GENERAL COUNSEL'S REPORT # 2

12
13 I. ACTIONS RECOMMENDED: Accept the attached conciliation agreement with the 14 Lockheed Martin Employees' PAC and Stephen E. Chaudet, in his official capacity as Treasurer
15

17 II. BACKGROUND

18 This matter arose from an audit of the Lockheed Martin Employees' PAC ("LMEPAC" 19 or "Committee") and a referral from the Reports Analysis Division ("RAD") stemming from 20 LMEPAC's failure to disclose all financial activities. The audit of the Committee had revealed
21 that the Committee's former treasurer had embezzled $170,000 from it, and that the Committee's 22 apparent lack of internal controls on its finances may have made the embezzlement possible.

23 On March 21, 2006, the Commission found reason to believe that: 1) LMEPAC and 24 Stephen E. Chaudet, in his official capacity as Treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. §§ 432(c)(5);
25 434(b)(4), (6)(B)(v) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(b) by failing to accurately account for and report
26 certain disbursements; 2) LMEPAC and Stephen Chaudet, in his official capacity as Treasurer,
27 violated 2 U.S.C. § 434(b)(2), (3) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(a) by failing to disclose certain receipts

LMEPAC officials and its Treasurer, Steven Chaudet, were cooperative by providing numerous sworn affidavits and voluntarily meeting with us. As a result, we discovered that the failure to disclose receipts as well as the inaccurate disclosure of disbursements resulted from the embezzlement. In addition, we learned that Chaudet inquired about the status of the outsourcing some PAC functions on a number of occasions, but Phelps engaged in efforts to conceal his scheme from LMEPAC officials. Nevertheless, the outsourcing process lasted more than 2 years and was never completed, and the Committee did not internally segregate Phelps' responsibilities either. Chaudet has informally acknowledged that he became suspicious after one year. After discovering the embezzlement, LMEPAC ultimately segregated certain financial responsibilities by assigning bank reconciliation to its corporate office in Bethesda, Maryland and issuing checks from its Florida office.
