercises any direction or control over the choice of the recipient candidate. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(1). The regulations state that if the conduit or intermediary exercises direction or control over the choice of the recipient candidate, the contribution shall be considered a contribution by both the original contributor and the conduit and shall be so reported. 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2).

The Act is largely silent on the subject of joint fundraising.⁵ Commission regulations permit political committees to engage in joint fundraising either with each other or with unregistered committees or organizations. The participants in such an effort may either establish a separate committee to act as their fundraising representative, or may select one of their number to serve in that capacity. Any separate committee formed to serve as the fundraising representative is an authorized committee of each participant and a reporting committee itself. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(1)(i) and (b). The role of the fundraising representative is to collect contributions, pay fundraising expenses from the proceeds and from advances made by participants, and to disburse the net proceeds to the participants. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b).

All participants in a joint fundraising activity must enter into a written agreement which identifies the fundraising representative and states a formula for the allocation of proceeds. That same formula is to be used to allocate expenses incurred. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(1).

The amounts of funds to be advanced by each participant to meet fundraising costs are also to be allocated pursuant to the same formula. A participant may advance more than its allocable share; however, any amount advanced in excess of that share must not exceed the amount which that participant could lawfully contribute to the other participants. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b)(3).

Every solicitation for contributions undertaken as part of a joint fundraising effort must include a notice which includes the names of all participants, an explanation of the allocation formula to be used, a statement that the contributor may designate his or her contribution for a specific recipient, and a statement that the allocation formula may change if a contribution would cause the contributor to exceed the contribution limitations. In addition, if one of the participants can lawfully accept contributions prohibited by the Act, the notice must contain a statement that prohibited contributions will go only to those participants which may lawfully receive them. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2)(i) and (ii).

The participants or the fundraising representative must establish a separate account to be used only for the purpose of depositing and disbursing joint fundraising proceeds. Only permissible contributions may be deposited into this account. Each participant is required to report this account as a depository. All joint fundraising proceeds are to be deposited into this account within 10 days of receipt; however, the fundraising representative may delay distribution until all contributions have been received and expenses paid. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(3).

If the participants in a joint fundraising effort are not affiliated, the fundraising representative must allocate each participants' share of expenses based upon the formula for the allocation of receipts. The fundraising representative is then to subtract the participant's share of expenses from its allocated share of gross proceeds in order to determine the amount of net proceeds to be distributed to that participant. 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(7)(A).

2 U.S.C. § 434(b) requires that political committees report all contributions made and received, all expenditures made pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 441a(d) and the amount and nature of all outstanding debts and obligations owed to and by such committees.

C. Common Cause v. FEC

In September, 1986, the NRSC mass-mailed twenty-four versions of a solicitation for contributions to be used to assist Republican candidates for the United States Senate. Each version mentioned four states in which U.S. Senate campaigns were occurring that year but did not give the names of the Republican candidates in those states. A total of twelve different campaigns were cited, although some were mentioned in more letters than were others.

The different versions of the solicitation letter were sent to different mailing lists with different histories of giving in support of Republican candidates, and they requested differing amounts of contributions, depending upon those past histories of support. Each letter indicated that the amount contributed in response would be divided equally among the four campaigns mentioned in the letter. Each letter requested that the recipient make his or her check payable to the NRSC or to programs under the control of the NRSC such as the "Inner Circle" or "Republican Presidential Task Force." The funds received were deposited into bank accounts under the control of the NRSC. The funds were then disbursed by the NRSC to the various campaigns.

Each of the twelve campaigns benefited signed an agreement with the NRSC stating that that campaign would pay for the costs of mailings mentioning its particular race. No candidate or candidate committee participated in the planning, approval, implementation or oversight of the NRSC solicitation program, nor did any candidate authorize or approve the letters sent by the NRSC as part of the program.

On October 28, 1986, Common Cause filed a complaint with the Commission alleging that the NRSC had violated the contribution limitations of the Act by making excessive contributions to the candidates whose campaigns were benefited by the 1986 solicitation program. On April 7, 1987, the Commission found reason to believe that the NRSC had violated 2 U.S.C. §§ 434(b), 441a(h), 441d(a) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(c)(2).

After an investigation and an exchange of briefs, the Commission on July 26, 1988, deadlocked 3-3 on certain recommendations made by the General Counsel. These included the recommendation that the Commission find probable cause to believe that the NRSC had violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(c)(2) by failing to report as contributions more than $2.7 million paid to twelve authorized committees because the NRSC had exerted "direction or control" over the choice of the recipient candidates. The Commission also deadlocked on the General Counsel's recommendation that probable cause to believe be found with respect to the making of excessive contributions totaling more than $2.6 million in violation of 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h). The Commission did find probable cause to believe with respect to other violations, including excessive contributions totaling $545,249.25, a figure which included costs associated with unsuccessful solicitations which had not been repaid by the candidate committees. On December 23, 1988, the Commission voted to accept a conciliation agreement containing findings of all of the violations for which the Commission had found probable cause.

On February 27, 1989, Common Cause filed suit in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(8) requesting that the court declare to be arbitrary and capricious and contrary to law the Commission's dismissal of charges in its 1986 complaint that the NRSC had violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2), and that the court order the Commission to proceed to act on the dismissed charges. On January 24, 1990, the court issued Findings of Fact, Conclusions of Law and an Order in which the court determined that the Commission's decision to dismiss Common Cause's charges that the NRSC violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2) was arbitrary and capricious and contrary to law. Specifically the court concluded that the contributions sent to the NRSC in response to its solicitation letters were not "earmarked" within the meaning of 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(b) and that the NRSC had exercised "direction or control" over the contributions in question within the meaning of 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d). The court ordered the Commission to conform to its declaration within thirty days of the court's order. See Common Cause v. FEC, 729 F. Supp. 148 (D.D.C. 1990).

On February 15, 1990, the Commission found probable cause to believe that the NRSC had violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d)(2) by failing to report as contributions from the NRSC approximately $2,718,813.60 in payments in 1986 to twelve authorized candidates for the United States Senate. The Commission also found probable cause to believe that the NRSC had violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h) by exceeding its limitation on contributions to twelve authorized candidates for the United States Senate by approximately $2,676,916. Attempts to secure an acceptable conciliation agreement were unsuccessful and, on August 21, 1990, the Commission voted to authorize the filing of a civil suit for relief in federal district court. Such suit was filed on August 24, 1990. On April 9, 1991, the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in FEC v. National Republican Senatorial Committee, C.A. No. 90-2055, declared that the NRSC, "by its September 1986 fundraising solicitation on behalf of twelve Republican candidates for the United States Senate, exercised 'direction or control over the choice of the recipient candidate' within the meaning of 11 CFR 110.6(d). . .," further declared that "because NRSC exercised 'direction or control' over the contributions, NRSC and its then-treasurer (A) violated

2 U.S.C. section 434(b) . . .; and (B) violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h) . . ."; and ordered the NRSC to pay a civil penalty of $24,000.⁶

The District Court's finding of direction or control in FEC v. National Republican Senatorial Committee was based upon the facts that the NRSC's 1986 solicitation program there at issue involved the NRSC, not the candidates, choosing both the number of letters in which each campaign would be mentioned and the groupings of candidates in each letter. Further, "[t]he NRSC, and not the candidates, chose which mailing lists, with which donation histories, would be used for each version of the letter." The court went on, Potential donors were given a single donation option if they wished to respond to the Vice President's request for funds: to write checks to NRSC for equal distribution to the four pre-selected candidates. A precise amount was requested. While donors were not told they were required to contribute according to the formula, there was no suggestion that they could do otherwise if they wished to contribute. At the very least, the letters created a default mechanism that established 'direction or control' over the identities of candidates who would benefit from unencumbered responses and the formula for division of contributions.

The District Court also noted that "the September 1986 letters referred only vaguely to candidates in four states without giving potential donors any information about those candidates, including even their names. The letters focused on the dangers . . . of losing Republican control of the Senate." And the court stated, [I]t is clear from the face of the solicitation package that the fundraisers hoped to raise funds for candidates for whom donors might have little specific enthusiasm by blurring the specific funding in a general pro-party message.

6. On June 4, 1991, the NRSC filed a Notice of Appeal with the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

D. The Complaints

1. MUR 3131

In the present complaint filed with the Commission by the DSCC, it is argued that, even though the two Inner Circle committees in question have registered as joint fundraising committees, they in fact constitute "a scheme of bundling" devised by the NRSC. "[T]his scheme enables NRSC to organize, directly fund and administer a massive fundraising program for the benefit of its Senate candidates" Later in the complaint it is stated,

'Direction or control,' the heart of the restrictions on bundling, describes precisely the role of the NRSC in establishing, financing and administering the Inner Circle. The Inner Circle bundling operation produces millions of dollars for candidates, all delivered by the hand of one political committee -- the NRSC.

The DSCC cites extensively to Common Cause v. FEC, arguing that the NRSC has revamped the 'Inner Circle' in a 'new and improved' form. However, this second Inner Circle model is precisely the same bundling vehicle found to violate the FECA in Common Cause v. FEC. Because the new program's 'differences' from the original are no more than cosmetic, Inner Circle II is again destined to crash against the requirements of the FECA.

In support of its allegations, the DSCC argues first of all that the Inner Circle is not a separate committee established to serve as a joint fundraising committee; rather, it is "an appendage of the NRSC."

The Inner Circle . . . is administered with the staff, with the resources, and on the premises of the NRSC Reports of the Inner Circle . . . reflect that fully 100% of its overhead and staff

7. Because the NRSC in earlier years conducted a program entitled "Inner Circle," the DSCC has designated the 1990 committees as "II". (See further discussion below.)

costs are incurred by the NRSC -- effectively advanced to the project -- and then periodically billed and reimbursed by Inner Circle II acting on behalf of the participating committees. In every detail of administration, NRSC is the real party in interest behind the Inner Circle II effort, fully supporting Inner Circle II with its personnel and with its vast financial resources.

Secondly, while the DSCC acknowledges that, even if the Inner Circle were considered "a foil" for the NRSC, the latter committee could have been selected as fundraising representative by the participants in a joint fundraising endeavor, provided that the NRSC was in fact a participant, the complaint argues that "the NRSC is not a "bona fide participant" because it "reaps no benefit from Inner Circle II."

In this regard the complaint points in particular to a memorandum dated February 23, 1990, from William Canfield, in-house counsel to the NRSC, to prospective participants in the Inner Circle 1990, noting that this memorandum nowhere states that the NRSC itself is a participant. (Attachment 1). The complaint also acknowledges that the NRSC is allocated a percentage of the proceeds ("a minute fraction"), but argues that "the NRSC's motive is not to raise money for itself. The NRSC seeks here instead to raise money for those other candidates, more commonly known as 'bundling.'" (emphasis in original).

The practice labeled "bundling" by the complaint refers to the receipt of contributions by a conduit and the passing on of those contributions to ultimate recipients, undertakings governed by 11 C.F.R. § 110.6. As stated above, conduits are bound by certain reporting requirements and, if they exert direction or control over the choice of candidates being supported, they also are deemed to have made the contributions which they are passing on to the final recipients. In the present matter, the complaint argues that the NRSC did in fact exert "direction and control" over the contributions solicited via "Inner Circle II;" thus each contribution assertedly should be charged against the NRSC's own contribution limitation with regard to each candidate benefited.

The DSCC applies to the relationship of the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees the criteria used by the Commission for determining whether or not control and therefore affiliation exist. These criteria include the involvement of one organization in the governance of another, the ability of one organization to control the officers or decision-making employees of another, the provision by one group to another of funds or goods in significant amounts, the role the first played in the creation of the second, and any similar patterns of contributions. See 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(a)(3)(ii)(A)-(J).

In the first regard, the complaint argues that the NRSC's staff "run Inner Circle II; its resources fuel its day-to-day operation."

Communications to participants, involving directions on steps to take to effect participation, are issued by NRSC personnel. All of the paper work required of participants, such as FEC filings, are prepared with materials supplied by NRSC and under NRSC direction; all such paper is returned by instructions of the NRSC to its Executive Director. The percentages and numbers in each class of participating candidates are apparently decided by the NRSC and then announced as a fait accompli to the participants. In short, while operating under the name Inner Circle, the effort is so completely organized and directed by the NRSC that a finding of control would be compelled under the affiliation regulation's control standard.

The complaint further argues that the NRSC controls the employees of the Inner Circle committees because they are all full-time paid staff of the NRSC; that the NRSC, alone, advances administrative costs; and that "Inner Circle II is a creation of the NRSC, and the candidate-participants are invitees." Thus, according to the complaint, "under the standard for determining control in the affiliation context, the NRSC and Inner Circle II would have to be deemed dependent affiliated committees. . . . By analogy to the affiliation standard, the NRSC plainly 'controls' the Inner Circle II program." And the complaint concludes, "The practical effect of the control established by the NRSC is to enable it to leave in a shambles the contribution limitations and coordinated expenditure limits of federal law."

2. MUR 3135

The complaint filed by Common Cause charges that the NRSC and its then chairman, Senator Don Nickles, knowingly and willfully violated the Act by making excessive contributions to Senate candidates and by failing to report those contributions.

According to this complaint,

[f]or years the NRSC has operated an 'Inner Circle' program for individuals who contribute $1,000 or more per year to the NRSC. This program has included special newsletters for such contributors, as well as the opportunity to participate in seminars and social events in Washington D.C. with important Republicans in government. On information and belief, the NRSC's Inner Circle mailing list of contributors who have given or are likely to give $1,000 or more per year is a valuable asset.

The complaint further asserts that in the spring of 1990 and later in the summer of the same year the NRSC organized what the NRSC termed joint fundraising committees and what the complaint terms "alter egos," i.e., the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91. It is noted that the treasurer of these entities also serves as treasurer and comptroller of the NRSC, that both "pay all their overhead and payroll expenses to the NRSC," and that the "NRSC apparently provides both with all staffing, accounting, legal, administrative, and FEC reporting support, as well as with telephones, office space and equipment, supplies, and other costs of doing business." The complaint then spells out the allocation formula to be used by each in dividing in-coming contributions. (See Background above.)

The complaint argues that, "on information and belief," the NRSC intended to treat the contributions received by means of these "solicitation programs" as contributions from the original donors, not from the NRSC; that the NRSC either selected, or "played a major role in selecting," the campaigns which would receive the proceeds; that the NRSC would exercise direction and/or control" over the contributions with regard to the timing of the distributions; and that "Senator Nickles knew of and approved in advance the illegal NRSC solicitation program"

The complaint asserts that the Inner Circle solicitations constituted an "illegal bundling scheme" because the contributions were not "earmarked" but, rather, sent via checks made payable to either the Inner Circle 1990 or the Inner Circle 1990-91 and deposited into an NRSC account "under its direction and/or control." Thus, the disbursements of the receipts were the NRSC's own contributions to the candidates subject to the limitations at 2 U.S.C. § 441a(d) and (h) and to the reporting requirements of

2 U.S.C. § 434.

Secondly, the complaint argues that, even if the NRSC is viewed as having acted as a conduit for earmarked contributions, it exerted direction or control over those contributions by choosing the recipients and the amounts each would receive. The complaint states,

The NRSC, not the individual donors, selects the campaigns that receive money from the program. The NRSC, not the individual donors, sets and can adjust the percentage each campaign will receive. The solicitations specifically allow individual contributors to designate their contributions for particular campaign(s) among those listed, highlighting the fact that, for the vast majority of contributors who do not make such a specific designation, it is the NRSC that chooses the recipient candidates and percentages of the contributions. The individual donors do not write checks to the candidate, but to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle entities, groups under the direction and/or control of the NRSC. The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle entities then draw their own checks payable to the candidates. Once the NRSC receives the individuals' checks, the power to direct and control the funds to Senatorial candidates rests with the NRSC. Through the scheme as a whole, the NRSC determines when, to whom, and in what amount the money will be disbursed to candidates.

The complaint asserts further that "the NRSC program does not qualify under the joint fundraising regulation" because the latter "covers specific events, such as dinners, receptions or picnics, on which several candidates collaborate. The joint fundraising exception was never meant to allow months-long direct-mail fundraising campaigns over the course of an entire election season." And, "the NRSC could not rely on the joint fundraising regulation because, after the decision in Common Cause v. FEC

. . . it was clear that the regulation could not justify a program that was a mirror image of the scheme that the District Court held unlawful. Thus, the NRSC has committed a knowing and willful violation of the FECA."

E. Respondents' Arguments

The response submitted by counsel on behalf of both Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91 states, Established and operated entirely within the joint fundraising provisions of the Commission's regulations, found at 11 C.F.R. § 102.17, Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91 are composed of the authorized campaign committees of numerous Republican candidates for the United States Senate and the National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC).

Regarding the inception of the committees, counsel argues that

With regard to the allocation formula, counsel asserts further that

[b]ased on a series of negotiations among representatives from the participating committees, the campaigns that decided to participate eventually arrived at a mutually agreeable allocation formula for the distributions of receipts and the payment of expenses of the committee among the participants. . . . These percentages were the subject of much bargaining among the participants, and the final amounts reflected intensive negotiations and compromise among all participants. The final allocation was the result of such factors as incumbency (with challengers and candidates for open seats seeking and receiving a higher percentage), the presence of a substantive opponent, and whether the participant was involved in a 1990 election.

As evidence of the allocation negotiations said to have taken place, counsel points to the asserted differences between what is said to have been an "early draft of the fundraising notice presented at the February 1990 informational meeting" which was attached to the DSCC complaint and the actual joint fundraising agreements attached to the response. (Compare Attachments 1, 2, and 3).

Counsel asserts that each of the Inner Circle committees was a separate reporting committee which acted as the designated fundraising representative of the joint fundraising committees, pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a)(1)(i). "The committees had their own independent identities, separate from each other and any of their participants. For example, each committee applied for and received a separate employer tax identification number from the Internal Revenue Service."

Counsel states further that each of the solicitation letters

included a joint fundraising notice that clearly stated: 1) the names of all participating committees; 2) the allocation formula for all funds received; 3) a statement that contributors could designate their contributions to a particular participant or participants; 4) a statement that the allocation would change if a contribution would violate the permissible contributions limits; and 5) a statement that contributions from corporations or labor unions which are prohibited under the Act would be allocated solely to the NRSC. . . . Lastly, the joint fundraising notices indicated that no contributions from the same state as a participating candidate committee would be allocated to that campaign.

According to counsel, about 400,000 fundraising letters were mailed by Inner Circle 1990 and 340,000 by Inner Circle 1990-1991. Approximately 80-85% of the names came from rented commercial mailing lists and 15% from the NRSC. The committees paid the NRSC $.15 per name, an amount assertedly comparable to that paid for the rental of similar commercial lists. The participating committees also provided an additional 4,500 names. Later, following the 1990 elections, the Inner Circle committees sold their donor lists to the NRSC at a charge of $1.50 per name.

Counsel asserts,

From the very beginning, all participants in the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees were involved in the decision making and activities of the joint fundraiser. A representative from the participating committees attended the organizational meeting in February, 1990. . . . [T]he nature of the joint fundraiser was determined by the negotiations and subsequent involvement of all of the participating committees. . . . Their bargaining determined the allocation formula among all the participating committees. . . . Participating committees were involved in the 'nomination' process for potential contributors from their states (through provision of their own fundraising lists to the joint fundraising committees), and participating committees also worked closely with the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees during the development and approval of the solicitation package. . . . Finally, each candidate who participated in either Inner Circle committee obligated himself or herself to take part in the conferences held in Washington, D.C. for contributors to the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees.

Counsel argues more broadly that the Inner Circle committees were bona fide joint fundraising committees. "Their objectives are completely permissible ones: to allow multiple candidates to raise funds collectively from supporters who contribute with a single check, and to assure those contributors that their contributions would be directed completely toward the specified participants in pre-designated percentages."

Counsel then goes on to spell out how the Inner Circle committees met the various provisions of the Commission's joint fund-raising regulations regarding the establishment of a separate committee to act as fundraising representative, the establishment by that separate committee of a separate depository, the determination of a "mutually agreeable allocation formula," the advance of certain set-up costs by the NRSC and the obtaining of a bank loan for others, the content of the fundraising notices included in the solicitations, the distribution of net receipts once all expenses had been met, and the filing of reports. Throughout this recital of conformity with the regulations, emphasis is again placed upon the asserted involvement of the participating committees. For example, with regard to the establishment of the fundraising representatives, counsel states,

Once the participants in the Inner Circle decided to form the joint fundraisers, they determined that, to avoid even an appearance of impropriety, a separate designated fundraising representative should be created instead of permitting one of the participating committees to serve in that capacity.

Regarding the allocation formula, counsel states,

Next, the participants determined a mutually agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of receipts After much negotiation, the participants agreed on an allocation formula and the joint fundraising agreements were drafted to incorporate all the terms of the joint fundraising venture.

And, concerning the payout of proceeds, counsel states,

The participants determined that all expenses would be paid by the fundraising representative from the gross proceeds of the joint fundraiser, and the distribution of any receipts among the participants would be delayed until all expenses, including the advances from the NRSC, had been paid."

Counsel interprets the complaint as questioning the legitimacy of the NRSC's participation in the Inner Circle joint fundraisers, and argues in response that 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a) expressly permits party committees to take part in a joint fundraiser. Counsel also states that there "is no reason why a political party participant in a joint fundraiser could not act as the fundraising representative. . . . Although the participants in the Inner Circle Committees established separate fundraising representatives, the regulations contemplate that the NRSC could have maintained a much more active role than it did."

With regard to the argument in the complaint that the NRSC should not be deemed a true participant in the Inner Circle committees because it received too small a share of receipts, counsel argues that many participants received smaller shares than the NRSC's 1%. Counsel points, as an example, to the asserted facts that the candidates who share in the 12% tier of Inner Circle 90-91's receipts each receive 1/21 of 12%, or .57% of the total. . . . Some other participants in the Inner Circle committees received .75%, 3.63%, .6% or 2.9%. The tier with the highest allocation of either Committee [35% to 5 committees] only received 7% of the contributions. . . . When viewed in the context of the other participants, the 1% to the NRSC was neither near the top nor the bottom of the participants in terms of receipts from the joint fundraising committees.

Counsel also emphasizes that "the NRSC received all funds from the Inner Circle's non-federal accounts (composed of contributions from corporations and labor unions) as permitted by 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(c)(2)(i)(B). . . . Thus, the NRSC's ultimate receipts from these committees were quite substantial indeed. . . ."

Regarding the relationship between the NRSC and the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees, counsel argues that the intimation that the latter were the "alter egos" of the former is "utterly false." In support of this position, counsel cites the fact that the Inner Circle committees "paid all direct and indirect costs of administering the project out of the funds of the joint fundraising committees." It is stressed that "the NRSC was reimbursed for the advance of all indirect costs" even though the NRSC could have paid the expenses of the joint fundraising committee up to the contribution limits.

The day-to-day operations of the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees are administered by personnel of the NRSC at its headquarters, but the Treasurer of the Inner Circle committees went to great lengths to ensure that all overhead and indirect costs of the joint fundraising committees' activities . . . have been properly and generously calculated. The value of such managerial and administrative assistance was billed to the Inner Circles and reimbursed to the NRSC by the joint fundraising committees.

Counsel also emphasizes that the Inner Circle fundraising representatives obtained bank loans to cover "direct expenses" (apparently the costs of solicitations) and that commercial transactions with the NRSC such as list rentals were undertaken at "arms' length."

Counsel argues further that the NRSC "may not act outside the terms of the Agreement, nor does it control the funds of the Inner Circle committees. The Inner Circle committees maintain separate bank accounts that may only be used as provided in the joint fundraising agreements. Those accounts are not controlled by the NRSC." It is also noted that the NRSC was "only one of four members" of the List Management Committee, which, pursuant to the Agreement, had to approve the sale of the donor lists to the NRSC.

In response to the complaint's assertion that the NRSC assumed all of the joint fundraising committees' expenses, counsel argues that the Commission's regulations permit one participant to advance funds in excess of its proportionate share up to its legal contribution limits with regard to the remaining participants. According to counsel, the NRSC could therefore have made advances of "up to $17,500 for each of the other participating committees -- as much as $840,000 for Inner Circle 90-91. The NRSC's advance was substantially less than that." (emphasis in original). Counsel argues that repayment was received before more than $1.7 million in contributions and coordinated expenditures were made, in part, to and for participants in the joint fundraising committees. "This arrangement is completely permissible under 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(b) as the permissible advance of funds within a participant's contribution limits. Because the amount was reimbursed, the NRSC was free to make direct contributions once the debts were paid."

Counsel argues further that the Commission's regulations treat joint fundraising committees and earmarking as "separate creatures of the law," and that "'direction and control' as it is used in the earmarked contribution regulations is not even applicable to a joint fundraising committee because of the "nature of joint fundraising. . . ."

The joint fundraising agreement is a legally binding document on all the parties with a pre-determined allocation of the proceeds Therefore, even if one of the participating committees is the designated fundraising agent . . . , it exercises NO direction or control. . . . It is only a custodian of the account; it cannot distribute or withhold the funds in any manner inconsistent with the pre-determined formula. Unlike 'bundled' contributions, the result of the required allocation formula is that donors have complete control over their contributions because the allocation of the receipts is determined before the first dollar is contributed . . . or the donor himself directs the contribution to a particular candidate when making the contribution (emphasis in original).

Regarding contribution limitations, including the limits on contributions by political party committees to candidate committees, counsel stresses that the regulations expressly exclude joint fundraiser transfers from such limits. After discussing the "legal distinctions" between joint fundraising committees and intermediaries of earmarked contributions, counsel goes on to emphasize again that the joint fundraising agreement is legally binding, and thus creates a situation "quite different from earmarked contributions in which the intermediary potentially can exercise discretion and the would-be recipients, as well as misinformed contributors, are without recourse." And counsel also stresses that a joint fundraising representative is required to establish a separate account, with the result that contributions do not "'pass through'" the representative's own account, insuring a lack of discretion.

Counsel then outlines as follows what are assertedly the differences between the earmarking program at issue in Common Cause v. FEC and the Inner Circle committees' approach.

(Citations have been omitted.)

Factors Alleged in
Common Cause v. FEC

NRSC determined allocation formula.

NRSC chose the 12 campaigns included in the program.

Campaigns signed agreement with NRSC to pay for mailings by the NRSC mentioning that candidate's race.

Candidates did not plan, implement, approve or oversee program or authorize or approve particular mailings.

Factors in MUR 3131/3135

All participants negotiated and approved allocation formula prior to their participation.

All Republican Senate campaigns had opportunity to participate.

Agreements with campaigns set out allocation formulas for contributions and expenses.

Candidates actively participated in planning and execution of solicitation and took part in joint fundraising event (the Leadership Conference).

Solicitation mentioned states rather than candidates.

Solicitation letters said 'paid for and authorized by NRSC'; did not mention campaigns.

Solicitations used NRSC mailing list.

Only billed campaigns for approximately 1/10 of total expenses; administrative expenses were charged against coordinated limits.

Checks payable to NRSC, Inner Circle or Presidential Task Force (not candidates or joint committee).

Contributions deposited in bank accounts controlled by NRSC.

Money was disbursed by NRSC.

NRSC reported receipts as direct contribution to individual candidates.

NRSC passed all contributions on to use of 12 candidates.

Certain amounts were determined to have been earmarked to NRSC but NRSC used funds as if earmarked for specific candidates ($108,086).

Solicitation identifies program as joint fundraising committee, names candidate committees and explicitly states the allocation formula.

Disclaimer stated 'paid for and authorized by Republican Senatorial Inner Circle' and named participants.

Solicitations used mailing lists purchased by or rented to the Inner Circle joint fundraising committees, including rental lists and those supplied by participants.

Expenses paid out of gross receipts prior to distribution to participating committees.

Checks payable to joint fundraising committee: Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 or 1990-91.

Money is disbursed by Inner Circle pursuant to pre-arranged allocation formula.

Inner Circle reports as joint fundraising committee; NRSC reports on its own proportion of receipts.

NRSC gets 1% of proceeds plus all nonfederal contributions.

NRSC received all proceeds specifically designated to it plus all corporate contributions.

Counsel argues further that joint fundraising committees not only do not "circumvent all spending limits" but reduce the amounts given by any individual to any specific campaign by "creat[ing] numerous 'small donors'. . . rather than relatively more influential $1,000 donors" And counsel goes on to reiterate the argument that "[t]here is absolutely no discretion in the joint fundraising committee to reallocate the receipts based on the financial needs of a particular participant." This latter situation assertedly assures prospective donors as to how their money will be used.

The response submitted by counsel for the People for John Heinz Committee and its treasurer acknowledges that a representative of this committee signed joint fundraising agreements with regard to Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91, and states that the committee amended its statement of organization accordingly. Attached to this response is a "Sample Disclaimer" which "PJH believes to be the disclaimer that the two RSIC committees have used with each and every solicitation." (See Attachment 4). Counsel further states, "PJH has no reason to believe that there has been any deviation from the terms of the two Agreements and the disclaimer" (In fact, the sample disclaimer contains the names of committees which were not eventual participants.)

Contrasting his clients' involvement in the Inner Circle programs with the district court's decision in Common Cause v. FEC, counsel for the Heinz committee argues, the NRSC has clearly obliged itself by law 'to comply [sic] FEC Reg. § 102.17(b)(1). . . . In actual operation, PJH received exacting disclosures of no less than 4,153 contributions . . . , and there is not a scintilla of information to PJH's knowledge that the NRSC in any way varied from the disclaimer appended to all of the solicitation materials. . . . Given the detail of the disclaimer, it is hard to see how the candidates who ultimately receive these contributions could have been more "'clearly identified' in the mailings", in further distinction to Judge Gesell's holding in Common Cause v. FEC.

F. Status of Inner Circle Committees as Committees Separate from the NRSC

Both complainants argue that in reality the Inner Circle committees are ongoing programs of the NRSC. Counsel for the Inner Circle committees assert that, to the contrary, they are committees totally separate from both the NRSC and each other which were established by the NRSC and fifty plus other candidate committees to serve as joint fundraising representatives.

Counsels' position is based primarily upon the assumption that, if an entity registers and reports as a joint fundraising committee separate from its participants and adheres to all of the regulations governing such undertakings, such an entity is what it proclaims itself to be, namely a separate joint fundraising representative. Counsel also stress, as evidence of separateness, the allegedly substantial involvement of all participating committees in the asserted joint fundraising undertakings at issue.

It is the position of this Office that self-categorization is only one piece of evidence as to the status of a committee and that the substance conveyed to the public, particularly to potential contributors, together with the manner in which that committee has been established, financed, maintained, and/or controlled, may be sufficiently at odds with the form registered and reported to the Commission to lead to a determination that such registration and reporting is inappropriate. In the present matter, a comparison of the NRSC's earlier Inner Circle program with the Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91 solicitations, plus an examination of the organization and administration of the Inner Circle committees in 1990, cast significant doubt upon the existence of the latter as entities separate from the NRSC and from each other. Rather, it appears that, for purposes of the Act, these three committees are affiliated, notwithstanding the elaborate attempts made to present the Inner Circle committees as joint fundraising representatives.

1. Earlier Manifestations of the Inner Circle

The complaint in MUR 3135 states that the NRSC has for years operated a program called the "Inner Circle" which has invited individuals to become members by making a $1,000 contribution to be used to support candidates for the U.S. Senate. Membership has entitled these contributors to receive a newsletter and invitations to special events held in Washington, D.C. each year.

Evidence of such a long standing program was present in MUR 2282, the enforcement action in Common Cause v. FEC. Certain of the mailing lists used by the NRSC for the September 2, 1986, Direct-To solicitation there at issue were identified as "Inner Circle" lists. In addition, at least four of the solicitation letters mailed on that date stated:

To expedite the distribution of your contribution, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle has agreed to serve as the central clearing house.

If you'll write your $1,000 check directly to the Inner Circle, they'll see to it that every penny of your generous contribution is evenly split and immediately delivered to each of these four candidates.

(emphasis added).

The contributor card enclosed with these letters contained the instruction, "Please make your check payable to the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle."

2. Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91

a. Solicitations

The first Inner Circle 1990 solicitation presently in hand is dated March 16 and is signed "Senator Bob Dole, Senate Republican Leader." (Attachment 5). It read in part,

On behalf of my colleagues in the United States Senate, it is my privilege to invite you to accept membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join President and Mrs. Bush for a special dinner on May 3rd.

Senator Phil Gramm placed your name in nomination because he believes your accomplishments and commitment to our nation prove you worthy of membership in this prestigious organization.

9. In fact the Inner Circle program apparently goes back as far as 1979. See 1990-91 Membership Prospectus quoted at page 52 below.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of individuals who get together on a regular basis to discuss national and regional topics in a comfortable mix of business and social gatherings.

Our next Inner Circle Briefing will be held in Washington, D.C., on May 2nd and 3rd. The schedule for this event includes a welcome reception, a full day of closed-door briefings by key Washington officials, and members-only luncheons featuring one of the Republican Party's most noteworthy leaders, our keynote speaker, William Bennett, Director, Office of National Control Policy.

Since reservations to this event are limited, I hope you will return your Nomination Acceptance today to reserve your place at our Spring Briefing.

Many other benefits are made available to all Inner Circle members. These are explained more fully in the enclosed Inner Circle Membership Prospectus. The financial details of Inner Circle membership are also covered in the accompanying Membership Prospectus.

(emphasis added)

Enclosed with this letter were a Nomination Acceptance form (Attachment 6) and a Spring Briefing Registration form (Attachment 6a). The first contained the following opening sentence and alternatives:

I hereby accept my nomination for membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle. Enclosed please find my check in the amount of:

☐ $1,000 for my annual Inner Circle membership.

☐ $2,000 for annual Inner Circle membership for my spouse/additional member and me.

☐ I/we will be attending the 1990 Inner Circle Spring Briefing

☐ I/we will not be attending the 1990 Inner Circle Briefing.

[] I cannot join the Inner Circle at this time, but I have enclosed a special contribution of [] $500 [] $250 [] $100 [] other $ _____

Contributors were told to make their "membership check" payable to "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990." There was no mention of contributions to candidates.

The Inner Circle 1990 Membership Prospectus (Attachment 7) cited in the March 16 letter stated in part,¹⁰

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

While there are many benefits to Inner Circle membership, perhaps the most rewarding are the twice annual Inner Circle Briefings. Held in Washington, D.C., these gatherings bring together Washington's top policy makers with Inner Circle members in both business and social settings.

Annual Inner Circle Spring Briefing

Annual Inner Circle Fall Briefing

Featuring closed door briefings, a private reception traditionally hosted by the Vice President, and the choice of a VIP dinner hosted by Republican Senators, Cabinet secretaries and Administration officials at a historic Washington landmark, or internationally acclaimed restaurant.

Exclusive Publications

Two exclusive publications, POLITICAL CIRCLE and GOPeople, are provided to report on campaign and political developments, profile Senate candidates, and keep members up-to-date on Inner Circle events.

Members-only Hotline

Toll-free hotline to the Inner Circle office in Washington, D.C., where Inner Circle staff can provide up-to-the-minute information on pending legislation, congressional hearings, administration policy, and, of course, up-coming Inner Circle activities.

10. Judging by the complete Inner Circle 1990-91 Prospectus in hand, the complainant in MUR 3135 provided only the final page of of the Inner Circle 1990 Prospectus.

Inner Circle Staff

Assistance by Inner Circle staff in arranging White House tours and obtaining passes to the Senate and House galleries and information on other Washington landmarks.

Other Benefits

MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Inner Circle membership entails an annual commitment of $1,000 per person ($2,000 per couple). Since 100% of the membership dues is used solely for direct contributions and campaign assistance to Republican Senate candidates, a conference fee to cover meeting costs is assessed to members attending our events. Conference fees average $250-$300 per person for all events at a meeting.

Questions regarding the Inner Circle may be directed to:

(underlining added)

Neither the letter signed by Senator Dole nor the enclosed registration form mentioned the creation of Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 as a separate joint fundraising committee or listed the candidate committees involved. The Inner Circle 1990 Membership Prospectus also did not mention a joint fundraising undertaking. The Prospectus did contain a statement under "Membership Requirements" that "100% of the membership dues is used solely for direct contributions and campaign assistance to Republican Senate candidates;" however, those candidates were not specified.

Apparently in the March 16 solicitation the only information supplied to potential contributors concerning either a joint fundraising endeavor or the specific candidates to be aided was on an enclosed separate page which stated in smaller type, "Paid for and authorized by Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990. Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 is a joint fundraising committee in which People for Boschwitz '90, Citizens for Cochran, . . . and Senator John Warner 1990 Committee are allocated an equal share of 29% of the total funds received, all of which are contributions designated for the 1990 general election." (Attachment 8). The same enclosure goes on to set out the rest of the Inner Circle 1990 allocation agreement. This separate page is nowhere linked to the letter, acceptance form, or Prospectus.

The March 19, 1990, solicitation letter mailed under the heading "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 Spring Briefing," and signed "Senator Don Nickles, Chairman," (Attachment 9), stated,

As millions of people around the world celebrate the freedom to participate in democracy, I want to invite you to an exciting informative and fun-filled celebration of American politics

It's TEAM '90 -- the Inner Circle's 1990 Spring Briefing which will take place in Washington, D.C. on May 2nd and 3rd.

As is policy with all Inner Circle events, your membership must be fully renewed in order for you to participate in TEAM '90. Please, if you have not already done so, take a moment now to return your annual membership commitment of $1,000 ($2,000 per couple). By renewing at this time, you can show President Bush that he can continue to count on you to help him score the needed victories in November.

(emphasis added).

The "1990 Spring Briefing Registration Form" (Attachment 10) enclosed with the March 19 letter contained the following optional responses:

91040871186

[] I would like to attend the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle Spring Briefing in Washington, D.C., on May 2 & 3, 1990. Enclosed is my Inner Circle membership renewal contribution of $1,000 ($2,000 per couple) to make me/us eligible to attend the Spring Briefing.

[] I cannot attend the Inner Circle Spring Briefing in Washington, D.C. However, I would like to take this opportunity to renew my 1990 Inner Circle membership with my enclosed contribution of $1,000 ($2,000 per couple).

(emphasis added).

Again, neither the letter signed by Senator Nickles, nor the enclosed schedule of briefing events, nor the registration form mentioned the creation of Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 as a separate joint fundraising committee and the candidates participating in that committee. It does not appear that the Membership Prospectus was included with this solicitation package. The only information concerning a joint fundraising endeavor supplied to potential contributors was a sheet with the same language as that included with the March 16 package. This separate page is nowhere linked to the letter or to the registration form.

A solicitation dated March 26, 1990, and also signed "Senator Don Nickles, Chairman, (Attachment 11), was apparently directed at potential new members of the Inner Circle. It read in part,

Very few Americans ever attend a Presidential event. But those that do take home memories that last a lifetime.

Today, I'd like to offer you the chance for such memories by extending to you an invitation to become a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join President and Mrs. Bush in Washington, D.C. for the Inner Circle's Spring Gala on May 2nd and 3rd.

Truly, no other organization offers you the opportunity to participate in closed-door briefings with Washington's power elite, have lunch with one of the Republican Party's top leaders, and then cap the evening off by joining President and Mrs. Bush at a Gala Dinner Dance.

And by accepting this invitation now, you'll also be able to join in a full year of other exciting Inner Circle events. Foremost among these will be our Fall Briefing, which will feature a special reception with Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle, traditionally held at the Vice President's residence. We'll also hold our exclusive VIP Dinners, where Inner Circle members have the opportunity to dine with the Cabinet members, Senator or senior White House official of their choice.

But perhaps the greatest asset of Inner Circle membership is that it brings together men and women who share a common commitment -- a commitment to a continuation of the strong, responsible Republican leadership that has reshaped and rejuvenated this country.

That's because 100% of your Inner Circle membership dues are escrowed in a special account to provide direct assistance to our Senate candidates, incumbents and challengers alike, to restore a Republican majority in the United States Senate.

I know that President Bush, Vice President Quayle and my Republican Senate colleagues will be delighted to learn that you have joined them in the ranks of our nation's leadership as a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle.

(emphasis added).

At the bottom of the first page of the letter is the disclaimer, "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990, 425 Second Street, N.E., Washington, D.C." There is no mention in the letter of a joint fundraising committee or of the specific candidates taking part.

91040871138

Nor does the "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle Nomination Acceptance" form enclosed with the March 26 letter inform the recipient that Inner Circle 1990 is a separate joint fundraising committee or list the participating committees. (Attachment 12). This form states

☐ I hereby accept my nomination for membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle. Enclosed please find my check in the amount of

☐ $1,000 for my annual Inner Circle membership

☐ $2,000 for annual Inner Circle membership for my spouse additional member and me.

On the reverse side of the membership acceptance form was the "1990 Inner Circle Spring Briefing Registration" form (Attachment 13) which states,

Only fully paid ($1,000/person) members of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle are eligible to attend Inner Circle events. Due to space limitations, spouses and/or guests of members are not eligible to attend unless they are Inner Circle members.

Again, there is no mention of Inner Circle 1990 as a joint fundraising committee on this Spring Briefing registration form. The disclaimer at the bottom reads, "Republican Inner Circle 425 Second Street, N.E. Washington, D.C."

The only information provided invitees regarding joint fundraising is an enclosure entitled "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990" which contains the same allocation language as that enclosed with the March 15 and March 19 letters. The enclosure is not mentioned in any of the other materials.

On August 10, 1990, a letter signed by Dan Quayle was sent to prospective members. (Attachment 14). It read in part,

It gives me great pleasure to inform you that at the last meeting of the membership committee of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle, your name was placed in nomination by Senator John Warner and you were accepted for membership.

To welcome you to the Inner Circle, I would like to personally invite you to join me at a private reception for Inner Circle members. The reception will take place during our upcoming Fall Briefing on September 23rd and 24th.

Our official business meetings open the morning of September 24th when you'll be participating in closed-door strategy sessions that will give you an insider's look at the Bush Administration's legislative gameplan and the 1990 Senate elections. You'll also be invited to take part in something truly unique to the Inner Circle. You'll be our honored guest at a VIP dinner hosted by a Republican Senator, Cabinet member or Administration official.

Senator Bob Dole will be sending you your formal invitation to join the Inner Circle in a few days. I urge you to respond as soon as possible.

In closing, I want to congratulate you on your nomination and I hope that you will decide to accept membership in this most important organization. I look forward to seeing you in Washington on September 23rd.

On August 13, 1990, a letter signed by Senator Bob Dole was sent presumably to the same individuals as had received the Dan Quayle letter. (Attachment 15) (It is possible that this letter went in the same package as the letter from Vice-President Quayle.) His letter read in part:

91040871190

On behalf of my colleagues in the United States Senate, it is my privilege to invite you to accept membership in the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle and join Vice President and Mrs. Dan Quayle for a private reception on the grounds of the Vice President's residence.

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is made up of individuals who gather together on a regular basis to discuss national and regional topics in a comfortable mix of business and social gatherings.

Our next Inner Circle Briefing will be held in Washington, D.C., on September 23rd and 24th. The schedule for this event includes the private reception at the Vice President's residence, a full day of closed-door briefings by key Washington officials, and a members-only luncheon featuring one of the Republican Party's most noteworthy leaders.

You are also invited to participate in something truly unique to the Inner Circle.

On Monday evening, September 24th, you'll be joining a Republican Senator, Cabinet member or high-ranking Bush Administration official at one of our special VIP dinners. These private dinners, limited to Inner Circle members only, are held in private homes, elegant restaurants and hotels, and at beautiful historical sites.

Hosts of past Inner Circle VIP dinners have included Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Jack Kemp, and Senators Phil Gramm, Nancy Kassebaum [sic], Connie Mack and Pete Wilson, among others.

But of course the Inner Circle's schedule of events won't be over this fall. Nominees who join at this time will also be eligible for a full twelve months of Inner Circle activities both here in Washington and around the country. You'll be kept abreast of upcoming events on a regular basis, including the 1991 Inner Circle Spring Briefing, which traditionally features a dinner hosted by the President.

Many other benefits are made available to Inner Circle members. These are explained more fully in the enclosed Inner Circle Membership Prospectus.

91040871191

(emphasis added).

The disclaimer at the bottom of the August 10 letter appears to read Republican Senatorial Inner Circle - 425 Second Street, N.E. - Washington, D.C. 20002. The remainder of this disclaimer is illegible on the copy currently available. There is no full disclaimer on the August 13 letter signed by Senator Robert Dole; all that is given is the Inner Circle address.

Accompanying the August 13 letter was a Nomination Acceptance and Fall Briefing Registration Form (Attachment 16) which was similar to content to the forms issued with earlier solicitations in that it focused on membership and the Fall Briefing, with no mention of a joint fundraising effort or of candidates to be benefited.

The first portion of the Inner Circle 1990-91 Prospectus (Attachment 17) read,

PURPOSE

The Republican Senatorial Inner Circle is dedicated to advancing America's heritage of freedom and prosperity by recapturing a Republican Majority in the United States Senate. Founded in 1979, the Inner Circle was instrumental in electing a Republican Senate Majority in 1980, and in preserving that majority in 1982 and 1984.

Members are nominated by a U.S. Senator and represent an impressive cross-section of American society - community leaders, business executives, entrepreneurs, retirees, sports and entertainment celebrities - with a deep interest in our nation's prosperity and security.

As a member of the Inner Circle, you will be encouraged to forge personal contacts with Republican Senators, senior White House officials, Cabinet secretaries and Party leaders. Toward that end, you will be invited to Inner Circle members-only gatherings in Washington, D.C. and around the country. These meetings provide direct, straightforward briefings on world and national events with key decision-makers at the highest levels of our government.

The language of the remainder of the Prospectus was identical to that furnished by Inner Circle 1990 with its March solicitations, (Attachment 7) except that the final portion read,

Questions regarding the Inner Circle may be directed to:
Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-'91
The Ronald Reagan Republican Center
425 Second Street, N.E.
Washington, D.C. 20002
(202) 675-6106

Thus, it also contained in the next to last paragraph the statement that "[s]ince 100% of membership dues is used solely for direct contributions and campaign assistance to Republican Senate candidates, a conference fee . . . is assessed to members"

Neither the August 10 letter, the August 13 letter nor the Membership Prospectus stated that Inner Circle 1990-91 was a joint fund-raising committee or listed the participating committees and/or candidates to be supported by contributions received. The Prospectus concludes with a general statement that all contributions would go to unspecified Republican Senate candidates, but information about joint fundraising and specific recipients was provided to potential contributors only by means of an enclosure entitled "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 Joint Fundraising Committee" which set out the allocation formula. (Attachment 18). No mention of this particular enclosure was included in the letter or prospectus.

On August 31, 1990, a follow-up letter was sent to contributors over the signature of Senator Don Nickles urging an immediate response to the Quayle letter. (Attachment 19). The letter itself contained no discussion of a joint-fundraising endeavor; rather, it stated more generally that "100% of your membership dues to the Inner Circle are used to provide vital campaign assistance to our Senate candidates" This mailing enclosed the same separate sheet setting out the allocation formula as that included with the August 13 letter, but this enclosure was not addressed in the letter.

Attached to the complaint in MUR 3131 after a copy of the August 13 letter is a document entitled "Final 100 Day Strategy to Capture a Republican Majority in the U.S. Senate." (Attachment 20). It is not clear whether this document was enclosed with the August 13 solicitation or was part of another solicitation effort. This "Strategy Report" provided an assessment of the 1990 Senate races, singling out particular ones which seemed to warrant special attention. Several different projects are discussed, including polling, "candidate research," work with state party organizations, a "National Media Campaign" and a "Candidate Reserve Fund" for those needing "immediate support." Different dollar amounts are cited for each of these projects. Repeated emphasis is placed upon the need for the full or maximum commitment from every member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle.

Nothing in this strategy paper or memorandum to contributors discusses a joint fundraising effort, or differentiates between participants in such an effort and other Republican Senate candidates. It appears that the funds were to be used to purchase services such as media buys, indicating that contributions would be used for coordinated party expenses. Yet the solicitation is directed to Inner Circle members who have been approached in other, apparently contemporaneous solicitations to contribute to an asserted joint-fundraising effort.

Counsel for the Inner Circle committees do not dispute the fact that these entities were and still are housed and staffed at and by the NRSC, with the committees having repaid the NRSC for the costs involved. However, counsel argues that the Inner Circle undertakings were separate from the NRSC and that the candidate committees benefited were actively involved "in the decision making and activities of the joint fundraiser." Counsel points to a organizational meeting apparently held on February 23, 1990, which was assertedly open to the committees of all incumbent Republican United States Senators and of all then announced 1990 Republican candidates for the Senate, as proof of participant involvement. Counsel further stresses asserted differences between the final allocation formula and the draft presented at the February meeting as evidence of negotiations by the participating committees regarding the division of net receipts.

The actual organizers of the February, 1990, meeting have not been identified. It seems clear, however, that it was the NRSC which issued the invitations to attend, in light of the fact that, according to counsel, draft versions of Inner Circle materials had already been prepared for distribution to attendees. Apparently included in these materials was the memorandum from NRSC in-house counsel Bill Canfield discussed above (Attachment 1) which laid out in detail both the organization of Inner Circle 1990 and an allocation formula.

A comparison of the version of the Inner Circle 1990 allocation formula contained in the Canfield memorandum with the final versions in the Joint Fundraising Agreements and sent to prospective contributors shows that the only difference is the absence of five committees from the final version because of decisions not to participate. The allocation percentages and groupings of candidate committees are the same. These parallels indicate that the NRSC's "draft" was implemented virtually unchanged.

Organization of the Inner Circle 1990-91 apparently involved even less of an attempt to involve the candidate committees in the creation of that committee. Attached to the DSCC complaint was a letter dated July 16, 1990, from Doyce Boesch, Executive Director of the NRSC, to prospective participants on NRSC letterhead (Attachment 21) which read in part, Enclosed you will find the materials you will need to join "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91," a joint fundraising committee of incumbent Republican Senators, 1990 Republican challengers and the Republican Senatorial Committee. We look forward to working with you and making this project a success.

The committee and your participation in it is described in the enclosed legal Memorandum entitled "Operation of Joint Fundraising Committee". Also enclosed are the Federal Election Commission forms you will need to file.

Just to recap, here is what you need to do:

1) Sign the Joint Fundraising Agreement and the letter of authorization and return them immediately to me at the NRSC.

3) We have filed the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91 committee with the FEC. Therefore, you must now amend your committee's Statement of Organization . . . and file it with the office of the Secretary of the Senate.

(emphasis added)

It is significant that Inner Circle 1990-91 was apparently registered with the Commission by NRSC personnel prior to receipt of signed fundraising agreements from the participants. Further, it was NRSC personnel who provided directions and required forms to the candidates, not a separate joint fundraising representative.

Counsel also argue that the participating committees were given opportunities to review and approve solicitation materials and to "nominate" individuals to be solicited, the latter being an apparent reference to the provision of mailing lists by these committees. (See, e.g., Attachment 5). The timing and form of such solicitation review is not known beyond the apparent provision of draft materials at the February meeting. The strong similarities between the 1990 solicitations and NRSC solicitations in earlier years indicates that the participating committees were quite passive in their roles as reviewers, particularly given the lack of any discussion in the letters of joint fundraising or of the identities of the candidates committees involved. And, according to counsel, names supplied by participants were used for only 4,500 out of more than 700,000 fundraising letters sent.

All told, the evidence in hand indicates that the NRSC was the dominant factor in the organization of the Inner Circle committees and that the NRSC retained that dominant role throughout the 1990 elections by virtue of the admitted use of its office space, staff and other resources, through its role in the creation and mailing of Inner Circle solicitations, and as a result of the allocation agreements which the NRSC had structured. Thus, it is the opinion of the Office of the General Counsel that the NRSC established and controlled the Inner Circle committees.

As for the financing and maintenance of the Inner Circle committees, each reported obtaining a secured $300,000 bank loan from Signet Bank/Virginia in order to launch their initial direct mail solicitations. No information is presently in hand as to the form of security used; no endorsements or guarantees were reported. According to NRSC reports, Signet Bank is the primary bank used by that committee.

All other costs of setting up the Inner Circle committees' operations were met by the NRSC, including those for staff, rent, and utilities. Although the first solicitations for Inner Circle 1990 were mailed in March, 1990, the initial $123,601 reimbursement of the NRSC was not made until June of that year. The first Inner Circle 1990-91 solicitations were mailed in August, 1990, while reimbursement of the NRSC did not come until October. Thus, the NRSC financed and maintained the non-solicitation operations of both committees for at least two months.

The NRSC and the Inner Circle committees appear to meet the criteria for affiliation set forth at 2 U.S.C. § 441a(b) and 11 C.F.R. § 110.¹¹ In addition, it can be seen from the above quoted excerpts from earlier solicitations by the NRSC and from those mailed by the Inner Circle committees in 1990 that the basic Inner Circle program which was developed by the NRSC in 1979 remained virtually unchanged into 1990. Individuals have for years been asked to become "members" of the NRSC's "Inner Circle" by contributing $1,000 on an annual basis to be used to support Senatorial candidates. In return, contributors have been entitled to receive invitations to special events in Washington, D.C., in particular to a Spring Briefing and a Fall Briefing which include member-only receptions and dinners. These particular benefits apparently have continued in 1990 and 1991, but have been expanded to include two publications, a telephone hotline and the availability of assistance by Inner Circle staff related to visits to Washington. The solicitations in 1990 contained numerous references to past activities, thus leading recipients to believe that the new solicitations were simply continuations of past practice.

Secondly, there is nothing in the solicitation letters or contributor acceptances mailed in 1990 to indicate that the program was no longer an NRSC undertaking. Rather, these letters and acceptances were virtually identical in content and emphasis to those used in earlier years, the only real difference being the disclaimers, "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990" and "Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91" at the bottom of each letter which were otherwise unexplained in the letter. Only if one read the enclosed allocation statements would one have become aware of the assertedly joint fundraising natures of the solicitors in 1990. There was no attempt made to link these separate statements to the letters or the registration/acceptance forms.

11. Pursuant to 11 C.F.R. § 102.17(a), any fundraising representative in a joint fundraising endeavor is an authorized committee of each candidate participating. The issue of the affiliation of the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees is separate from the issue of authorization.

The publication entitled "Final 100 Day Strategy" cited above is further proof that there was not real demarcation between the Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91 committees and the NRSC's program with the same title. Membership in the NRSC's Inner Circle program apparently continued throughout 1990, and the solicitations for the ostensibly separate committees were apparently solicitations for the ongoing program. Members of the Inner Circle program were solicited for direct contributions to be allocated among the candidate committees deemed participants in joint fundraising efforts and for contributions to be used to make coordinated party expenditures, albeit in different mailings. There was nothing in the solicitation letters to inform potential contributors/members that separate entities were involved.

Thirdly, it is clear from the 1990 solicitations that the Inner Circle program was to continue into 1991. The August 13, 1990, letter quoted above states, "But of course the Inner Circle's schedule of events won't be over this fall. Nominees who join at this time will also be eligible for a full twelve months of Inner Circle activities both here in Washington and around the country."

There is, however, no information in the reports filed by Inner Circle 1990 or Inner Circle 1990-91 indicating that those entities were and are to be involved in such an ongoing Inner Circle program. Inner Circle 1990, as of April 30, 1991, reported no cash on hand, having transferred a total of $159,043 that month to participating committees. By the same date Inner Circle 1990-91 showed $406 in cash on hand following $16,118 in April transfers. The reports filed by Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91 since the 1990 general election have shown virtually no activity other than transfers. In particular they have shown no apparent expenditures for the publications, telephone hotline and staff assistance promised as benefits of Inner Circle membership, leading to questions of whether the NRSC has been and still is supporting these added portions of the membership package. In fact, the 1990 solicitation materials state that 100% of "membership dues" would be used to assist unnamed Senatorial candidates, thus apparently leaving nothing to support benefits to the contributors.

Therefore, besides the fact that the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees apparently met the criteria for affiliation, there exist sufficient likenesses between the old Inner Circle program of the NRSC and those of the Inner Circle committees, and sufficient questions concerning the ongoing operational and financial involvement of the NRSC in the Inner Circle program, to cast considerable doubt upon the assertion that the Inner Circle committees were and are entities separate from the NRSC.

c. NRSC as Joint Fundraising Participant

The DSCC acknowledges in its complaint that even if the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees are considered one and the same, the NRSC could itself have served as a joint fundraising representative if it were a true participant in any Inner Circle joint fundraising effort. This complainant argues, however, that because the NRSC's interest was not in raising funds for itself, it was not a true joint fundraising participant. Rather, the NRSC's motivation was allegedly only to assist the other, candidate committee participants. It is apparently the DSCC's position that by raising funds only for other committees, and doing so in a controlling manner, the NRSC rendered ineffective its attempt to create a joint fundraising program legally separate from itself.

As evidence of the non-participant relationship of the NRSC to the Inner Circle committees, the DSCC points to the lack of discussion of the NRSC as a participant in the memorandum prepared for prospective participants in February, 1990, and to the small proportion of receipts allocated to the NRSC by the Inner Circle 1990 allocation formula. In the first regard it is accurate that the only reference to the NRSC as a joint fundraising participant in the Canfield memorandum is found in the draft allocation formula; however, the NRSC is clearly identified as a participant in the joint fundraising agreements apparently signed by the candidate committees.

Of more significance is the argument concerning the small share of net proceeds allocated to the NRSC. Counsel for the Inner Circle committees argue in response that the amounts allocated to the NRSC were in fact "substantial," with 1% of net proceeds being more than certain other participants were allocated and with the NRSC being assigned all non-federal contributions. According, however, to the reports filed by the Inner Circle committees, and aside from non-federal contributions the total of which is not presently known,¹² the NRSC received only a single transfer of $12,000 from Inner Circle 1990 or less than 1% of the $1,464,000 in net proceeds allocated, and only $300 from Inner Circle 1990-91 or much less than 1% of the $500,297 allocated. Thus, the NRSC was apparently not allocated even the full percentages set forth in the allocation agreements. A comparison of the totals received by each candidate committee from both Inner Circle committees with the $12,300 allocated to the NRSC reveals that only two 1990 candidates received less than did the NRSC (Jane Brady and Christine Whitman - $3,750 each); the remaining 1990 candidates received between $35,000 and $88,500 apiece.

Given the controlling nature of the NRSC's involvement discussed above and its very small share of the proceeds, this Office believes that there is strong evidence that the NRSC was not a true participant in a joint fundraising activity. Rather, it appears that the NRSC created two affiliated committees, with the three together having acted either as contributors of large contributions to the individual Senate campaigns involved, or as the conduits of earmarked contributions over which direction or control was exerted.

12. According to reports filed in 1991, the Inner Circle committees are apparently no longer transferring non-federal contributions to the NRSC, but, rather, are placing them in their own non-federal accounts.

G. Contributors or Conduits

Affiliation of the NRSC, Inner Circle 1990 and Inner Circle 1990-91 would mean that they shared a single contribution limitation per benefited candidate committee. If the contributions distributed to the Senate candidate committees by the Inner Circle committees were deemed to have been made to those committees and/or to the NRSC, or if NRSC and/or the Inner Circle committees directed or controlled the selection of recipient candidates, the total sent to each candidate by the latter committees would have to be added to the direct contributions and coordinated expenditures already made by the NRSC to those same candidates to determine whether the contribution limitations were exceeded.

1. Direct Contributions

The Common Cause complaint in MUR 3135 argues, as one alternative approach, that "the NRSC's disbursements through its alter egos to the beneficiary campaigns are contributions by the NRSC of its own money." Common Cause asserts that the NRSC was not acting as a conduit, that the contributions were not earmarked, and that the checks received were made payable to the Inner Circle committees and deposited into an account under the direction and/or control of the NRSC. Therefore, "[t]he NRSC's subsequent disbursements were . . . FECA 'contributions' by the NRSC to those candidates."

Support for this Common Cause argument is to be found in the language of the 1990 Inner Circle solicitation letters and response materials quoted above. Although certain ones do mention in passing that contributions will be distributed to Senate candidates, the principal emphasis is upon the benefits to accrue to those deciding to "join" the Inner Circle.¹³ And, because it is clear that the 1990 Inner Circle program was virtually identical to the program undertaken directly by the NRSC in preceding years, it would have been logical for recipients of the solicitations, particularly those being asked to "renew" memberships, to assume that the NRSC was the sponsoring organization of the Inner Circle program once again. Such contributors could well have believed that, as in the past, their contributions were going to the NRSC to be distributed as the latter saw fit.

2. Earmarking

The above analysis supporting the non-conduit status of the NRSC/Inner Circle committees assumes, however, that the insertion into the solicitation packages of an otherwise unexplained separate sheet, stating that the benefiting Senate campaigns were part of a joint fundraising program and giving allocation formulas, did not serve to earmark contributions for the candidates listed. (See Attachments 8 and 18). It is thus necessary to determine whether these enclosures alone served to turn the Inner Circle undertakings into the conduiting of earmarked contributions.

As is stated above, "earmarking" involves "a designation, instruction, or encumbrance . . . which results in all or any part of a contribution or expenditure being made to, or expended on behalf of, a clearly identified candidate, or a candidate's authorized committee." A "clearly identified candidate" means that either the name of the candidate involved appears, a photograph or drawing of the candidate is included, or the identity of the candidate is apparent by unambiguous reference. See 11 C.F.R. § 100.17.

13. Indeed, the emphasis in the solicitations upon the benefits to accrue to Inner Circle members in the form of invitations to special events, an NRSC-funded "Hotline," "exclusive" publications, etc., raises the additional issue of whether the costs of these inducements should be considered benefits and thus in-kind contributions by the NRSC to the candidates who were to receive the funds being sought.

In the present matters, the enclosed allocation statements listed by name the committees which would receive shares of the contributions being solicited and provided the formula for determining the amounts of those shares. Thus it appears that the candidates were clearly identified on the allocation statements. The remaining question is whether the lack of references to these allocation statements in the bodies of the solicitation letters themselves or on the acceptance and/or registration forms to be returned by the contributors rendered the statements ineffectual as designations, instructions or encumbrances.

It is the opinion of this Office that the emphases in the solicitation letters upon membership in the Inner Circle, not upon contributions to candidates, diluted the impact of the allocation statements to the point of making it highly questionable whether contributors knew that their contributions would go to specific candidates. In FEC v. National Republican Senatorial Committee, the court emphasized that the solicitation letters there at issue focused upon the goal of Republican control of the Senate, not upon the candidates to be benefited by contributions. The letters in the present matter were even more removed from the express solicitation of contributions for candidates in that their references to candidates being supported were either non-existent (See, e.g., Attachments 5 and 9) or tangential to the discussion of Inner Circle membership and its benefits (See Attachments 11 and 19). The Membership Prospectus enclosed with some of the solicitations also emphasized membership benefits, mentioning the use of contributions only briefly on the last page. Thus, the solicitation letters and the Prospectus were not sufficient to notify potential contributors that their contributions would be divided among particular candidates. Further, there was nothing on the contributor cards which can be considered to have constituted earmarking; these cards addressed only membership. (See Attachments 6, 10, 12 and 16.) And even the allocation statements were uninformative beyond listing the names of the candidate committees to be benefited. Thus, the solicitation materials do not appear to have met the standard set for earmarking by the court in FEC v. National Republican Senatorial Committee.¹⁴

3. Direction or Control

Even if it were to be determined that the allocation statements alone were sufficient to render the contributions earmarked, there would remain the issue of whether or not the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees directed or controlled the selection of candidate committee recipients. In its complaint, Common Cause argues, as its second alternative, that the NRSC did both direct and control the choice of recipients, causing the contributions distributed by the Inner Circle committees to be countable against the NRSC's own contribution limitations.

In support of this alternative, Common Cause alleges that the NRSC chose the recipients and the amounts each would receive. The Inner Circle committees allegedly accepted checks made out to themselves and then drew their own checks payable to the candidate committees. "Through the scheme as a whole, the NRSC determines when, to whom, and in what amount the money will be disbursed to candidates."

As is discussed above, it is clear that the NRSC was the initiating and controlling entity behind the formation of the 1990 Inner Circle committees and their solicitations. It was the NRSC which invited the candidate committees to take part in the Inner Circle committees and which drafted the initial, proposed allocation formula that apparently remained virtually unchanged until the formation of Inner Circle 1990-91 in August, 1990, except for the elimination of certain nonparticipating committees. Once the Inner Circle committees were formed, it was the NRSC and/or the affiliated Inner Circle committees which, with the exception of a relatively small numbers of names supplied by the candidate committees, decided upon the mailing lists to use, and it was to the Inner Circle committees that contributors made their checks payable. These checks went into Inner Circle committee accounts and were disbursed by NRSC/Inner Circle personnel.

It was upon like factors that the court in Common Cause v. FEC based its opinion that the NRSC in 1986 had exercised "some 'direction or control' within the meaning of 11 C.F.R. § 110.6(d) over the contributions at issue." 729 F. Supp. at 152-153. Later, the same court in FEC v. National Republican Senatorial Committee, after citing many of the same factors, also found direction or control in the potential donors having been "given a single donation option" with no suggestion of an alternative and with a specific amount requested. This the court termed "a default mechanism" which "established 'direction or control' over the identities of candidates who would benefit from unencumbered responses and the formula for division of contributions." The court also pointed to the vagueness of the references in the NRSC's September, 1986, letters "to candidates in four states"; the court found that the solicitations there at issue did not provide potential contributors with any information about candidates to be supported, including their names. Rather, those letters contained a "general pro-party message," not clear, specific funding requests on behalf of candidates.

In the present matter the solicitation messages regarding candidates are hardly more clear or less directional. At least one of the letters did mention that contributions would be distributed to Senate candidates, and listings of names and percentages were enclosed on the allocation sheets; however, as discussed above, the emphasis was upon the benefits to accrue to those deciding to "join" the Inner Circle. No information about individual candidates was provided; only the names of their committees appeared. Membership was the reward for giving which was pressed upon the potential givers, not support of specific candidates. While it is true that the allocation formula, in a clause near the end, expressly permitted individual contributors to allocate all of their contributions to a particular candidate, that candidate had to be one of the listed participants. It also appears that very few individuals took advantage of this latter option given the like amounts distributed to candidates on the same dates. (See discussion of distributions above at pages 6 and 8.)

The Inner Circle solicitations more than fit the description set forth in FEC v. National Republican Senatorial Committee with regard to the 1986 NRSC program, i.e., "it is clear from the face of the solicitation package that the fundraisers hoped to raise funds for candidates for whom donors might have little specific enthusiasm by blurring the specific funding requests in a general pro-party message." Thus, there is considerable evidence that the NRSC and its affiliated Inner Circle committees exercised at least some, if not considerable, direction or control over the selection of recipients of the contributions received by the Inner Circle committees and distributed to candidate committees in 1990.

H. Advances made by NRSC

As stated above at pages 6-8, the NRSC made sizeable advances to the Inner Circle committees which were repaid in June, July and October, 1990. As is also noted above at page 33, in their response to the complaints counsel for the Inner Circle committees argue that the NRSC could have advanced each of the candidate committees up to $17,500, and that repayment of the NRSC's advances was made before more than $1.7 million in contributions and coordinated expenditures was sent on to the candidate committees, or made, between October 19 and November 26, 1990. "Because the amount was reimbursed, the NRSC was free to make direct contributions once the debts were paid."

Counsel's statements imply that most of the NRSC's direct contributions and coordinated expenditures to 1990 candidates were made after that committee had been reimbursed for its advances to the Inner Circle committees. In fact, as discussed on pages 9-10 above, ten committees received at least $15,000 in direct contributions from the NRSC in 1989, while in 1990 fifteen others had received that amount or more before the first repayment to the NRSC by Inner Circle 1990 on June 29, 1990. Thus the NRSC had used most, if not all, of its § 441a(h) limitation for these twenty-five committees before the first repayment, not including the Inner Circle transfers to these candidates.

At the times of the repayments of NRSC advances in June and August, 1990, the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees did still have available large portions of the NRSC's coordinated expenditure limitations for each of the 1990 candidates which more than equaled those candidates' shares of the NRSC advances prior to their repayments. However, the NRSC had reached, or was close to reaching, its Section 441a(d) limitations as to many of the 1990 candidates by October 19, 1990, the date of the last repayment to the NRSC by Inner Circle 1990 and of the only such repayment by Inner Circle 1990-91. The Inner Circle 1990 October repayment apparently involved pre-August activity and thus took place more than two months after the NRSC expenditures involved, while the Inner Circle 1990-91 repayment apparently involved that committee's solicitations in August, thus indicating that the NRSC supported the Inner Circle 1990-91 committee's activities for two months before being reimbursed.

Based upon the Inner Circle 1990 allocation statement, the October 19 repayment by that committee to the NRSC of $38,415.44 was presumably allocated to the various 1990 candidates in amounts of $1,114 each to 10 candidate committees and $1,393 each to 16 committees. The Inner Circle 1990-91 repayment of $108,736 was allocated in amounts of $4,250 each to 11 committees, of $7,611 each to 5 such committees, and of $815 each to 12 committees. The committee of Thad Cochran was allocated $621.

In addition, on October 19, 1990, 19 other candidates with elections pending in later years were allocated equal $242 shares of the $38,415 repayment of NRSC by Inner Circle 1990. Shares of $621 each of the Inner Circle 1990-91 repayment of $108,736, also made on October 19, were allocated to 19 committees of non-1990 candidates.

I. Apparent Violations

a. 1990 Candidates

As is outlined above, the NRSC and any affiliated committees could make $17,500 in contributions to candidates for the United States Senate participating in the 1990 elections plus specific amounts of coordinated party expenditures per candidate as a result of authorizations received from the RNC and from various state committees. The amounts permitted to and spent by the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees on direct contributions, advances and coordinated expenditures for the 1990 elections are as follows:

As can be seen from the above chart, the NRSC and the Inner Circle committees together exceeded the NRSC's combined limitations with regard to 24 of the candidate committees listed. Therefore, the Office of the General Counsel recommends that the Commission find reason to believe that the National Republican Senatorial Committee, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990, the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91, and James L. Hagen, as treasurer of each committee, violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h) and 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f) by making contributions and expenditures in excess of the limitations established at 2 U.S.C. § 441a, and 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) by failing to report those contributions and expenditures. This Office also recommends that the Commission find reason to believe that the same 24 candidate committees violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f) by accepting excessive contributions and 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) by failing to report the transfers and advances as contributions from the NRSC.

Five of the above candidate committees appear not to have accepted excessive contributions and expenditures, these being the authorized committees of Ben Bagert,¹⁶ Thad Cochran, Philip Gramm, John Warner and Christine Whitman. Therefore, this Office recommends that the Commission find no reason to believe that these five respondent committees and their treasurers violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f). These committees did, however, fail to report the advances made on their behalf by the NRSC as contributions from the 16. In Louisiana, if a candidate runs unopposed in the primary election or receives a majority of votes cast in that election, the primary results in the final selection of that candidate for the office being sought. In Advisory Opinion 1984-54, the Commission concluded that candidates in that state who ultimately are not required to run in a general election may accept lawful contributions with respect to the general election even though they did not participate. Ben Bagert withdrew from the Louisiana primary, but only after he had received contributions from, and benefited from coordinated party expenditures made by, the NRSC. Commission records show that party committees often make contributions to, and coordinated party expenditures on behalf of, candidates in Louisiana prior to the date of the primary election.

advances made on their behalf by the NRSC as contributions from the NRSC. Therefore, this Office recommends that the Commission find reason to believe that these five committees violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b), but, because of the relatively small amounts involved ($815-$2208), take no further action and close the file as it pertains to them.

Six other respondents in this matter were cited in the Inner Circle 1990 allocation statement as potential recipients of proceeds if they won their respective 1990 primaries. Because their candidates did not win, they received no shares of the Inner Circle contributions. These committees included those of Jim Jones, Dan Daly, John Domenech, William Farrell, Bruce Vorhauer and Clark Durant. Therefore, this Office recommends that the Commission find no reason to believe that these six respondent committees and their treasurers violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f) or 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and close the file as it pertains to them.

b. Candidates in Years Other than 1990

As stated above, the $17,500 contribution limitation permitted national party committees or that party's Senatorial campaign committee pursuant to 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h) is available in election years in which the recipient candidates for the Senate are up for election. The Commission's regulations permit the Senate committees to make such contributions in years before the election year of the particular candidate involved, but all such earlier contributions count against the $17,500 limit. The Inner Circle allocation statements sent to prospective contributors stated that such non-1990 candidates would receive portions for use in their next primary election.

The Inner Circle programs benefited twenty candidate committees whose candidates were not up for election in 1990. On June 5, 1990 Inner Circle 1990 transferred $7,200 to each of these committees. Later, Inner Circle 1990 transferred an additional $500-$1,700 to each of these committees on October 4, 1990, and Inner Circle 1990-91 transferred $2,857 to each on that same day, for combined totals ranging from $10,557 to $11,757.

In addition, these non-1990 committees benefited from allocated shares of the advances made by the NRSC for the Inner Circle program. Their portions of the June 29 repayment by Inner Circle 1990 came to $741 each, of the August 16 repayment to $143, and of the October 19 repayment to $230 each. Their portions of the Inner Circle 1990-91 repayment on October 19 were $621 each. Thus, a total of $1,735 in advances should be added to the amounts of contributions received by each of these twenty committees from the NRSC and should have been reported.

The following is a summary of the total transfers and advances received by non-1990 committees and of the contributions which resulted:

Wallop	17,500	11,757	1,735	13,492	4,008

Because none of the totals for NRSC/Inner Circle contributions to non-1990 candidates exceeded the NRSC's limitation of $17,500 as of 1990, this Office recommends that the Commission find no reason to believe that these 20 candidate committees violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f). This Office recommends that the Commission find reason to believe that these committees violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) by failing to report as contributions the receipt of advances totaling $1,735 each, but, because of the relatively small amounts involved, take no further action in this regard and close the file as to these committees.

Although the complaint filed by Common Cause listed the Friends of Slade Gorton 1988 as a participant in the Inner Circle program, there is no evidence that this committee received a share of the proceeds. All shares related to a Gorton campaign apparently went to the Friends of Slade Gorton 1994. Therefore, this Office recommends that the Commission find no reason to believe that the Friends of Slade Gorton 1988 violated 2 U.S.C.

I. Senator Don Nickles

The complaint in MUR 3135 contained the allegation that Senator Don Nickles, as chairman of the Inner Circle committees, knowingly and willfully violated the Act by making excessive contributions to Senate candidates and by failing to report those contributions. In keeping with the Commission's practice of attributing violations to committees and their treasurers, not to other officers, this Office recommends that the Commission find no reason to believe that Senator Nickles violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f) or 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and close the file with respect to him.

J. Failure to Report Debts Owed

As noted above, the NRSC failed to report debts owed to itself by the Inner Circle committees and by the candidate committees benefited by the Inner Circle programs. In the case of Inner Circle 1990, that committee reported debts owed the NRSC on each of its reports between May and October, 1990, but the NRSC did not. Nor did the NRSC ever report the debts totaling $108,735 owed by Inner Circle 1990-91 beginning apparently in September, 1990, and paid on October 19, 1990. Therefore, this Office recommends that the Committee find reason to believe that the NRSC violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(8).

RE: MUR 3131

Dear Mr. Bauer:

On August 20, 1991, the Federal Election Commission reviewed the allegations in your complaint dated September 26, 1990. After merging this matter with MUR 3135, the Commission found that, on the basis of the information provided in the complaints and information provided by respondents, there is no reason to believe the National Republican Senatorial Committee and James L. Hagen, as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b), 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(8), 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h), and 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f), and no reason to believe the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and James L. Hagen, as treasurer, and the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-91, and James L. Hagen, as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b), 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h), and 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f). The Commission also found no reason to believe that Senator Don Nickles violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f) or 2 U.S.C. § 434(b), and no reason to believe that the candidate committees which participated in the Inner Circle joint fundraising program violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b) and/or 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f). RE: MUR 3131 and MUR 3135

Dear Mr. McKeever:

On October 3 and October 10, 1990, the Federal Election Commission notified Stevens for Senate Committee and you, as treasurer, of complaints alleging violations of certain sections of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended.

On August 20, 1991, the Commission voted to merge the above-cited matters and found, on the basis of the information in the complaints, and information provided by the respondents in these matters, that there is no reason to believe Stevens for Senate Committee and you, as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(f) and § 434(b). Accordingly, the Commission closed its file in this matter.

This matter will become a part of the public record within 30 days. If you wish to submit any materials to appear on the public record, please do so within ten days. Please send such materials to the Office of the General Counsel.

Sincerely,

Re: MUR 3131 and 3135

Dear Mr. Noble:

As Counsel for the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990 and Republican Senatorial Inner Circle 1990-1991, joint fundraising committees ("the Inner Circle Committees"), I have received your letter of September 11, 1991, stating that the Commission has voted to find no reason to believe that the Inner Circle Committees violated the federal election laws and has closed its file in this matter. That letter enclosed a copy of the First General Counsel's Report ("Report") in these Matters, which will become a part of the public record. Finally, the letter invited the Inner Circle Committees to submit within ten (10) days any materials which they would like to have appear on the public record.

The Inner Circle Committees will not take this opportunity to comment on the many areas of the Report with which they disagree, except to note that, among other flaws, the Report incompletely analyzes and in fact virtually ignores the law as a result of its almost total lack of discussion of the Commission's own joint fundraising regulations. Encompassed within this failure is the General Counsel's refusal to acknowledge the proper creation of the joint fundraising committees and the complete compliance of the joint fundraising notices with the joint fundraising regulations.

However, the Report did contain a misstatement of fact concerning an issue which, according to the Report, was central to these Matters, namely the bona fide participation of the National Republican Senatorial Committee ("NRSC") in these joint fundraising committees. The Inner Circle Committees wish to correct the record in this specific instance. The Response of the two Inner Circle Committees stated that NRSC, as a participant in these joint fundraising committees, was to receive 1% of each joint fundraising committee's net proceeds, that such amount was in excess of that received by numerous other participants, and that the amount of the NRSC's non-federal receipts from these two committees would be a further substantial sum.

Mr. Lawrence M. Noble

The General Counsel's Report states that:

According, however, to the reports filed by the Inner Circle committees, and aside from the non-federal contributions the total of which is not presently known, the NRSC received only a single transfer of $12,000 from Inner Circle 1990 or less than 1% of the $1,464,000 in net proceeds allocated, and only $300 from the Inner Circle 1990-91 or much less than 1% of the $500,297 allocated. Thus the NRSC was apparently not allocated even the full percentages set forth in the allocation agreements.

Report at 63 (footnote omitted).

The Report does not reflect up-to-date figures of distributions by the two Inner Circle Committees, and it should have noted that there were undistributed proceeds still in the Inner Circle accounts.

Reports currently on file with the Commission (including those filed as long ago as May of this year) indicate that the NRSC has to date received transfers of $22,352.08 from Inner Circle '90 (which constitutes 1.38% of federal funds distributed by that Committee) and $4,500 from Inner Circle '90-91 (or .87% of federal funds distributed). July 1990 Monthly FEC Disclosure Report of Inner Circle 1990, Schedule B, p. 5, for Line 20, at Block G, and the May 1991 Monthly FEC Disclosure Report of Inner Circle 1990, Schedule B, p. 2, for Line 22, at Block F; May 1991 Monthly FEC Disclosure Report of Inner Circle 1990-91, Schedule B, p. 2, for Line 22, at Block F. In addition, we are advised by the Treasurer of the two Inner Circle joint fundraising committees that the NRSC is entitled to receive an additional $2,206.20 from

Mr. Lawrence M. Noble
September 18, 1991

Inner Circle '90 and $4,395.91 from Inner Circle '90-91. This will result in the NRSC receiving 1.51% of the net total federal funds raised by the Inner Circle '90 and 1.72% of these funds raised by the Inner Circle '90-91. Both of these figures are above the 1% figure cited in the Response of January 14, 1991. As the Commission knows, percentages of joint fundraising proceeds vary from initially agreed upon figures as a result of reallocations required under various circumstances by operation of FEC regulations, 11 C.F.R. § 102.17, and the joint fundraising agreements.

The January 1991 Response of the Inner Circle Committees also stated that the NRSC's portion of the net federal proceeds would place its share in the middle range of transfers from the joint fundraising committees to participants. In Inner Circle '90, NRSC will have received more in transfers of federal contributions than 20 participants did, and less than 26 participants did. In Inner Circle '90-91, NRSC will have received more than have 33 of the participating committees and less than 16 others.

Further, we are informed by the Treasurer of the two joint fundraising committees that, pursuant to the NRSC's right under the Joint Fundraising Agreements to receive all non-federal contributions, the NRSC also received $215,868.86 in non-federal proceeds from these two joint fundraising committees. With the addition of non-federal funds from both Inner Circle Committees, the NRSC will have received a total of $249,323.05 from the two joint fundraising committees, an amount greater than twice as much as any other participating candidate or committee, and an amount in excess of 10% of the total net receipts of Inner Circle '90 and Inner Circle '90-91.

In view of the figures cited in the General Counsel's Report in these MURs, I believe it is important that these facts be placed on the public record.

Sincerely,

Jan Witold Baran

MURS 3131, 3135

On August 18, 1991, the Federal Election Commission rejected the recommendations of the Office of General Counsel and voted to find no reason to believe the above named Respondents violated the Federal Election Campaign Act in connection with joint fundraising operations they conducted in 1990.¹

In MURS 3131 and 3135, the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee and Common Cause alleged that the National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC) and its Chairman, Senator Don Nickles, violated the Act's contribution limits by directing and controlling contributions through a "bundling" operation run in the form of a joint-fundraising committee. The General Counsel agreed, and recommended the Commission find the Respondents violated 2 U.S.C. §441a by making and accepting excessive contributions and 2 U.S.C. §434(b) by filing incorrect reports with the Commission.

1. Commissioner Thomas was recused in this case and took no part in the consideration of this matter.

We disagree. After completely reviewing the facts and law relevant to this case, we concluded there is no reason to believe the respondents violated either the contribution limits or reporting provisions of the Act. The Respondent's activity was what it appeared to be: a joint fundraising operation in compliance with the Commission's regulations at 11 CFR 102.17 (which are completely separate from the regulations governing earmarking at 11 CFR 110.6).

Our conclusions are based on a number of facts about the Respondent's activity, including that the joint fundraising notice sent by the respondents clearly stated (1) the names of all participating committees; (2) the allocation formula for all funds received; (3) that contributors could designate their contributions to a particular participant or participants; (4) that the allocation would change if a contribution would violate the permissible contribution limits; and (5) that contributions from sources which are prohibited from contributing under the Act would be allocated to a non-federal account of the NRSC.

Separate accounts were maintained and all participants properly reported these accounts as affiliated joint fundraising committees. Additionally, the Respondents arrived at a joint fundraising allocation formula and adhered to it. In fact, the Inner Circle committee provided assurances to their contributors that contributions to the joint fundraising committee would be transferred directly to the identified candidates.

Of particular significance is the respondent's detailed compliance with our joint fundraising regulations at 11 CFR 102.17. For example, the Respondents established "a separate depository to be used solely for the receipts and disbursement of the joint fundraising proceeds." 102.17(c)(3). They determined a mutually agreeable allocation formula for the distribution of the proceeds. 102.17(c)(1). The Inner Circle also followed the regulation's instructions on how the expenses of the joint fundraiser could be paid, and how one party may pay the expenses of other participants in accordance with the contributions limits of §441a(a). 102.17(c)(7)(i)(B).

Importantly, there is ample Commission precedent for allowing party committees to operate joint fundraising committees. See, e.g. FEC Advisory Opinion 1979-35 (advising the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee on how to conduct a joint fundraising operation with its federal candidates).

Finally, it is important to note that our regulations clearly separate joint fundraising activity from a conduit's bundling operations. In fact, 110.6(b)(2)(i)(B) specifically states that for purposes of earmarking "the following persons shall not be considered conduits or intermediaries: ... (B) A fundraising representative conducting joint fundraising with the candidate's authorized committee pursuant to 11 CFR 102.17 or 9034.8." Accordingly, any reliance on bundling arguments by the Complainants are misplaced.²

We recognize the term "Inner Circle" has been used for a variety of NRSC fundraising programs for many years. This fact alone does not mean the Inner Circle committees in this case were not sufficiently separate from the NRSC

2. Further, the "direction and control" language on which the Complainants rely does not even appear in the joint fundraising regulations. That language appears only in 11 CFR 110.6 of our regulations and only applies to earmarked contributions described therein.

and could not act as a joint fundraising representative. In fact, our regulations would have allowed the NRSC, itself, to act as the joint fundraising representative in this case, if it wished.

For these reasons, we found there to be no apparent violations of the law and closed the file.³

3. The General Counsel also recommended a separate basis for finding reason to believe six Senate candidate committees received an excessive contribution from the Senatorial Committee when the combination of the NRSC's advances for joint fundraising costs and direct contributions to those candidates exceeded the Act's contribution limits. Since these excessive contributions were small and outstanding for only a short period of time, the Commission decided, in its prosecutorial discretion, not to pursue the matter. The Commission also decided, in the proper ordering of our priorities and resources, not to pursue an apparent failure of the participating candidate committees to accurately report debts they owed to the Senatorial Committee for a short period of time. See Heckler v. Chaney, 470 U.S. 821 (1985).
